(Court called to order at 9:03 a.m.)

THE COURT: Okay. We have some work to do today. Let's talk about -- first of all, let's go back and we'll -- I'll hear some last arguments with regard to role in the offense and also with regard to what the loss amount ought to be under the guidelines.

Let me go ahead and let Mr. Bell talk first.

MR. BELL: Your Honor, with -- I don't know if you want to do role enhancement right now. I had some transcripts --

THE COURT: That's right, you had some things you wanted to put in first.

MR. BELL: We can talk about loss amount and then come back and talk about --

THE COURT: Let's go ahead -- let's go ahead and get in what we need to get in. Thank you, Mr. Bell, for pointing that out to me.

MR. BELL: Your Honor, if you don't mind, I want to read into the record some sentencing portions of Kristy Lawrence's grand jury transcript. If you don't mind, it would be easier for me if I sat down while I did that.

THE COURT: That's fine.

MR. BELL: It might take me 10 or 15 minutes to read in all the things that I'd like.

1 THE COURT: That's okay. That would be a long time
2 for a man of your years to be on his feet, so go ahead and sit 3 down.

4 MR. BELL: Of my years, yes, Your Honor.

5 Your Honor, this is from the grand jury transcript 6 of Kristy Bartlett Lawrence that was taken on June 20th of 7 2012.

8 Page 10. "Question: Who is Kevin Hicks?

9 "Answer: He is our CFO.

10 "Question: And how, if at all, do you interact with 11 him?

12 "Answer: When I pay my haulers, I give the checks 13 to him and he's the signer and the checks -- and he'll give 14 them back to me."

15 On page 15. "Question: When did you first learn of 16 DBE?

17 "Answer: When I first got employed.

18 "Question: So back in 2002?

19 "Answer: Yes.

20 "Question: Who told you about DBE?

21 "Answer: Cora Whitmore told me about DBEs."

22 On page 16. "Question: Did anybody else talk to 23 you about the DBE program?

24 "Answer: No.

25 "Question: Why did you need to know about the DBE

1 program?

2 "Answer: Because when I first got there, I was 3 taught how to do haulers and some of our haulers are DBEs."

4 Page 18. "Answer: What we do is, sometimes we will 5 run our Boggs Transport trucks through his company that he 6 allows us to do and so he will come back and pick up a check 7 and he will write our company back a check for the hauling 8 that we have done.

9 "Question: Explain this to me. You've mentioned 10 that Mr. -- if I understand your answer correctly, you're 11 saying that Mr. John Cuthbertson allowed you to run your Boggs 12 trucks through his entity. What do you mean by that?

13 "Answer: I mean for a DBE project. One of my 14 project managers told me that the North Carolina job, that 15 it's either a two-to-one ratio or a one-to-one ratio. If Styx 16 had a truck out there, we could use two of our trucks and get 17 credit for it. And to my knowledge the DOT knew about this.

18 "Question: According to -- what's the source of 19 your information for that?

20 "Answer: My project manager's name was Greg Tucker.

21 "Question: Did anybody else tell you that you could 22 do this other than Greg Tucker, a project manager?

23 "Answer: Nobody else said anything about doing it, 24 but it was always done that way once I got there."

25 On page 20. "Question: And the only person who 1 told you about it that you recall is --

2 "Answer: Greg Tucker. He just told me the ratios, 3 how the ratios played out.

4 "Question: Did you ever have any discussions about 5 this with Kevin Hicks?

6 "Answer: As far as?

7 "Question: That type of arrangement, running Boggs 8 trucks through Styx Cuthbertson.

9 "Answer: The -- oh, yes. I mean, on certain DBE"
10 projects -- "jobs," excuse me, Your Honor. Jobs.

11 Page 21. "Question: What information do you have 12 from anybody within the Boggs organization that John 13 Cuthbertson can then hire back the prime contractor Boggs to 14 be Mr. Cuthbertson's subcontractor or work along with 15 Mr. Cuthbertson as a subcontractor?

16 "Answer: I don't have any information on that other 17 than it was done that way when I got there."

18 Follow-up answer: "Because when I got taught how to 19 do the haulers, because this lady named Lori, and I don't know 20 her last name, but she taught me how to do haulers and the 21 DBEs. Whatever the DBEs were, we would run our trucks through 22 Styx.

23 "Question: Did you have that discussion with 24 Ms. Coleman or Chapman?

25 "Answer: No.

1 "Question: Mr. Hicks?

2 "Answer: As to why we did it that way?

3 "Question: Correct.

4 "Answer: No.

5 "Question: Mr. Cuthbertson, did you have any 6 discussions with him about that?

7 "Answer: No.

8 "Question: Did Mr. Cuthbertson ever appear to you 9 to be a businessman?

10 "Answer: Yes.

11 "Question: How so?

12 "Answer: Because he has his own company and he 13 works. He is a truck driver. He drives trucks and he has his 14 own people that drive his trucks. He's got six trucks. So 15 yes, he appears to be a businessman."

16 Page 23. Question: -- excuse me, answer in response 17 to a question: "We separate our haulers from subcontractors.
18 Our subcontractors get paid when we get paid, but our haulers 19 we pay every two weeks whether we've been paid or not to keep 20 them running.

21 "Question: Why is that?

22 "Answer: That's just how it's always been done.
23 Because as we look at it, a hauler can't go -- because 24 sometimes the DOT, South Carolina and North Carolina, can take 25 three months or more to pay us for a job and our haulers can't

1 go that long without money because they have fuel, payroll, 2 and we've got to have -- we've still got to haul asphalt every 3 day to put down, so we pay our haulers whether we've been paid 4 or not. That's the difference between the hauler and the 5 subcontractor.

6 "Question: And how are these documents prepared?

7 "Answer: The haulers are prepared by me. I do the 8 invoicing for haulers."

9 Continuing -- "Question: Out of all those haulers, 10 including Styx Cuthbertson, who would you estimate did the 11 most hauling?

12 "Answer: Blue Max."

13 Page 25. "Question: Do you know who's authorized 14 to certify, sign, and approve documents related to the DBE 15 program?

16 "Answer: I think -- I'm not real sure on that one 17 because I don't deal with that."

18 Follow-up answer: "I have done Styx's certified 19 payroll at one point when he worked on a JT Russell job. I 20 have done that. But other than that I have not." This is in 21 reference to preparing DBE paperwork.

22 Page 29. "Question: Have you ever had authority to 23 sign checks?

24 "Answer: The only authority I've ever had to sign 25 checks is Styx's checks out of his checkbook.

1           "Question: You have, however, had permission or 2 authority to sign checks in Styx's name for Styx Cuthbertson, 3 correct?

4           "Answer: Yes, sir.

5           "Question: Who provided you that authorization?

6           "Answer: Styx did.

7           "Question: Did he ask that of his own or did 8 anybody else in Boggs have some role in having you given the 9 authority to sign for Styx?

10           "Answer: He did it of his own. Because how that 11 came about, I called him in and I needed him to come and sign 12 paperwork. He said, I'm out driving a truck.' He said, 13 'You've got my permission to sign my name.'"

14           This is on page 56, Your Honor, at the bottom.

15           "Question: So do you know how the invoicing between Boggs and 16 Cuthbertson Trucking worked? Who prepares the Styx's invoices 17 to Boggs?

18           "Answer: I do.

19           "Question: How do you prepare that? Can you 20 explain the process, please.

21           "Answer: Yes. We have a uniform invoice that I 22 prepare all of our haulers on and I will put their name at the 23 top, whether it be Styx, Blue Max, so forth. Bill it to Boggs 24 Paving or Buckhorn or CMG, whoever it is, and then I list what 25 job they worked on, what kind of asphalt was hauled, how many

1 hours, what type of truck, whether it was a tri-axle, quad, 2 quint, and then the hourly rate.

3 "Question: Do you prepare that for everybody? Do 4 you fill everything in for everybody?

5 "Answer: Yes.

6 "Question: Who approves or disapproves Styx's 7 invoice for payment?

8 "Answer: Nobody.

9 "Question: Why? Because they have already been 10 prepared internally by you?

11 "Answer: Yes.

12 "Question: Who reviews your work for accuracy and 13 payment?

14 "Answer: Nobody."

15 On page 68. "Question: Explain to me again how 16 this whole concept of running Boggs trucks and how that came 17 about.

18 "Answer: It had been done that way when I got there 19 and I never questioned it. And I just -- depending on what 20 jobs we got, if he's wrote in as a DBE and he's working on 21 that job, then we'll also put our trucks on that job and we 22 will bill our trucks through Styx.

23 "Question: Did you run Boggs trucks through any 24 other DBEs?

25 "Answer: No.

1           "Question: Did you run Boggs trucks through any 2 other haulers?

3           "Answer: No.

4           "Question: And I know you said that that was the 5 practice when you got there, but do you know the reason behind 6 that practice?

7           "Answer: I do not.

8           "Question: Nobody ever talked about it?

9           "Answer: No.

10          "Question: You never questioned it?

11          "Answer: No.

12          "Question: Nobody ever explained it to you?

13          "Answer: No."

14          On page 75. "Question: Were you the only person 15 who would know how to run Boggs Transport trucks through Styx?

16          "Answer: Yes.

17          "Question: Nobody else had that function in your 18 company?

19          "Answer: No.

20          "Question: And you took your direction from Greg 21 Tucker. Anybody else with respect to these types of -- 22          "Answer: No. Actually -- well, I took that from 23 Greg Tucker. But as far as running our trucks through Styx, 24 it had been done like that since I got there. And when I took 25 over there wasn't a whole lot of DBE projects because we've

1 just grown in ten years. But I just looked back to see how 2 things were done and I just kept doing it because it was done 3 that way.

4 "Question: Let me see if I understand this 5 correctly, though. Did you always get the lead, though, from 6 project managers, including people like Greg Tucker?

7 "Answer: Yes.

8 "Question: Did you ever on your own make the 9 decision to run trucks through Styx to get DBE credits?

10 "Answer: No. Not unless -- well, yes and no. Yes 11 being the fact that if it's a DBE job and I know that we can 12 run our trucks through it and Styx was working on that job, 13 then, yes, I made that decision.

14 "Question: Did you get approval to do that from 15 anybody or did you do it on your own?

16 "Answer: I did it on my own because that's how it's 17 been done since I got there.

18 "Question: That's how you were instructed to do it?

19 "Answer: Yes."

20 On page 92, Your Honor. Question -- or "Answer:
21 No. I mean, that's how I understood it. For every DBE truck 22 I thought we could have one of our trucks.

23 "Question: Why would that be? If you're counting 24 it all as a DBE, why would a Boggs truck be counted just 25 because you have a matching DBE truck? What's the sense of 1 that?

2 "Answer: That's what I got told from Greg Tucker.

3 "Question: I understand that's what's been told to 4 you. I'm asking has anybody explained to you why there was 5 this interpretation within Boggs that if we had one minority 6 truck or DBE truck on the job, we could double count that by 7 putting one of our trucks?

8 "Answer: From what I understand, it comes from the 9 DOT directly.

10 "Question: Your understanding comes from who?
11 Anybody at the DOT?

12 "Answer: From my understanding, it come from the 13 DOT to Greg Tucker and Greg Tucker related it to me.

14 "Question: So your information is Greg Tucker.

15 "Answer: Yeah, that's my source."

16 Those are all the excerpts I wanted to read there, 17 Your Honor.

18 Your Honor, I have a few emails I would like to 19 present to the Court as well.

20 MR. SAVAGE: Ken, are you going to mark this?

21 MR. BELL: Yeah, we're trying to figure out what 22 number it is.

23 Madam court reporter, can you tell us what our next 24 exhibit number would be?

25 We'll just make one up.

1           THE COURT: We were pretty low on the exhibit list, 2 but you could jump up to a hundred and something.

3           MR. BELL: We're pretty comfortable with 9, Your 4 Honor.

5           THE COURT: All right.

6           MR. BELL: Your Honor, this is an email string that 7 begins on June 23rd, 2009, from Kristy Lawrence to Kevin Hicks 8 where Kristy Lawrence states, "Styx called me and the DOT is 9 saying we have too many trucks on this job under Styx. They 10 want more DBE haulers running under him rather than our 11 trucks. I want to know what to do about this situation and 12 also if Drew could call Jimmy and see exactly what is going 13 on."

14           Kevin Hicks replies by forwarding to Drew Boggs, "Is 15 there anything we need to do regarding this?"

16           Mr. Boggs responds to Mr. Hicks, Kristy Lawrence, 17 and Brad Currin, "We need to make every effort to put more DBE 18 trucks under Styx, HL Henry, et cetera."

19           Then Brad Currin responds, "Kristy, do we have a 20 list of the minority haulers? I know we have picked up a few 21 trucks that are since the first of the year. Just can't 22 recall them. Just to get this right, if we have three DBE 23 trucks on the job, we can have three Boggs trucks?"

24           Mr. Boggs responds, "Do either of you know the rule 25 regarding the ratio of non-DBE trucks to DBE trucks allowed?"

1 At one time I thought it was five to one. Thanks."

2 Mr. Miller replies, "A DBE trucking firm may lease 3 non-DBE trucks at a ratio equal to the same number of trucks 4 being used on a contract by the DBE firm. (It's actually 5 based on dollar value which should be about the same.)"

6 And Mr. Boggs replies to Kristy Lawrence and Brad 7 Currin, "Here's the rule according to Greg. I say we do the 8 best we can by supplementing with other DBE truckers," et 9 cetera.

10 THE COURT: Mr. Bell, do you have hard copies of 11 those emails?

12 MR. BELL: I do, Your Honor.

13 (Documents were tendered to the Court.)

14 MR. BELL: Your Honor, the Defendant's Exhibit 11 --

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. BELL: -- which I think I just handed up, this 17 is an email from Ralph Hawkins to Brad Currin copying Drew 18 Boggs, Lee Sanders, Alan Poovey, and Kristy Lawrence, 19 September 15, 2010. "Brad, I've got another special request.
20 Long story short, when this Richland County job was bid, it 21 was assumed Boggs Paving would have the plant set up in Lugoff 22 to service the job. In the bid to meet the DBE requirements, 23 Styx Cuthbertson was written in to haul aggregates from the 24 quarry to the new plant for a total of $19,550. Obviously, 25 the Lugoff plant was yet to be set up. So to meet the DBE

1 goal, we really need Styx and as many minority truckers as you
2 can get on the asphalt hauls. The job has HMA, shoulder 3 widening, patching, and overlay. The job should start the 4 first of October and should only take three to four weeks to 5 complete. Hopefully, all the other jobs that Styx was written 6 in for DBE requirements should be getting close to completion.
7 Alan Poovey is over the job and will be requesting Styx when 8 he orders trucks. We really need your help because the SCDOT 9 is very suspicious of this change. Let me know if there is 10 anything I can do to help. Thanks for your help."

11 To which Mr. Boggs replies to Ralph Hawkins, "Good 12 clear directions. I wish all would do this. It would make it 13 much easier to meet the goals."

14 MR. BELL: Your Honor, this would be Defense Exhibit 15 12.

16 (The document was tendered to the Court.)

17 MR. BELL: This is from Lamar Sylvester with North 18 Carolina DOT to Ellis Powell, September 9, 2011. "We've told 19 primes that they need to have in their records a delivery 20 ticket that shows the name of the hauling company, the truck 21 number, the date of delivery, and the type and amount of 22 material. There should also be some invoice that accounts for 23 the cost of the haul for which they are claiming credit. We 24 did not specify any standard form because we wanted them to be 25 able to utilize the tickets that they were already getting for

1 material being delivered."

2 Mr. Boggs sends this to Kristy Lawrence, Kevin 3 Hicks, Greg Tucker, and Brad Currin. "Please see below and 4 review our tickets to ensure we are in compliance with the 5 requirements of NCDOT. This subject was brought up by NCDOT 6 at our last CAPA meeting as needing improvement across our 7 entire industry."

8 That's all I would have on that one, Your Honor.
9 And that's all the evidence we offer to put in.

10 THE COURT: Thank you. Any further evidence from 11 the government?

12 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

13 First I'm going to put up Exhibit 13 which is a 14 summary of the exhibits that follow it. But this is just an 15 exhibit showing the number of times that Drew Boggs is 16 personally signing various contracts that include Styx for DBE 17 credit. This isn't just other people signing documents, but 18 this is him. So I'll just -- that's more than a million in 19 signed documents that he did in just an eight-week period or 20 nine-week period. And I can just show some of those.

21 324. You can see the...

22 THE COURT: Do you have a hard copy of this?

23 MS. SUGAR: Do I have a hard copy of this? I don't 24 know that I have a hard copy of all of the contracts.

25 THE COURT: All right.

1 MS. SUGAR: I have a hard copy of the summary.

2 THE COURT: Yeah, that's -- and that's okay. I saw 3 that. I was just going to see about -- if there is anything 4 on here that you want me to read, you'll have to go slower.
5 That's the only problem with these things is when somebody 6 other than me is controlling how fast it's moving, I either -- 7 I either get bored because it moves too slow or I can't read 8 because it's going too fast.

9 MS. SUGAR: All right. Well, Exhibits 324, 325, 10 326, 328, 329, 330 are all subcontracts signed between Boggs 11 Paving and Styx Cuthbertson in a short period of time that 12 were all signed by an inked signature of Drew Boggs. I'm 13 happy to flip through those if you'd like.

14 THE COURT: If you want to. It's your evidence. If 15 you want me to -- if you want me to see either the signature 16 or something specific on the document, you need to let me see 17 it.

18 MS. SUGAR: This is 324. Drew Boggs' signature.

19 Going to 325. Drew Boggs' signature.

20 Going to Exhibit 326. Drew Boggs' signature.

21 328. Drew Boggs signature.

22 329. Drew Boggs' signature.

23 330. Drew Boggs' signature.

24 Now, what's interesting, one thing we wanted to just 25 summarize to show you is that Drew Boggs was routinely told

1 about problems with the way Styx was used. I'm just going to 2 go through some examples.

3 This is Exhibit 10. In August 2008, and this is 4 from Exhibit 233, Greg Tucker tells Drew Boggs, "To meet our 5 goals we need to run as many Styx trucks as possible and then 6 match them with the same number of outside non-BTI trucks."
7 It was clear you couldn't run BTI trucks. And what's 8 happening the next week or the next month is payments are 9 still being run through Boggs Transport.

10 In June 2009, that's when that problem comes up on 11 the JT Russell job, the email the defense showed you. Drew 12 Boggs says, We need to make every effort. But what's 13 happening the next month? The next week. Checks are still 14 being run through Styx Cuthbertson.

15 December 2009, this is when -- if you'll recall from 16 yesterday, Ralph Hawkins, another one of the project managers, 17 is specifically dealing with DOT who said your report was 18 wrong. Styx was not there. Why did you report $70,000? And 19 Ralph Hawkins works with Drew Boggs to create an answer that 20 says, Sorry, it was done wrong. But what happens after 21 December 2009? It keeps happening. Nothing changes. The 22 reporting is done exactly the same. It wasn't done wrong.

23 In May 2010, here's Ralph Hawkins gets an email from 24 SCDOT, again, that says you need to give me a list of all the 25 trucks that are there. And Ralph Hawkins is angry and he

1 tells Drew Boggs, Look what they're asking for now. This is 2 all part of Exhibit 10, but the exhibit on that email was 199.
3 And what keeps happening after this? They keep running 4 everything through Styx. Nothing changes.

5           And in April 2014, a subpoena is issued to Boggs 6 Paving. And you would assume that Drew Boggs knows about it, 7 but we also know that Styx Cuthbertson's sister called Drew 8 Boggs when the FBI came to her office. There's an email that 9 says that. And what happens? Get another small business job, 10 one in Styx's name. All of the money goes to Boggs Paving.
11 And that's Exhibit 46. That's also one of the attachments to 12 the government's leader/organizer enhancement.

13           And I think if you go back to that -- to the 14 government's filing and you look at that very first 15 attachment, it is an email where Greg Tucker says, "It's a 16 freaking small business contract. Styx can bid I assume?"
17 And Drew Boggs writes back, "10-4." He's going to be the guy 18 who's involved at the small level. He's the over -- he's the 19 CEO. You see him saying, Yes, let's bid the small business 20 job. That's how Styx was viewed, as a commodity. I think 21 that the three exhibits attached to our motion speak for 22 themselves.

23           Now, we also saw -- and this is going to be part of 24 Government's Exhibit 2, the last page. On this job it's not 25 trucking that's run through Styx Cuthbertson. It's just a

1 check made payable to Boggs Paving back out to make the 2 numbers work. This isn't about the trucking being done wrong.
3 This is about using Styx however necessary to get the numbers 4 on the projects to work. And that isn't the only time that 5 happened.

6 Put up Exhibit 31.

7 On this job $98,809 on this Myrtle Beach job is 8 reported as having been done by Styx. But on that job, 9 $76,000 didn't go through Boggs Transport, but it was just 10 again to make the numbers work. It went back to Boggs Paving.

11 And when you look at the defense numbers, this whole 12 notion that Drew Boggs didn't know the ratio. Well, he didn't 13 need to know the ratio because he wasn't going to follow it.
14 When you look at their report, look at the number of times
15 it's zero. Well, if it's only a ratio, then there's no way 16 that zero -- the zero, the five-to-one ratio or two-to-one 17 ratio or one-to-one ratio is not -- doesn't work when the 18 number is zero.

19 This process worked because -- I'm sorry, I don't 20 know that I have more exhibits. I have argument, but I can -- 21 I'm not sure I need to put in additional documents, but I'm 22 happy to if you have questions. I have a lot more documents.

23 I also could talk about some of the evidence. I 24 didn't read in any transcripts. We certainly talked to almost 25 every project manager that worked for Boggs Paving and their

1 testimony was that they didn't decide the amount Styx was 2 written in in the bid. It was decided by either Drew Boggs or 3 Greg Miller.

4 We interviewed Ralph Hawkins who you saw on some of 5 these emails. He said he specifically talked to Drew Boggs
6 about the problem of how Styx was used and how it made him 7 uncomfortable.

8 We talked -- you saw Greg Miller, his statement.
9 Drew Boggs is the person who put this in. This is not 10 something that was just Greg Tucker and Kristy Lawrence. We 11 see emails with every project manager with Kristy Lawrence 12 running things through. And I think that that one email on 13 the small business job where Drew Boggs says, Sure, bid on it 14 in Styx's name just shows he was an entity that they could use 15 for any purpose they wanted. That it had to work from the 16 trucking side, it had to work through the accounting side, it 17 had to work on the project management side.

18 And Greg Tucker was getting things done the way that 19 they were supposed to do, the way they were when he started, 20 which is you write in Styx and the numbers work and that's 21 what he was supposed to do. And whenever he had a problem, he 22 told Drew Boggs about it. He includes Drew Boggs on the 23 emails. He's the supervisor. He's not getting -- Your Honor 24 always talks about the executive and why don't we have the 25 highest up person and where is the supervisor? Why don't we

1 have the leader? And a lot of times it's because on a 2 day-to-day basis their hands might not be as dirty. But what 3 Greg Tucker was doing is the same thing that Arnold Mann was 4 doing. It's the same thing that all the other project 5 managers were doing. And what Kevin Hicks is doing is what 6 had happened before he was there. And what the transport 7 people were doing reports all up to the same person, which is 8 Drew Boggs.

9           Now, this wasn't about confusion. And this sort of 10 goes back to the loss argument, but I think that that's 11 pertinent. If you look at the last page of Government's 12 Exhibit 1 and you look at what was happening for actual work, 13 payments -- this is just a five-year period. $1.7 million to 14 Styx for actual work. He didn't really get that, but that's 15 the invoices. And 3.5 million for run-through. That's a 16 difference of 1.8 million. Even if Styx was legitimate, even 17 if you could then sub it to prime, which he couldn't, there's 18 still 1.8 million difference. And that's by design. That's 19 how he was. He was a commodity to write in to fill in the 20 gaps.

21           And the notion that Styx was paid so much money is 22 really a misnomer. Most of this money is deducted out from 23 all of the expenses that are paid. And when you look at 24 Styx's tax returns, he's making maybe 20, maybe 30 grand a 25 year. This is a guy making a trucker's salary. He's not

1 really -- he's not rolling in millions of dollars.

2           When we look through the emails in the case, you see 3 Drew Boggs is someone who is very far in the weeds. He's 4 analyzing the plant -- the costs on every single job. He's 5 looking at the transport dollars every time. And guess what?
6 The only source of money coming back to transport, basically,
7 besides Boggs Paving, is Styx Cuthbertson. I mean, it's right 8 there in the papers.

9           He's analyzing the plant haul on every job. I mean, 10 you see emails where he's saying, Why is that trucker stopping 11 for lunch? Lunch deducts. I mean, he is really in the weeds 12 on all these projects. He's the guy deciding how much Styx is 13 put in the bids at the beginning. He's the guy supervising 14 finance which is how the sausage gets made, how the numbers 15 end up working. He's the guy ultimately over transport who is 16 deciding where the trucks go.

17           And it doesn't make sense that all of the other 18 defendants are going to lie about something when they don't 19 even have a financial interest in the company. It doesn't 20 benefit them personally at all. When there is -- if someone 21 is over extended, you tell DOT. You fix it. You say, Sorry, 22 we signed up this guy and he can't do the work. This is 23 something that was a plan and it worked by every part of the 24 company participating.

25           The people here are the leaders. That's who we

1 charged. But the other project managers were doing the same 2 thing. The other people in accounting were very well aware of 3 what was going on. But the person at the top is the person 4 who's making the shots, is the person who could stop it every 5 time they're told that something wrong is going on. Because 6 he's the only one who has a profit incentive. Nobody else is 7 getting paid by the job. And it doesn't make sense that there 8 wasn't someone over this, especially when there's so many 9 emails showing that Drew Boggs was involved at every step.

10 This is not the kind of case where everyone is just 11 committing a fraud and it magically helps only the company, 12 not the individuals. This is not the kind of thing that could 13 happen without the support of the leader.

14 And I go back to that small business job. Go back 15 to, "It's a freaking small business job, Styx can bid I 16 assume?"

17 "10-4." That's what Drew Boggs says. And a hundred 18 percent of the money goes to Boggs Paving. Zero goes to Styx.
19 He doesn't even get a commission for that. That shows he was 20 something to be used, to be written in to benefit Boggs 21 Paving. And pretty much everyone at the company knew it. And 22 certainly Drew Boggs knew and he was the guy who authorized it 23 and was in charge.

24 MR. BELL: Your Honor, the real problem in this case 25 was not that Drew Boggs was the organizer, supervisor,

1 manager, leader of the criminal conduct. He certainly was of 2 the company. But the real problem here was nobody was 3 organizing, supervising or managing the DBE program.

4           If you recall that -- the portions of the transcript 5 from Kristy Lawrence that I read into the record, when she got 6 there in 2002, she was taught by a predecessor administrative 7 person. Here's how you enter the accounting numbers for our 8 haulers, whether they're DBEs or not, whether it's Mr. Styx or 9 not. And she started doing what the lady before her did for 10 years.

11           And you recall the testimony of Charity Coleman.
12 She said, When I got there, I learned from Wanda Knight who 13 learned from Nancy Bovender who had been there well back into 14 the '90s. You just go into the system, you pull off the check 15 register, and that's the number that goes on the DBE report.

16           And if you ask either one of them who among these 17 defendants, but certainly up to the level of CEO, who told you 18 to do it that way? Nobody. I mean, it was a lack of 19 supervision that caused the DBE reporting to be so terrible.

20           And if you think again about the transcript portions 21 that I read of Kristy Lawrence, to the extent she was getting 22 any direction about how to do this and what was being entered, 23 the numbers from which Charity Coleman was pulling for 24 preparation of the DBE reports, it was Greg Tucker who told 25 her what to do. And when Charity Coleman was in here on

1 Friday testifying about preparing the DBE reports, she said 2 for North Carolina, Greg Tucker and I did that together and 3 looked at them. In fact, we could pull up on the screen state 4 records that show certification of DBE reports by Greg Tucker 5 even though he told this Court under oath he never even saw 6 one.

7           Nearly all of the projects in question here have to 8 do with Arnold Mann and Greg Tucker as project managers. And 9 there was a complete breakdown in how this was done. The 10 problem was not that Styx was written in too much. And if 11 Mr. Boggs, if he was at these meetings and would fully 12 confess, he would say, Yeah, when we're coming up short, write 13 in Styx Cuthbertson.

14           It wasn't a problem that he was written into these 15 projects. Your Honor will recall the chart we put up on 16 Friday that showed during this ten-year period, Boggs Paving 17 paid more to Styx Cuthbertson Trucking than they were 18 committed to him to do. So he had the capacity to do the 19 work. Nobody was putting him on the right work. We had 20 Mr. Tucker up here on Friday. A project manager, whether it 21 was Mr. Mann or Mr. Tucker, should have been in better touch 22 with dispatch and said, Make sure that Cuthbertson trucking is 23 getting to the projects where we have DBE commitments. That 24 wasn't being done.

25           And dispatch, although they had the opportunity

1 because they were provided the information about which DBE
2 goals and projects were we working on, they didn't get them 3 out there.

4 But Mr. Cuthbertson made more money than was 5 committed to him. So if they had done it right, they could 6 have.

7 And another reason we know that the DBE reporting
8 was completely messed up, if you look at Defense Exhibit 2, 9 Your Honor, and we put this in on Friday. And this column 10 starts up here with "Required payments to DBEs" and "Amounts 11 paid to DBEs." And if you go down, on these 41 projects, they 12 were required to pay the DBEs roughly $3.8 million; and on 13 these projects they actually paid them $4.368 million. They 14 paid DBEs more than was committed to them for these projects 15 alone.

16 So if there had been any control, any supervision, 17 any management over the DBE program, they were using DBEs more 18 than was required on these projects. But did they write them 19 in at the beginning correctly? No. Did they track payments 20 to the DBEs correctly? No. Did they report that correctly to 21 the DOTs? No. But it is a lack of supervision, organization, 22 and management that was the cause of this. There was a 23 breakdown from the Charity Coleman side of things to the 24 Kristy Lawrence side of things. The project managers like 25 Arnold Mann and Greg Tucker were not doing their job getting

1 DBEs on their programs. Kevin Hicks, who was the CFO, could 2 have seen this. We've got a lot more money coming in and 3 going through Styx and that should be reported.

4 But other than -- and if you listen to the 5 government's evidence and argument in favor of a role 6 enhancement for Mr. Boggs, about 80 percent of the questions 7 to the witnesses and the argument is everybody reported up to 8 Mr. Boggs. Yes, as an organizational basis on this business, 9 that's true.

10 But with respect to Mr. Boggs knowing that Charity 11 Coleman was pulling the wrong number out of the accounting 12 system and that Kristy Lawrence was entering a number that 13 wasn't net of the money that went from Mr. Cuthbertson to 14 Boggs Transport, there isn't any evidence of that.

15 Now, Mr. Tucker said a few things, but, frankly, 16 Your Honor, Mr. Tucker on Friday testified falsely at least 17 three times in this Court's presence with respect to that 18 supposed drain pipe work in Myrtle Beach which there is no 19 committal sheet for.

20 With respect -- when he said, I never even saw a DBE 21 report, although Charity Coleman told us, We sat there and did 22 them together. And in the state's own records he's certifying 23 them.

24 And then with those false invoices which he said, 25 Yes, I submitted these invoices to South Carolina DOT. I got

1 them from Kristy Lawrence. They're clearly not the invoices
2 Kristy Lawrence routinely prepared for everybody.

3 So I would ask the Court not to put a whole lot of 4 stock in what Mr. Tucker said on Friday.

5 Mr. Boggs was the organizer, supervisor, manager, 6 and leader of this company, but not this conduct. I don't 7 think anybody was. It was a lack of organization and 8 leadership that led to this. They could have done this 9 properly and they didn't and for that they're guilty. But 10 they overpaid DBEs on those projects and they paid more money 11 to Mr. Cuthbertson than was committed to over this time. That 12 does not show a managerial, supervisory effort to commit this 13 crime by Mr. Boggs.

14 THE COURT: All right. On the issue of role in the 15 offense, there are -- there are more victims than just -- 16 although the government entities are the ones that are listed 17 here and the loss tables involved really only go to 18 governmental losses and are inadequate in many, many ways in 19 helping this Court come to a decision in this case.

20 It's clear that the DBE program was -- was being 21 either ignored or manipulated in a way by Boggs Paving in 22 order to gain these contracts. And other DBEs may have 23 been -- other so-called legitimate DBEs could have been -- 24 could have gotten work. Cuthbertson could have been a DBE on 25 his own. I think the program is -- the program was set up --

1 it's set up with lofty goals. It's to try to help small 2 companies be able to get some work, disadvantaged business 3 entities, is what it's supposed to do. So that is a -- that's 4 a good goal to do that. Whether that is adequately done, 5 whether that is properly done operated by the Department of 6 Transportation, whether these programs across government -- 7 the government are operated correctly is not something the 8 Court needs to get -- needs to get -- spend too much time on 9 today.

10           The primary thing the Court needs to do is what 11 happened in this case? What may have defeated the proper use 12 of the program and other legitimate companies getting in? It 13 would be good, you know, if everybody could get a small loan 14 of a million dollars from somebody, they could start off 15 with -- and might make success in this company. But there are 16 so many people who are born on third base that act like they 17 hit the triple, it's hard to get going in this world. And the 18 idea is to -- of the DBE program is to help smaller people 19 compete with the big guys and keep the big guys from doing it 20 themselves. And it appears that -- it appears that Boggs 21 Paving was -- was using Cuthbertson as its own, like an 22 employee and able to control him to a large extent.

23           Probably -- you're probably right, Mr. Bell. It's 24 probably true that there's a lot of control exercised by the 25 big companies over the small haulers. That's probably very 1 much true.

2           And it's probably true that Boggs liked the fact
3 that Cuthbertson showed up. I mean, after having brick done
4 on my house, I thought I just need to come up with a brick 5 company that says -- with the motto, We will show up, and 6 they -- I might get all the business because every time I paid
7 them, they didn't come back for a while. They did great work 8 when they were there, but they didn't come back for a while.
9 So you want people that are good. You want people to do the 10 work. So they have done that.

11           But in this case, for better or for worse, whatever 12 the losses are, whatever everything else is, it would appear 13 that Drew Boggs as the leader of this was aware, based on all 14 of the evidence, that the DBE program was being played with 15 fast and loose and he was the manager and supervisor of this 16 company. And therefore, the Court will put the role in the 17 offense as is suggested at -- with an additional four points 18 for a role in the offense as a manager and supervisor.

19           All right. Now, let's get into the talk about 20 the -- where we go with the loss. This case has really -- and 21 I want to hear arguments on that. I want to hear Nagle 22 argument. I want to hear, you know, what the arguments are.

23           I look at what's recommended in here. And, of 24 course, probation bases a lot of the information that it gets 25 on -- from the government in these cases. I mean, there's 1 nothing wrong with that. They want to get -- they want to try 2 to get as much information as they can.

3           For instance, on Boggs Paving, they're using the 4 government's talk about the -- the loss being 87.6 million.
5 And then they're going to multiply that and they say the fine 6 range based on all of that is 122,650,000 to 245,280,000 based 7 on that being the loss. They don't ask that the ground be 8 salted so nothing ever grows there again, but they do -- 9 that's pretty high up on the list. And it's not even anywhere 10 close to what the government is asking in terms of sentencing.

11           In other words, when the government gets down to 12 sentencing, the government -- the government is saying that -- 13 in recognition of the fact that the fraud involved the 14 trucking aspect of it which was somewhere in the $3 million 15 range, the government recommends a sentence that probably 16 would be at a -- at a level 25 when it recommends 60 months 17 when everything is said and done, the government recognizing 18 that if we just go with all of these numbers, it overstates 19 the harm. It overstates everything in the case.

20           When you hear about, you know, $84 million or 21 $87 million, it does -- it does cause you to perk up a little 22 bit. Did the government lose 80 some million dollars? Well, 23 no, but that was what -- that was sort of the carrot that was 24 out there that caused the DBE to be used in the way that it 25 is. It's almost as if that was sort of a throw away. Let's

1 go -- we can handle the DBE stuff. Let's just get the 2 contract. Let's make the bid. And that's really not the way 3 that it's supposed to be done.

4 I mean, Mr. -- I don't think -- I don't get the 5 impression Mr. Cuthbertson was operating -- had a trucking 6 company over all these years that he continued to build and 7 operate and buy more trucks and be able to do more jobs, which 8 is really what the DBE program is meant to do. It was -- he 9 existed for the service of Boggs Paving. And by doing that, 10 it defeated -- it defeated the DBE program.

11 Now, what are we going to do about loss? So let me 12 hear from you all on what the loss ought to be talking about 13 Nagle. Because really and truly, coming up with a guideline 14 range is an academic exercise. What the sentence ought to be 15 is based upon 18, United States Code, Section 3553 and the 16 factors therein. Regardless of what the range is in the case, 17 the Court hearing -- seeing what the government thinks with 18 all of these numbers and what the defendant thinks, there is 19 certainly a range between zero and five years because that's 20 what -- the government is asking for no more than five years.
21 It's asking for five years for Mr. Boggs. It's asking for 22 probation for some others.

23 And so although there is no existing guideline range 24 in this book that's that wide, under the 3553 factors, the 25 Court does certainly have a target range that it is to 1 consider and what the correct sentence on this ought to be.

2 But first, before we get into the 3553 factors which 3 will run sentencing in this case and what ought to be in this 4 case, this particular case under these facts with these 5 defendants, we got to come up with a loss and we got to come 6 up with a correct calculation, not the calculation that I want 7 and not the calculation that the government wants and not the 8 calculation that the defendant wants, the calculation that is 9 correct. And so talk to me about what it ought to be.

10 Let me hear from the defense first from the 11 standpoint that the government has convinced the probation 12 office that the -- as they do in 99.99 percent of the time, 13 that the loss ought to be at the high end. So because of 14 that, it goes -- it's incumbent upon you to tell me why it 15 shouldn't be that way.

16 MR. BELL: All right. Well --

17 THE COURT: And let's talk -- let's talk generally 18 what the guidelines say the new -- the new provision of the 19 guidelines that came into effect that gives credit for -- and 20 I'm not sure that's what it ought to do, but gives credit for 21 the actual expenses that someone puts in. In other words, 22 what you got for what you did and the actual expenses that 23 were expended by the company and gives credit for it and where 24 it ought to fall.

25 MR. BELL: Well, we have to start with the Ohio

1 Brothers case from the Fourth Circuit, obviously, because 2 that's controlling authority here. And although the credit 3 provision was not in the guidelines at the time Ohio Brothers
4 was decided, there are two points from that case that still do 5 control.

6           One, this is a government benefits case because DBE 7 fraud is considered government benefits. So it's not the 8 usual, actual or intended loss.

9           THE COURT: Which is good for you.

10          MR. BELL: It is.

11          THE COURT: Because if it was not a benefits case 12 and it was a fraudulent procurement case, then the guidelines 13 would not -- the Court wouldn't have to wrestle with this.

14          MR. BELL: Right, it could be different. So it's a 15 government benefits case that's still good law in the Fourth 16 Circuit from the Ohio Brothers.

17           The other part of Ohio Brothers that's still good 18 law is contrary to the presentence report and the position of 19 the government, the Court does not look at the total value of 20 the prime contracts. In Ohio Brothers, those facts were 21 exactly like this. There was a prime contractor who got a 22 $5 million contract, more or less, rough numbers, and had 23 about $150,000 DBE contract under that against which fraud was 24 committed. And the DBE contractor only got about, I don't 25 know what it was, 12 or 20 thousand.

1           And the Fourth Circuit when it started its loss 2 calculation looked at the DBE subcontractor and took from that 3 the amount that was actually paid to the DBE and considered 4 the difference the loss amount. Now, that's what the Fourth
5 Circuit did in Ohio Brothers and what the Court should do 6 here, which is how much was committed to Mr. Cuthbertson and 7 how much was he paid, and that difference is the loss amount.
8 Except now under the revised guidelines, the Court should look 9 at credit for the cost of services and goods provided because 10 I actually think that is the right thing. We've been 11 defrauded, although we got tens of millions of dollars worth 12 of roads. You have to take that into account.

13           What we did in our sentencing memorandum, Your 14 Honor, is we looked at the difference between what was 15 committed to Mr. Cuthbertson and what was paid, and that came 16 up to 700 some thousand dollars or something like that. And 17 then we gave the Court some industry studies, which is the 18 best information we have about what is the -- when you look at 19 it in terms of profit margin, which is really nothing more 20 than the difference between goods and services and then what's 21 left over. And if you take that percentage against what 22 should have gone to Mr. Cuthbertson and assume that the rest 23 is the cost of goods for services provided, the correct loss 24 calculation in this case is about $37,000.

25           So if you follow what -- obviously, the Court has to

1 and will follow with respect to the Ohio Brothers, and then 2 consider the, what I would say, obviously, is the very well 3 reasoned, thoughtful case from the Third Circuit in Nagle
4 about application of credits for cost of goods and services 5 sold, that number turns out to be whatever it turns out to be, 6 and in this case it's $37,000.

7 I understand, because you've said it many times, 8 you're going to impose the sentence you think is the right 9 sentence with respect to all of these defendants, but that's 10 the correct guidelines calculation.

11 THE COURT: All right. Let me hear from the 12 government. First let me hear -- any other defense attorneys 13 for any of the other defendants want to be heard on loss 14 amount?

15 (No response.)

16 THE COURT: All right. I'm seeing no hands. I'm 17 not going to go through one by one. Jump up.

18 Let the record show that after a significant pause, 19 no defense attorney rose to address the Court with regard to 20 this.

21 All right. Let's go ahead and hear from the 22 government.

23 MS. SUGAR: Thank you.

24 First with regard to Ohio Brothers, I disagree that 25 the facts are, as Mr. Bell says, similar to this case. There

1 was a prime contractor, there was a fake DBE, and there was a 2 real DBE. And the prime contractor was aware of what was 3 going on and allowed it to happen. And that was a different 4 factual scenario from here where the goal wasn't to let's get 5 more trucking. The goal was to let's get these big contracts.
6 So I think that contrast is important and it's important in 7 getting the guidelines right. What was the goal, what were 8 the benefits that were obtained improperly? If you lie to get 9 a contract, then it's the full value of the contract.

10 But nevertheless, we do think that that's too high 11 which is why we've come down to the amount that was written 12 in -- that was reported fraudulently as having been performed 13 as a -- the 3.7 --

14 THE COURT: That's not anywhere close to the 15 contract. I mean, the number --

16 MS. SUGAR: No, no. This is 3.7 million. That's 17 what they reported on the 87 million.

18 THE COURT: The government has come down.

19 MS. SUGAR: Yes.

20 THE COURT: And on its recommendation it thinks that 21 instead of 84 million, that the benefit obtained is 22 3.7 million. And that -- that even is too high and then the 23 government is recommending a variance down to, I think you're 24 asking for 50 months for --

25 MS. SUGAR: We have agreed --

1 THE COURT: -- I mean 60 months for Mr. --

2 MS. SUGAR: We have agreed to recommend no more than 3 60 months.

4 THE COURT: No more than 60 months.

5 MS. SUGAR: It's not binding, but we have come down 6 from where with the four points and the two-point enhancement.
7 So, yes, we have gone below that. I think Mr. Miller suggests 8 it's an additional three levels, which meant an additional 9 three levels beyond.

10 So we recognize that we need to exercise caution.
11 But first we're dealing with getting the guideline calculation
12 right. That's what we're talking about now.

13 So going back to that, you know, Nagle is the most 14 recent case. That doesn't make it the only case and that 15 doesn't make it the right case here.

16 For the government -- the government benefits falls 17 within the special rules. So if we then ignore the special 18 rules all together and then start over at the beginning, it 19 doesn't make sense for us to even have those special rules.

20 You saw in the procurement fraud they actually -- 21 they make it a little bit more clear. But in the Martin case 22 the Ninth Circuit also decided this year, they said if this 23 were a government benefits case, then we wouldn't -- we 24 wouldn't reduce it by this amount. So there's certainly not 25 only one ruling out there on how to do this. And the Sixth

1 Circuit said DBE fraud is government procurement so you don't 2 reduce. So there's a lot of different ways things happen.

3 But when we're doing the math at that point, we 4 can't -- we cannot come up with a number other than 5 3.7 million of the harm because the roads were built. We've 6 said that all along. So if the roads were built, what's the 7 harm? Well, I believe from the testimony of the DBE witness, 8 it would -- the harm could be looked at by the 3.7 million 9 that didn't go as it was supposed to.

10 But if you can't determine the loss, then we would 11 again -- one of the other options you have if you were using 12 the rest of the loss guidelines, which I don't think you need 13 to. I think you stick with just government benefits, then you 14 can look at profit. And Your Honor saw -- we put in evidence 15 that even though the low -- the lowest paving company by 2013
16 when it had fallen to the bottom was the 2 percent. And I 17 think you could look there if you wanted to determine where to 18 go. And there's a Southern District of New York case that 19 talks about the profit as being a place you can go.

20 Now, I don't think you need to because I don't think 21 you need -- I think that the -- there's an unpublished Fourth 22 Circuit case that says in special rules cases, we don't know 23 why you would have to apply this special provision that they 24 apply in Nagle. But -- and Nagle is certainly different than 25 the Martin case in the Ninth Circuit. It's not controlling in

1 the Fourth Circuit. And I don't know that it follows or makes 2 sense that in a special case you should just go back and 3 ignore all the special rules and then start over at the 4 beginning of the loss calculation.

5 So we have a couple of alternative numbers. We 6 think that the profit is in the same range as that 7 3.7 million.

8 Or even if you just use the 2 percent of the 9 87 million, I think it knocks it down two additional levels.

10 We also have the money laundering which was 11 approximately 7 million also in that same range.

12 So there's a number of ways to get to that range and 13 we're trying to look at the harm and find a range that's going 14 to go there.

15 Now, even if you go there, we've already --

16 THE COURT: See, that's what I -- what I don't want 17 to do is try to find the harm necessarily.

18 MS. SUGAR: Right.

19 THE COURT: I mean, the harm is the integrity of the 20 program.

21 MS. SUGAR: Correct.

22 THE COURT: The Court has said the integrity of the 23 program has been harmed. And if there is not something done 24 in order to keep -- in order to cause others to consider not 25 committing this kind of fraud, then it's not going to happen.

1 That's the harm.

2 But the question is -- in other words, the 3 guideline -- the guideline range based on what the loss ought 4 to be is not -- should not be based on trying to figure out 5 what sentence ought to be given for the harm in this thing.
6 This is deeper than the money.

7 MS. SUGAR: Right.

8 THE COURT: Just the money that was made. And there 9 is profit. They went into that for profit for that.

10 And I have another question is, should the -- you 11 know, should they get -- should there be credit given for 12 expenses which go to salaries to the people? And, of course, 13 nobody has offered what the salaries of the company or what 14 Mr. Boggs might have made. But it seems -- it seems bad that 15 you ought to be -- you can make any company nonprofitable by 16 the salaries.

17 I know the -- the Charlotte Observer, you know, 18 reports on -- keeps us up to date on what Carolinas Medical is 19 doing and 35 -- what is it? Twenty-five people who are not 20 giving patient care make $35 million. If you spend that kind 21 of money, you can be a nonprofit on salaries for the people 22 and the money out there. You know, you can keep going. You 23 know, hospitals -- hospitals become nonprofit only because 24 they pay it out --

25 MS. SUGAR: Sure --

1           THE COURT:  -- in big money salaries and things like 2 that.

3           MS. SUGAR:  And I think the profit analysis has that 4 inherent flaw in it is that you could be a lucky loser if 5 you're a less -- if you're a less well run company, you'll 6 have a lower profit on the same amount of fraud as the company 7 that's more efficient.

8           THE COURT:  But I didn't make the guidelines.

9           MS. SUGAR:  Right.

10          THE COURT:  In other words, I think the 11 guidelines -- you know, sometimes -- most of the time you have 12 defense attorneys running to the sentencing commission and 13 saying the guidelines are too high for something.  There's a 14 question of are they too low in this situation?  Why give them 15 credit in this case?  You know, is this a -- if it's a 16 benefits case, it says you're supposed to give credit, not 17 because you think it ought to be under the fraud guideline.  I 18 do think it probably should have not been given in this case.
19 The question is, is that where it goes?  The Court understands 20 that.  The Court sees that this case is going to be sentenced 21 somewhere between zero and five years because the government 22 thinks the highest sentence in this case should go to 23 Mr. Boggs for five years, or at least not greater than five 24 years.

25          MS. SUGAR:  Not greater than five years.

1           THE COURT: Not greater than five years. You may 2 recommend something else. The -- and then everybody else
3 cascades down from that all the way down to probation. So I 4 recognize where the government, which is -- thinks this case
5 ought to go. The defense thinks it ought to go in that range 6 and they think it ought to go into everybody goes home.

7           MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

8           THE COURT: I mean, that's what they think.

9           MS. SUGAR: Well, Nagle itself -- I mean, the 10 problem is it's been remanded so we don't even know what the 11 district court is going to do for loss in that case because 12 the Court specifically says you should keep in mind the goals 13 of the DBE program in fashioning your loss.

14          THE COURT: But they don't say you -- not in 15 fashioning what the loss is, in fashioning what the sentence 16 is. In other words, in Nagle they found a very low sentence.
17 A very low -- they found, I think it was zero. And then in 18 the concurring opinion, Judge Hardiman said that --

19          MS. SUGAR: It wasn't a government benefits.

20          THE COURT: It was talking about fraudulent
21 procurement and false statements to the government. And it 22 said that sentencing guidelines make it clear that the loss 23 calculation in the procurement fraud case is covered by the 24 general rule. And he would -- he would not -- he would find a 25 greater loss than the majority did. The majority sent it back

1 finding the loss to be -- to be low.

2 And what -- what this creates is if it's a benefits
3 case, it creates a situation where the Court is sitting here
4 going, well, what kind of deductions are there? You know, do 5 you deduct for the salary? What are the salaries?

6 I mean, the Court is going through an impossible 7 math calculation trying to figure this out if they're supposed 8 to get credit for their costs, which it appears, based upon 9 the guideline range, they may be entitled to get credit for 10 their costs.

11 MS. SUGAR: And if that's true and if --

12 THE COURT: As silly as that may seem at this 13 moment.

14 MS. SUGAR: Well, as I said, the testimony of the 15 DBE person from North Carolina is that -- and the plain 16 language of the contracts, as we said in the loss, if you're 17 cheating on DBE amount, you could lose the ability to bid.
18 You could have to give back all of that money. So I think it 19 is a fair way to say --

20 THE COURT: But that -- and those are additional 21 penalties. I mean, you can -- you know, you can try to get 22 the money back. Apparently they're not going to be allowed to 23 bid on contracts and -- I mean, there are some significant 24 things that occur and that are occurring with regard to the 25 DBE contracts. But what does that do with the loss amount in

1 this case? That's the -- that's where the Court is struggling
2 with this case. And I really have struggled with this case.
3 The amount of times I've tried to do math on figuring out --
4 I've tried to figure out what salary -- what kind of salaries 5 are made because that would seem to me to be a ridiculous 6 thing to allow somebody to take their salaries out that 7 Mr. Boggs made off of the $3 million part.

8 MR. BELL: I just rose to plug in the answer to a 9 couple of questions Your Honor has raised.

10 During the indictment period, Mr. Drew Boggs and his 11 brother Chris Boggs, who own half the company each, were 12 drawing $125,000 a year, not pulling out millions and millions 13 and millions.

14 And to answer another question the Court has raised 15 about profit. You recall we put up our summary witness 16 yesterday who analyzed Boggs Paving profit and loss on these 17 projects, and she did factor in a percentage, like 2-1/2 18 percent or something, of supervisory costs which was for 19 people supervising that project, not Mr. Boggs, not Mr. Hicks, 20 not Mr. Miller. You know, the foreman or the superintendent 21 who was on there.

22 So the profit to the company of this conduct was 23 $94,000. And Mr. Boggs nor his brother, who hadn't done 24 anything wrong in this case, were not pulling out the big 25 bucks so it would skew that number.

1           THE COURT: Well, somehow he was -- he's been able 2 to over the period of time on these -- and this is a big 3 contract, accumulate a great amount of wealth. So there's -- 4 and some of it, I guess, is in the company which may or may 5 not be around, but he's accumulated a good bit of money over 6 the time. So it can't be -- it can't be off of -- off of a 7 $125,000 a year salary on its own. While that may seem like a 8 lot of money to a waitress after they pay taxes on that, not 9 many $125,000 a year people are making -- are socking away 10 millions of dollars in net worth.

11           MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the government presented 12 testimony about the total amount of commissions that they saw 13 going to Styx. So for money just run through that he got for 14 the scheme is $80,000. So it seems absurd that that's the 15 total amount that Boggs Paving was making. They had to be 16 making a --

17           THE COURT: At a lot of businesses, though, the 18 employees make -- the employees end up making a lot of money 19 and more money than -- sometimes than the company makes in the 20 end. You know, it can be -- my family ran a business and I
21 remember Dad one year said, The employees did a lot better 22 than we did this year up there at our ranch. So it's -- you 23 know, that -- yeah, it can happen that way if you're running 24 an unintentional nonprofit business. But this -- I understand 25 what the government is arguing here. I've got to come up with

1 the right answer.

2 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: And then I've got to come up with the 4 right sentence.

5 MS. SUGAR: Well, I do think if you can't find a 6 number, then the guidelines say that you can look at the 7 profit, and I think that 2 percent is a fair way to do that.
8 I also think you can make alternative findings that it's 9 3.7 million. Or if it's zero, then you would depart up to 10 that amount. I mean, there's a lot of things the Court can do 11 to end up with the right range. You can make alternative 12 findings.

13 THE COURT: Or I can make -- I can make the correct 14 finding and then sentence at the right sentence.

15 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: I mean, that's what I can do. I mean --

17 MS. SUGAR: That's what all the parties want.

18 THE COURT: -- we're straining over a range here and 19 we should -- we should strain. But in the end, it's going to 20 be very difficult. It's not an easy thing in this case 21 because of the decision of the sentencing commission to add on 22 this for benefits. And, you know, you can sit around and 23 think about why they would do that, but it's probably because 24 of something like a food stamp case where some poor devil 25 ended up going off on -- getting some big sentence and then

1 given a bunch of -- some of this back. And they said, you
2 know, we can't do that. Unintended consequences.

3 But it's very difficult to -- unless I ignore that 4 this is a benefits case. If I ignore this is a benefits case, 5 I can do some other things.

6 But regardless of what I do, if I find the guideline 7 range is 360 months to life, the government has come in and 8 said the top sentence ought to be no more than five years. So 9 I'm straining an awful lot over something that may or may not 10 have a lot of implication in this case.

11 MS. SUGAR: Yes. We do not agree that the loss is 12 zero. We don't agree that the loss is less than a hundred 13 thousand dollars. This is a case where the small business 14 jobs they got in Styx's name were more than a hundred thousand 15 dollars. That would be an absurd result to have a loss that 16 is so low when you're talking about tens of millions of 17 dollars worth of contracts.

18 THE COURT: And that's what Nagle was talking about.
19 Nagle talked about the fact that this is a serious blow to the 20 DBE business. If the DBE business is done right by the -- by 21 the disadvantaged business people, if it's a real company and 22 not a company that's added somebody to be a DBE, but if it's a 23 real DBE and if the folks at the Department of Transportation, 24 GSA, or whatever, are looking at that and making sure it's a 25 real DBE, then this is a good program. This is a good thing.

1 And it's been damaged --

2 MS. SUGAR: Yes, sir.

3 THE COURT: -- by the fact that this has been 4 mismanaged. But we can't -- we can't calculate -- that's not 5 one of the losses that we calculate. That's not in this -- in 6 this system to calculate.

7 MS. SUGAR: I think it is. I think it's to be 8 calculated in the harm. You might not put a dollar amount --

9 THE COURT: But not in the money. I mean, in the 10 amount of harm, the fact that DBE has been done wrong and that 11 people need to be discouraged from getting these kinds of 12 contracts. When this case is over with, really what happens, 13 if the fines are big, if really Boggs Paving goes out of 14 business like they claim they are, if Boggs Paving and their 15 people are no longer allowed to bid, there are going to be a 16 lot of people who are going to go, I don't want any of that.
17 Let's go ahead and figure out how to do this DBE right. And 18 that's what needs to happen in this case. That's a big thing 19 that needs to happen in this case.

20 There may be need for some of these people to go to 21 prison for a while too in order to give meaning to the law.
22 But there's some good -- the government has done some good 23 here in bringing this case. But I have to come up with what 24 the right sentence is here and I can't -- I can't decide what 25 the right sentence is and then try to figure out how to get to 1 it by coming up with some invented guideline.

2 MS. SUGAR: We're trying to give you different 3 options --

4 THE COURT: I know.

5 MS. SUGAR: -- to get to the right place.

6 THE COURT: I know. But if I -- one of the things 7 it says is that if you can't come up with the right number, 8 you can go to the -- you could go to the money laundering 9 guideline, which is -- which is up there pretty good. The 10 Court considered that. The problem is that even in the 11 Court's consideration and math of this as to how to figure out 12 to give full credit for the money, the money is lower, the 13 money the Court would come up with is going to be lower than 14 any guideline on the money laundering. So it would be unfair
15 to go up to a higher guideline because I'm having trouble 16 getting it right on a specific lower guideline. I can't 17 exactly decide which of the lower numbers I ought to use so, 18 bingo, I jump to a higher guideline. That wouldn't be a fair 19 way to do it. And I did consider that. I've considered the 20 money laundering guideline.

21 MS. SUGAR: I think that you can --

22 THE COURT: But that guideline is even higher than 23 what you're asking for.

24 MS. SUGAR: You could -- you could use the money 25 laundering guidelines and then say that it overstates the loss

1 and come down. I mean, you have a lot of options here. We 2 need to calculate the guidelines correctly. We could do them 3 in the alternative if there was concern about doing it right 4 because I think everyone wants to get to the right place.

5 THE COURT: There's a lot of concern about doing it
6 right. The real reason that the people -- the real thing 7 they're trying to do when they go through the vetting process 8 for people for these jobs, each political side knows they're 9 not going to get the exact person that they want on the job.
10 They want somebody that will follow the law. That's all they 11 want. They don't want -- they don't want some idealogue up 12 here that's going to look outside the United States 13 Constitution or the laws of the United States to try to find 14 the right. They want somebody that will follow the law that's 15 in front of them. And that's what everybody is trying to do 16 when they get -- when they put people in these positions.

17 So I want to get it right, is really what I want to 18 do, whether I like it or not. And that doesn't mean that I 19 will get it right, by the way. I may get it wrong.

20 Okay. Any other arguments from anybody right now 21 before I take a quick recess and think about this another 22 minute or two? This has given the Court a lot of trouble in 23 terms of coming up with the right guideline.

24 MR. BELL: I can't help but repeat myself, Your 25 Honor, since you invited it. That, you know, we spent a lot

1 of time looking at the appropriate loss calculations --

2 THE COURT: And came up, surprisingly, that they 3 ought to be really low.

4 MR. BELL: Well, we were hoping the numbers would 5 work out the way they did. But much like the Court did, 6 because I knew the Court would do what it thought was correct 7 under the law, that's the methodology I used. He's going to 8 follow the law where those numbers go. And all I can tell the 9 Court is I'm pretty confident that the argument we've made is 10 the right one.

11 THE COURT: All right. Let's take a 15 minute 12 recess.

13 (Brief recess at 10:25 a.m. Court resumed at 11:04 14 a.m.)

15 THE COURT: All right. As to amount of loss. Well, 16 this is a serious matter. The DBE program is a -- or 17 Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program is an affirmative 18 action program aimed at giving exclusive opportunities to 19 certain women and minority business, and was found by the 20 Fourth Circuit as such in the Brothers Construction Company of 21 Ohio case to be a government benefits program.

22 The program cares about who performs the work. It 23 assumes the performance of the contract allows a disadvantaged 24 business enterprise to not only earn a profit on the deal, but 25 also to form connections with suppliers, labor and others in

1 the industry. The profit earned, therefore, is not the only 2 benefit the DBE obtains when it receives the contract, and 3 that has been thwarted by what has occurred in this case. And 4 it's easy to see why deducting the direct costs of the 5 amount -- from the amount of the loss would understate the 6 seriousness of the offense.

7 But the problem in the case is that the remedy is 8 not to concoct a number in determining what the seriousness of 9 the harm -- of the harm in this case is in terms of the loss.
10 The -- there are two -- there are two types of harms which can 11 occur. There is a monetary harm and then there is a 12 programmable harm. And the DBE program has been harmed and 13 the Court will take that into consideration with regard to 14 sentencing.

15 However, after much thought, the Court finds that 16 the loss in this case, provable loss in this case is $37,000.
17 Roads were built. The government got the benefit out of it.
18 In fact, the government's not even asking for a dime of 19 restitution in this case. It -- it is a very serious, serious 20 matter, but that -- the seriousness of this matter is -- can't 21 be monetized. It's just not one of those situations that can 22 be under the prevailing law.

23 The Court agrees with the government that the 24 Brothers Construction of Ohio case is the controlling law and 25 the Court has been guided throughout the loss phase of 1 sentencing by that decision. The only difficulty in following 2 Brothers Construction comes when application note 3(E)(i) is 3 considered. As recently pointed out by the Third Circuit in 4 United States versus Nagle, which also discussed Brothers

5 Construction, while Section 2(F)(i) had an application note
6 similar to Application Note 3(F)(ii), it had no application
7 note similar to Application Note 3(E)(i), which mandates a 8 credit for the fair market value of the property returned and 9 the services rendered.

10           The government certainly wants to argue, as it did 11 in Nagle, that Note 3(E)(i) has no application to loss 12 determined under 3(F)(ii). However, as the Nagle court found, 13 the sentencing commission knows how to tell courts not to 14 apply 3(E)(i) credits as it did in the very same Subsection, 15 3(F)(v), when it advised as to "Certain Other Unlawful 16 Misrepresentation Schemes" that "no credit is provided for the 17 value of those items or services."

18           Finally, Note 3(F)(ii) only supplants Note 3(A) in 19 the calculation of loss as 3(F) only states "Notwithstanding 20 Subdivision A." Had the sentencing commission intended to 21 preclude crediting services rendered against loss for Note 22 3(F)(ii), it would have used similar language as it used in 23 Note 3(F)(v) or included in 3(E) in the "notwithstanding" 24 preamble to Note 3(F).

25           So that's going to be the Court's finding with

1 regard to the loss. But the Court notes that the harm done
2 here was serious and the Court takes this as a serious matter 3 and will sentence this as a serious case, noting that really 4 where the parties disagree is on the government saying that it 5 will recommend a sentence not greater than 60 months for 6 defendants going down, depending on who the defendant is, and 7 the defendant saying please send us all home on probation.
8 And somewhere in between all of those things, depending on the 9 defendant, is the right of this matter. So the Court will 10 hear with regard to that on the sentencing questions.

11           Is there anything else in front of the Court right 12 now?

13           MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the government would object 14 for the record to the loss calculation.

15           THE COURT: Certainly. And the government is 16 welcome to -- who knows what the Fourth Circuit will do. The 17 Fourth Circuit has said this is a benefits case, and if this 18 is a benefits case they get it all. Looks to me like it could 19 have been considered or maybe should have been considered 20 fraudulent procurement. But it's the Fourth Circuit that put 21 it as a benefits case, not this Court. And I can't make it up 22 as I go along. I'm just following the law of the Fourth 23 Circuit. When that changes, I'll change.

24           All right. Let's move on to sentencing. What order 25 are we going to be sentencing these folks in now? I think we

1 were going to go -- we've got a batting order that we decided 2 on. What's the first one?

3 MS. SUGAR: From the bottom to the top.

4 THE COURT: So which one do you want to call?

5 MS. SUGAR: Mr. Cuthbertson is the first on the 6 schedule, Your Honor.

7 If we could just have quickly Mr. -- probation tell 8 us the guideline range that would be applicable as to each 9 defendant based on the enhancements that apply and the new 10 loss amount.

11 THE COURT: Yeah, it looks to me like -- that's what 12 we tried to talk about back there. And it looks like it's 13 going to fall somewhere in the neighborhood of...

14 MR. BAKER: Your Honor, most individuals, because of 15 the change in loss, would be right at 8 as the total offense 16 level when you make the adjustments.

17 THE COURT: Right.

18 MR. BAKER: Except for the ones with money
19 laundering and that would be 10, I believe. In Mr. Boggs' 20 case with leadership, that would be 14.

21 THE COURT: So Boggs would be 14. And it's going to 22 go -- all of these cases I'm going to listen to the government 23 with regard to the actual harm to the program because the 24 Court certainly has the ability to vary up as much as it has 25 the ability to vary down depending on the harm caused by the 1 particular defendant in the case.

2 All right. Call the case of United States versus 3 John Cuthbertson.

4 Is the defendant ready?

5 MR. ASHMORE: Defendant is ready.

6 THE COURT: Is the government ready?

7 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: All right. If the defendant would 9 please stand.

10 Mr. Cuthbertson, do you recall appearing before a 11 United States magistrate judge for the purpose of entering a 12 plea of guilty in this case?

13 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

14 THE COURT: And, Mr. Cuthbertson, there's not -- 15 there are no trick questions in this. These are just direct 16 questions to attempt to find out and make sure that your plea 17 was knowingly and voluntarily made. Okay.

18 So do you remember being placed under oath the day 19 you entered a plea of guilty in front of the magistrate judge?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Do you remember answering the 22 questions of the judge that day?

23 DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

24 THE COURT: Do you remember that there was a plea 25 transcript form where the answers to the questions were

1 checked off? Do you remember signing that form indicating 2 that the answers you gave that day to the judge were true and 3 accurate to the best of your knowledge?

4 DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

5 THE COURT: If I were to ask you those same 6 questions today, would your answers be the same?

7 DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 Counsel, do you believe your client understood fully 10 the questions that the magistrate judge asked at the Rule 11 11 hearing?

12 MR. ASHMORE: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Thank you.

14 Mr. Cuthbertson, did you answer the questions the 15 way you did and are you going forward with your guilty plea 16 today because you did commit the crime you're pleading guilty 17 to?

18 DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

19 THE COURT: All right. Then based upon those 20 representations and the answers given by the defendant at the 21 Rule 11 hearing before the magistrate judge and affirmed again 22 in open court today, the Court affirms the judge's finding 23 that the defendant's plea was knowingly and voluntarily made.
24 The Court also affirms the judge's finding that the defendant 25 understood the charges, the potential penalties, and the

1 consequences of his plea. Accordingly, the Court affirms the 2 magistrate judge's acceptance of the defendant's plea of 3 guilty at the Rule 11 hearing and accepts it itself today.

4 Ms. Sugar, would the government have a factual basis
5 in this case?

6 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the parties have filed a 7 factual basis in this case which has been adopted in the 8 presentence report.

9 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

10 Does the defendant stipulate that the factual basis 11 which is found in the presentence report can be relied upon by 12 the Court in finding a factual basis in the case?

13 MR. ASHMORE: Yes, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Thank you. Based upon that stipulation
15 and the offense conduct as set forth in the presentence
16 report, the defendant's plea of guilty before the magistrate 17 judge, and the defendant's admissions in open court today, the 18 Court finds there is a factual basis for the entry of the plea 19 of guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of guilty in this 20 case.

21 Mr. Cuthbertson, your case was referred to the 22 United States Probation Office for a presentence investigation 23 and the preparation of a presentence report. The Court has 24 now received that report. Have you either read or gone over 25 that report or had it read to you?

1           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON:   Yes.

2           THE COURT:   Have you gone over that report with your 3 attorney?

4           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON:   Yes.

5           THE COURT:   You have?

6           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON:   Yes.

7           THE COURT:   Okay.   Do you now believe you understand 8 the contents of that report?

9           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON:   Yes.

10          THE COURT:   All right.   Counsel, have you had an 11 opportunity to go over that report with your client and are 12 you satisfied he understands the contents of that report?

13          MR. ASHMORE:   Yes, Your Honor.

14          THE COURT:   All right.   Thank you.   Are there any 15 objections to the presentence report which remain outstanding 16 at this time?

17          MR. ASHMORE:   Your Honor, in view of your ruling on 18 the amount of loss, we have no objections.

19          THE COURT:   All right.   Any objections from the 20 defendant -- from the government other than its objection with 21 regard to the Court's finding on amount of loss?

22          MS. SUGAR:   No, Your Honor.

23          THE COURT:   Thank you.   Then the Court, except 24 for -- will adopt the information contained in the presentence 25 report for the purpose of applying the guidelines as has been

1 amended by the finding of its -- of loss in this particular 2 case by the Court today.

3 In the instant case, it would appear that we have -- 4 what's going to be the total offense level for this defendant
5 now?

6 MR. BAKER: Eight, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Eight. Thank you. And a criminal 8 history category of I, which puts him in the 0 to 6 month 9 range.

10 Does the defense agree?

11 MR. ASHMORE: Yes, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Does the government agree that that is 13 the sentencing guideline range in this particular case based 14 upon the Court's finding of loss?

15 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

17 All right. Are there any motions from the 18 government for departures or variances at this time?

19 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right. From the defense?

21 MR. ASHMORE: Your Honor, I did file a motion for 22 variance; but again, considering your ruling on the amount of 23 loss, I think that's essentially turned into a mitigating 24 circumstance argument.

25 THE COURT: All right. Okay. You can make whatever

1 argument you want to make in terms of punishment when the 2 time -- when the time comes.

3 Let me hear -- in this particular case, let me hear 4 from the government first on this in terms of what the 5 punishment ought to be in this case before I hear from the 6 defense and defense counsel.

7 MS. SUGAR: Thank you, Your Honor.

8 Well, the guideline range diminishes this a little 9 bit, but I do think that for the prosecution team, that 10 Mr. Cuthbertson was sort of the hardest case. You know, we 11 wanted to find a way that he wouldn't be included in the 12 indictment, and we couldn't make it happen, because in so many 13 ways he was taken advantage of. He trusted Drew Boggs. He 14 trusted his father before him to, you know, take care of 15 everything. He signed whatever was in front of him. He was a 16 simple trucker, not necessarily the most intellectual guy in 17 the room, and he trusted them and he made very little money.

18 And I think that was an interesting thing that we 19 found out during the investigation is when people even who 20 worked at Boggs Paving found out how little Mr. Cuthbertson 21 made for all these false signatures, they were surprised.
22 They thought he would have made a lot more money. And indeed, 23 we've seen cases where the, you know, sort of DBE nominee that 24 we see here would get a lot more money.

25 THE COURT: This is why the DBE program was formed

1 was to avoid people like Mr. Cuthbertson being employees 2 forever unable to make anything above wage.

3 MS. SUGAR: Sure. And we saw him not grow. We saw 4 him making, you know, exactly what a truck driver would make 5 the whole time of this scheme. We don't see him advancing.
6 We don't see him getting more money. And all of those things 7 really counseled for a low sentence.

8 But at the same time, there was a number of problems 9 with just giving him a walk because it wasn't just that he was 10 signing documents. He was interviewed by North Carolina and 11 South Carolina DOT over and over again to get his DBE 12 certifications and he knew how to answer the questions to say 13 he wasn't subcontracting, to say he picked his own jobs to bid 14 on, to only give over the one bank account and not the other.
15 He knew what to do. And in fact, back in 2009 he was 16 approached by the FBI and DOT and they started asking him 17 questions and he knew exactly when to stop answering 18 questions. He is not completely unsophisticated. He 19 certainly knew how he was supposed to answer questions and how 20 not to answer questions.

21 Moreover, when -- as it's pointed out in the factual
22 basis in the PSR, at some point Boggs Paving wanted to get off 23 of their books some trucks that he had been purchasing from 24 them so he went to the bank and he took fake tax returns. He 25 knew that his tax returns weren't going to be enough money to

1 get that loan so he took fake tax returns. And that wasn't 2 the only time he'd taken fake tax returns to a bank. He did
3 that for his personal residence to be refinanced. He had done 4 that on other occasions.

5 And he also, you know, as much as he's 6 unsophisticated, he had a lumber truck that worked for someone 7 else. He had a nightclub for some of the time we're here.
8 We're not talking about someone who was merely signing 9 documents. He's a bit more sophisticated than that.

10 And as we think about his sentence, we want to think 11 about if you're a DBE or you're a minority and someone says, 12 Hey, let's make an arrangement: You just sign documents, you 13 get a little extra. What's going to stop them from doing 14 that? And respectfully, where we are in the guidelines, I'm 15 not sure that they're going to have any reason not to. If the 16 loss is going to be zero and they're going to be looking at 17 probation, I'm just not sure what motivation they're going to 18 have to not sign up. Why wouldn't you sign up for a little 19 extra money?

20 THE COURT: But you're going -- you're asking me to 21 vary upward.

22 MS. SUGAR: I didn't say I was asking you to vary 23 upward. I'm telling you that I think that Mr. Cuthbertson is 24 the hardest in terms --

25 THE COURT: You can argue to me whatever sentence

1 you want to argue. In other words, the government -- the 2 government's entitled, just like they are, to argue whatever 3 the sentence ought to be.

4 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: The guideline range in this case -- the 6 Court's going to try to decide what the right sentence in this 7 case is. The Court didn't find this so it could sentence
8 everybody within the guideline range. The Court wants to find 9 out what the right -- decide what the right sentence is. I 10 may agree with you or disagree with you on the right sentence.
11 The Court is looking at the 3553 factors to determine what 12 sentence within the range the government set -- the government 13 set the top, as far as this Court is concerned, at five years 14 when it said that that was -- you were going to ask for no 15 more than that.

16 Again, when I looked at the case, when it first 17 comes in, you look, is this $84 million that's been stolen?
18 The answer is no. The government got everything it wanted 19 except compliance with the DBE program. They got -- 20 everything got built. And apparently everything got built 21 well. So the violence that was done in this case is the harm 22 to the DBE program. And so the Court's got to decide what the 23 correct sentence is in this case which will prevent others -- 24 will prevent any further harm from these defendants and will 25 protect the public from further harm by the other -- by other

1 folks deciding they want to go into this type of conduct. So 2 they'll go, Please don't give me any of that.

3 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

4 And another issue here is that when we have a case 5 like this that it's really hard to get cooperators in, we 6 don't really have much of a -- if the same sentence would 7 apply to someone who didn't cooperate as someone who did 8 cooperate, that also is a challenging circumstance for the 9 government. I don't think that Mr. Cuthbertson who wasn't 10 able to cooperate should get the same benefits as someone who 11 did come in, who took a stand and made a hard decision and 12 cooperated. So there's a number of reasons why I'm concerned 13 about where we're ending up.

14 That being said, Mr. Cuthbertson got about $80,000 15 in extra commissions for his participation. And so if we -- 16 if you had gone with the Court's number -- if you had gone 17 with the government's number, rather, I wasn't going to come 18 in and ask for something that was then in that range because I 19 thought that the $80,000 might be a better place to look for 20 Mr. Cuthbertson due to the nature of his involvement, due to 21 his -- due to his -- the different factors. When you read his 22 PSR, when you read the filings by the defense, there's 23 certainly some mitigating factors that aren't present for the 24 other defendants.

25 So keeping those things in mind, as to

1 Mr. Cuthbertson, I don't think that the 3553(a) factors and my 2 analysis before would suggest that an upward variance is 3 appropriate. But that doesn't mean that I think that straight 4 probation or a zero month sentence is appropriate.

5 I think what that means is that the Court can 6 fashion a sentence that includes jail time or home confinement 7 or something within the 0 to 6 months that would serve to 8 deter others who would sign up to be a DBE. If there's no -- 9 if there's no consequences, who would know that you need to 10 cooperate or that you should consider cooperating because it 11 will benefit you? So we don't think that straight probation 12 is appropriate in this case. But we're not going to ask, as 13 to Mr. Cuthbertson, for a variance, an upward variance above 14 this range.

15 We would also ask that fines be imposed as to all 16 the defendants. As you noted, we are not seeking restitution 17 in this case. It's a very challenging thing to do restitution 18 when the roads are built. But the case law that we pointed 19 out in one of our sentencing filings says in a case where 20 restitution may not be appropriate, that jail time and fine 21 may instead be appropriate as part of the punishment in the 22 case.

23 And for those reasons, we would ask that 24 Mr. Cuthbertson not receive a straight probationary sentence.
25 We don't think that would deter others from being involved in

1 his role; but, rather, would ask for either imprisonment or 2 some type of community or home confinement within the range of 3 0 to 6 months as appropriate because of the very many 4 mitigating factors that apply to this defendant in this case.

5 THE COURT: And what's the government's argument on 6 fine, if any?

7 MS. SUGAR: I think we're going to ask for high end
8 for fine for everyone. Mr. Cuthbertson has some resources, I 9 think, that he can pay. I think that this is the kind of case 10 where monetary fines -- because restitution isn't applicable 11 and because the government thinks that the loss here doesn't 12 accurately reflect the conduct where we would ask for a high 13 end fine.

14 THE COURT: What's the fine range?

15 MR. BAKER: 2,000 to 20,000.

16 THE COURT: Two to 20.

17 Okay. I'll hear from the defense on sentencing.

18 MR. ASHMORE: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 Your Honor, I'm surprised that Ms. Sugar would ask 20 for anything other than a straight probationary sentence 21 which, you know, a 0 to 6 month range would be very typical 22 across --

23 THE COURT: If I don't vary. If I don't vary.

24 MR. ASHMORE: Yes.

25 THE COURT: She's not asking for a variance, but

1 that doesn't mean I won't vary.

2 MR. ASHMORE: I understand, Your Honor. And thank 3 you. But she began by saying the government was looking for a 4 way to not even include him in the indictment, Your Honor.
5 And that gives you a level of understanding of the very 6 minimal participation that Mr. Cuthbertson had in this case.

7 Your Honor, if I can just briefly point out about 8 his background. He's 71. He's got zero criminal history 9 points, making him a category I. He's just -- he's never been 10 in trouble other than driving violations, Your Honor.

11 And as paragraph 33 in the presentence investigation 12 report points out, he is simply an unsophisticated truck 13 driver. That's what he does, Judge. He drives trucks. And 14 he fixes trucks. That's where his profit margin, as modest as 15 it may be, comes from. He's actually a good, self-taught 16 mechanic. He would show up for work. He worked hard. He had 17 others that would drive for him, Your Honor. He's just a hard 18 working, very modest, very pleasant man, Your Honor.

19 He apologizes to the Court for his involvement in 20 this case and he wants to speak to you briefly in just a few 21 minutes to express that, Your Honor.

22 But obviously, he's a very quiet man, a man of very 23 view words. And, Your Honor, in particular, I don't want to 24 get too much into it, but paragraph 82 of the presentence 25 investigation report itself points out the very limited mental

1 capacity that he has in this -- in day-to-day life, Your 2 Honor.

3           Your Honor, he's got a number of medical issues, 4 again, outlined in the presentence investigation report.
5 Since then it's only gotten worse, Your Honor. He can't see 6 through one eye because of a stroke suffered some ten years 7 ago. And his other eye, Your Honor, is failing. He can 8 not -- he can't get his CDL, commercial driver's license, due 9 to vision problems. It's only getting worse, Your Honor.

10           And, Judge, I've been to his house. I've been 11 inside his house. He lives a modest, quiet lifestyle. I 12 think even Ms. Sugar has pointed out that his earnings over 13 the years might have been in the 20 to 30 thousand dollar 14 range, and that's perfectly consistent with what I've 15 witnessed in my many dealings with Mr. Cuthbertson.

16           Your Honor, he did try and help. He tried his 17 hardest. I got him in before the indictment, after the 18 indictment, after pleas were being negotiated, but he only 19 knew so much, Your Honor. He only knew so much to help 20 himself, and apparently he couldn't cross that hurdle in the 21 eyes of the government to say that he had rendered substantial 22 assistance. He was willing to, Your Honor. And he certainly 23 confirmed everything that they knew. He never denied that.
24 But it just wasn't enough to get him that downward departure 25 that we were seeking.

1           So, Your Honor, if ever there was a case, in my 2 humble opinion, that dictates a probationary sentence under 3 the 33 -- 3553 factors, it's Mr. Cuthbertson.

4           He is here with a number of family and friends. If 5 I can get them just to stand briefly.

6           Thank you.

7           He's a likable, well loved man in the community,
8 Your Honor. And the government is making some kind of policy
9 arguments as to other cases. I just want you to sentence 10 Mr. Cuthbertson, Your Honor, for his role in this offense.
11 It's a to 6 month range. I think probation, again, under the 12 factors that you must use, probation is the appropriate 13 sentence.

14           I think he wants to briefly address the Court, Your 15 Honor.

16           THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

17           Mr. Cuthbertson, anything you would like to say 18 today?

19           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes. I'm sorry I got into 20 that. All I do is work on trucks and try to drive them, keep 21 them going. That's about it. I mean, you know, that's all 22 that happened, you know.

23           THE COURT: Okay.

24           MR. ASHMORE: Thank you, Your Honor.

25           THE COURT: Yes, sir. Thank you.

1           Let me see probation for just a minute.

2           (The Court and the probation officer conferred.)

3           THE COURT: All right. The Court, considering 4 everything with regard to the defendant in this particular 5 case, is going to vary upward two levels to zone B to 10, 6 offense level 10, criminal history category 1, 6 to 12 months.
7 There is an understatement of harm in what has occurred with 8 regard to the application of the guidelines in this case 9 finding that the loss was $37,000. Again, the government got 10 all that it asked for, but the harm was to the program. And 11 in looking at the 3553 factors, which include keeping others 12 from committing this crime, the Court is going to sentence at 13 that -- depart upward at that.

14           However, the Court does also recognize when it 15 looked into this case with regard to this defendant, talked 16 with probation, and understands the defendant does not read 17 and write very well. There's some evidence that with regard 18 to signatures, that he had some difficulty from time to time 19 with that. That does not show a lack of intelligence, but it 20 does show there was a reason why he was allowing so much to be 21 done and why he is so loyal to the Boggs folks. The Court 22 gives him no credit for that, but it doesn't penalize him for 23 his failure to be more forthcoming.

24           Again, this is a serious matter and the Court 25 doesn't think that -- although the Court does not believe that

1 prison is -- should happen for this defendant, the Court wants 2 to, again, send a message that it does -- this is not -- the 3 fact that the Court found this particular finding with regard
4 to loss, which once again is an academic exercise, the Court 5 has done very, very hard to try to figure it out, does not 6 mean that the Court is just going to go right down to the 7 bottom of this thing and sentence people when there is a 8 problem. People need to be deterred from this kind of -- from 9 ignoring these regulations and acting like they just don't 10 exist.

11           And I agree that Mr. Cuthbertson was more a tool in 12 this than he was a starter or a person -- he would have been 13 probably happy if they filled out all the DBE stuff and got 14 him qualified. And he certainly would have been a qualified 15 person to be a DBE. The Court thinks that that's probably 16 what ought to be. Truck driving DBEs probably ought to be -- 17 instead of the sharply dressed DBE who happens to fit the 18 profile and then goes out and gets people like Mr. Cuthbertson 19 to do all the hard work while they sit in the office. So I 20 would hope they would start looking at those kind of folks, 21 hard working folks, day-to-day folks for the DBEs.

22           All right. With that said, the Court will now 23 pronounce sentence unless there is something else.

24           Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, it is 25 the judgment of the Court, having considered the factors noted

1 in 18, United States Code, Section 3553(a), that the 2 defendant, John Cuthbertson, is hereby placed on probation for 3 a period of two years. During the period of probation, 4 defendant is to spend three months of that under house arrest.

5 I will leave electronic monitoring up to the 6 probation office.

7 In this particular case defendant will be allowed to 8 work, but will have to be under the regular terms of house 9 arrest that the probation office puts on the defendant.

10 While on supervised -- while on probation, the 11 defendant shall not commit another federal, state or local 12 crime, and shall comply with the standard conditions of 13 probation that have been adopted by the Court in the Western 14 District of North Carolina.

15 Defendant is to pay a fine in the amount of $2,000.

16 And the defendant shall pay the United States a
17 special assessment of $100.

18 The $100 is due and payable immediately.

19 The $2,000 is to be paid at the rate of not more 20 than $100 a month to begin the month following the defendant's 21 going on to probation.

22 Throughout the period of supervision, the probation
23 officer shall monitor the defendant's economic circumstances 24 and report to the Court with recommendations as warranted any 25 material changes that affect the defendant's ability to pay

1 court-ordered penalties or fines.

2 Defendant shall forfeit any interest in property
3 identified by the United States.

4 I don't know if there is anything that's been 5 identified for this defendant. Has there been anything 6 forfeitable in this case, Ms. Sugar?

7 MS. SUGAR: As to the individual defendants, we're 8 not proceeding on forfeiture.

9 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

10 Is there any legal reason why this should not be the 11 sentence in this case?

12 From the defense?

13 MR. ASHMORE: None, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: From the government?

15 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. That is the sentence in this
17 case.

18 Now, Mr. Cuthbertson, you may appeal this conviction 19 and sentence to the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals. Any 20 appeal must be done in writing and must be done within 14 days 21 from when I enter the written judgment in this case. It will 22 be a written judgment in this case. Your attorney can advise 23 you of that. If you wish to appeal and do not have the 24 finances with which to appeal, you may appeal at no expense to 25 you.

1           I would suggest you speak to your very able counsel 2 about whether in this circumstance you wish to exercise your 3 right to appeal. But do you understand your right to appeal
4 as I have just explained it to you?

5           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: (No response.)

6           THE COURT: Let me say it again.

7           DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

8           THE COURT: Let me say it again. You can appeal
9 this if you want to. Okay?

10          DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

11          THE COURT: You've got to do it within 14 days and 12 you've got to do it in writing. Your lawyer will help you do 13 that if you want to appeal. That's the conviction and 14 sentence. You have the total right to do it except as you 15 have agreed in your plea agreement. You may have agreed in 16 your plea agreement to only appeal for prosecutorial
17 misconduct or ineffective assistance of counsel. That's a 18 fairly standard provision in there. You're going to need to 19 talk to your lawyer about what, if anything, you can appeal.
20 But whatever right you've not given away contractually, that 21 is, whatever right you've not agreed to give up, you still 22 have. And so if you want to appeal, you can appeal.

23          Do you understand that?

24          DEFENDANT CUTHBERTSON: Yes.

25          THE COURT: Okay. All right. Anything further from 1 the defense?

2 MR. ASHMORE: No, sir.

3 THE COURT: Anything further from the government?

4 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: All right. This matter is concluded.

6 Thank you.

7 MR. ASHMORE: Thank you, Your Honor.

8 (The Court and the deputy clerk conferred.)

9 THE COURT: Before defense counsel leaves, the 10 government is dismissing the remaining counts?

11 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor. And also, pursuant to 12 Mr. Cuthbertson's plea agreement, we are dismissing the counts 13 as to his business as well.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Let those be dismissed.

15 (End of proceedings at 11:43 a.m.)

16 THE COURT: All right. Let's call the case of 17 United States versus Greg Tucker.

18 Is the defendant ready?

19 MR. KNIGHT: Yes, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Is the government ready?

21 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Tucker, if you would, please 23 stand.

24 Mr. Tucker, do you recall appearing before a United 25 States magistrate judge for the purpose of entering a plea of 1 guilty in this case?

2 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Do you remember being placed under oath
4 at that time?

5 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Do you remember answering the questions
7 of the judge?

8 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Do you remember signing a plea
10 transcript form indicating the answers you gave the judge that 11 day were true and accurate to the best of your knowledge?

12 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: If I were to ask you the same questions
14 today, would you answer them the same way?

15 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

17 Counsel, do you believe your client understood fully 18 the questions the magistrate judge asked at the Rule 11
19 hearing?

20 MR. KNIGHT: Yes, I do, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Thank you.

22 Mr. Tucker, did you answer the questions the way you
23 did and are you going forward with your guilty plea today
24 because you did commit the crime you're pleading guilty to?

25 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Then based upon those representations
2 and the answers given by the defendant at the Rule 11 hearing
3 before the magistrate judge, the Court affirms the judge's 4 finding that the defendant's plea was knowingly and 5 voluntarily made. The Court also affirms the judge's finding 6 that the defendant understood the charges, the potential
7 penalties, and the consequences of his plea. Accordingly, the 8 Court affirms the magistrate judge's acceptance of the 9 defendant's plea of guilty at the Rule 11 hearing and also 10 accepts it here today.

11           Ms. Sugar, would the government have a factual basis
12 for this case?

13           MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the parties have stipulated 14 to the facts as filed in the factual basis and set forth in 15 the presentence report.

16           THE COURT: What says the defendant about the 17 factual basis as set forth in the presentence report?

18           MR. KNIGHT: We agree, Your Honor. We stipulated to 19 that.

20           THE COURT: Based upon that stipulation and the 21 offense conduct as set forth in the presentence report, the 22 defendant's plea of guilty before the magistrates judge, and 23 the defendant's admissions in open court today, the Court 24 finds there is a factual basis for the entry of the plea of 25 guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of guilty in this

1 case.

2 Mr. Tucker, your case was referred to the United 3 States Probation Office for a presentence investigation and 4 the preparation of a presentence report. The Court has now
5 received that report. Have you read that report?

6 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Have you gone over that report with your 8 attorney?

9 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Do you now believe you understand the 11 contents of that report?

12 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Counsel, have you gone over that report 14 with your client and do you believe he understands the 15 contents of that report?

16 MR. KNIGHT: I have, Your Honor. I do believe he 17 understands the contents.

18 THE COURT: Are there any objections to the 19 presentence report which are outstanding at this time?

20 MR. KNIGHT: No, none that are relevant now that 21 loss amount has been determined by the Court.

22 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

23 Any objection -- any objections from the government 24 other than the objection on the loss which is a standing 25 objection throughout this case?

1 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

3 Then the Court will adopt the information contained 4 in the presentence report for the purpose of applying the 5 guidelines with the loss amount being as the Court has found 6 and then will try to determine with regard to the 3553 factors 7 what each person should be sentenced to.

8 All right. Are there any -- it would appear based 9 upon the Court's finding -- where are we on this defendant?

10 MR. BAKER: This is another 8 and I, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. This is a total offense
12 level of 8, a guideline -- a criminal history category of I, 13 and a guideline sentencing range of 0 to 6 months without a 14 variance being taken into consideration.

15 What says the government on sentencing?

16 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, had the government's loss 17 recommendations been adopted, we would have been asking -- and 18 we still are asking for a 5K motion based on Mr. Tucker's 19 substantial assistance in this case. The numbers now have 20 changed so we can talk through what is appropriate.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MS. SUGAR: So first, with regard to Mr. Tucker, 23 seeing as he has the same loss as someone such as Greg Miller 24 who didn't cooperate and Mr. Cuthbertson, but Mr. Tucker was 25 on the Boggs Paving side of things, we don't think that the

1 guideline -- the loss calculation at 8 is the appropriate
2 starting point. We think that that understates the loss 3 because of the harm here and we believe that an upward 4 variance of six levels to a level 14 is really the correct 5 starting point for this analysis because a loss amount of 6 $30,000, it just doesn't reflect what happened here. It 7 doesn't reflect that $87 million worth of federal contracts 8 alone were obtained through the fraud. That more than 9 $3.7 million was told to the DOT as having been paid to Styx 10 as a legitimate DBE. That more than a hundred thousand 11 dollars of small business projects were obtained by Boggs 12 Paving in Styx's name. That more than $7 million were circled 13 through a nominee bank account and with more than 6 million 14 returning to Boggs Paving and its affiliates.

15           And based on all of those factors which Your Honor 16 has heard substantial amounts about, we think that the right 17 starting place before the 5K would put Mr. Tucker and his 18 co-defendants as to the loss, anyway, six levels above where 19 they are which would be a 14, 15 to 21 months.

20           Now, certainly as to Mr. Tucker, even when the 21 government believed that the loss was -- put the guideline
22 range at 37 to 46 months, we asked for a 5K down to a zone B 23 which is 4 to 14 months. So now we're at a lower starting 24 place, Your Honor. If we're starting at 15 to 21 for a six 25 level, then all of a sudden our zone B recommendation for him

1 doesn't look as generous percentile wise as where we were.

2           Your Honor heard Mr. Tucker testify. I believe -- 3 well, this Court knows -- whether the Court thought that he 4 was truthful, we certainly did.

5           And, you know, I think it all comes back to this 6 simple piece of paper that Your Honor saw numerous times.
7 Here's Greg Tucker January of 2011 telling Drew Boggs, "It's a
8 freaking small business contract. Styx can bid I assume?"
9 And Drew Boggs says, "10-4." Because everything that Greg 10 Tucker did, like the other project managers who were -- like 11 Arnold Mann, like Greg Miller, was to benefit the company and 12 was part of the way that the company operated. Each part of 13 the company. And Greg Tucker was just in the project 14 management part. He wasn't in the finance part. He wasn't in 15 the trucking. Each part of it worked so that no matter what 16 you wrote in, you would have enough Styx to meet the goal.

17           So all of these sort of questions he was faced with 18 during his cross examination of why didn't you check the DBE 19 numbers. Of course he didn't. That was part of the point of 20 how things worked at Boggs Paving starting from when Styx 21 Cuthbertson was written in the contract, everyone knowing he 22 wasn't -- or didn't need to do the work. And as you saw from 23 all of those examples of how the money circulated, sometimes 24 right back to Boggs Paving, not even to any trucking. Written 25 in for liquid asphalt, trucks he didn't even have. Written in

1 a contract with Palmetto that Drew Boggs himself wrote of 2 let's just, you know, run it through Styx. Whatever work 3 Palmetto does, we'll claim it for DBE credit. That was how 4 things worked at the company.

5 And I think that Mr. Tucker set that out and he said 6 it very forcefully in his testimony, but also backed up by the 7 record. It's backed up by his emails telling Drew Boggs
8 exactly what he was doing. It's backed up by what Mr. Miller 9 said, that Drew Boggs is the guy who said, Write them in even 10 if everyone was saying it won't work.

11 So Greg Tucker's testimony was both truthful, but I 12 think it was also -- I think we also have to look at the 13 context here. And I talked a little bit about this during 14 Arnold Mann's sentencing. We knew what happened here. We 15 knew how the money flowed. And we wanted to look at the 16 higher ups. And this is a company where loyalty is valued 17 very much and it was very difficult for people to come in and 18 admit what had happened. It was very challenging in this 19 case. We talked to a lot of witnesses, and you don't go 20 against the boss. You don't go against the person in charge.
21 And for him to come in and be part of the -- with him and 22 Mr. Hicks, to come in and tell the truth was brave. And it 23 was -- this is a small community in the construction industry 24 and being the guy, the one guy who testifies against his 25 former boss is a very intimidating place to be, and we

1 certainly recognize Mr. Tucker for doing that and providing 2 testimony that was consistent with all the records in this
3 case.

4           So when we start back at that range, when we start 5 back at a range of -- if we depart up by six levels to a 15 to 6 21 and now --

7           THE COURT: Vary.

8           MS. SUGAR: Vary, I'm sorry.

9           THE COURT: Vary.

10           MS. SUGAR: If we varied up from the 0 to 6 months 11 to a 15 to 21 months, we would then need to recognize the 12 substantial assistance of Mr. Tucker. And we don't -- he 13 certainly had a role. He was all over these emails. There 14 was very strong evidence against him like there was against 15 others too. So we don't think he had a lesser role in that as 16 compared to Arnold Mann or others, but he certainly did in 17 terms of the leader/organizer. Well, he doesn't have that 18 enhancement so I think that is already reflected to some 19 extent.

20           But we do want to recognize his assistance with a 21 5K. And if we were willing to go down to zone B even when he 22 started at a 37, then we have to, you know, be smart about 23 what we do now. We want people to come in and give us 24 truthful cooperation and know that they are going to get 25 something substantial and they're not going to get the same

1 thing that they would get if they went to trial.

2 THE COURT: I understand. Let me just tell you what 3 was running Cuthbertson on the sentence is the fact that he 4 was used by the folks at this company to run -- to get the 5 profit in this and everybody that came in the probation office 6 said, The one we feel sorry for is Cuthbertson.

7 MS. SUGAR: Right.

8 THE COURT: So everybody recognized his 9 low-on-the-totem-pole position whether he ever decided to dime 10 out everybody or not. And I do understand the government has 11 to be very careful in how it uses its ability to get people to 12 cooperate. It's a very important tool the government has.
13 The Court recognizes that and wants to encourage that. But 14 understand part of what was running Cuthbertson's sentence in 15 that case was who he was and where he was that I saw him in 16 the scheme regardless of where the government found he was in 17 the scheme, regardless of whether he cooperated and helped, 18 who he was looking at all the 3553 factors. The Court felt 19 that that was the best sentence for him. So you don't have to 20 necessarily tie everybody to him.

21 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor. In that case I didn't 22 say let's upward vary. I am saying we need to upward vary 23 here. I agree, they are different situations. But I also 24 want to recognize Mr. Tucker's cooperation which has been very 25 extensive and we think was one of the big reasons that

1 everyone ultimately pled guilty in this case.

2 But if we were to start at that level 14, then we go 3 back to our recommendation was a zone B, and we do think that 4 there are a lot of options that the Court has, including home 5 confinement, community confinement or a split sentence within 6 zone B that is appropriate in these circumstances.

7 Now, we do recognize we already asked for zone B 8 when we were up at 37. So Mr. Knight is certainly going to 9 say you need to come down lower because you didn't start as 10 high. But we still need to have a sentence that meets the 11 3553(a) factors and deters. And even though the sentencing -- 12 or the judge has found -- this Court has found the loss to be 13 lower than what we believe is appropriate, that doesn't mean 14 that the sentences that ultimately are appropriate is 15 different.

16 THE COURT: I don't know how many times I can say 17 it, Counsel. The Court understands there's a harm done which 18 is significant in this case to which the loss does not 19 address, the loss amount does not address. Just not -- you 20 know, I recognize that throughout. That's what caused me to 21 struggle with this case so much. It would have been very, 22 very easy if I thought, oh, that's the loss amount and that's 23 appropriate. Wow. The problem was the Court was sitting here 24 going that can't be it. $37,000 can't be the answer. But it 25 was the answer. And so that's why the Court gave it.

1 MS. SUGAR: So we believe that the -- what was 2 sought originally, the zone B, will give this Court the room 3 that's appropriate to sentence this defendant, considering 4 that really an upward variance is appropriate based on the 5 Court's findings, but also considering his substantial 6 assistance in this case.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Knight.

8 MR. KNIGHT: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 Just so I understand the government's 10 recommendation, that after the Court's finding of loss 11 amount --

12 THE COURT: Yeah.

13 MR. KNIGHT: -- that now he's at an offense level of 14 8 and the government is recommending, after we go through the 15 fact -- as to the upward variance up to 14, an offense level 16 of 9, I would assume is the lowest within zone B that the 17 government is recommending?

18 MS. SUGAR: Yes.

19 MR. KNIGHT: So -- and the way it turns out, Your 20 Honor, is they are recommending an upward variance which is 21 extraordinary in a case where someone provides substantial 22 assistance, particularly in a case like this.

23 THE COURT: It is, but this is sort of an 24 extraordinary finding in this case.

25 MR. KNIGHT: Sure.

1           THE COURT: I mean, this is a case which looks like 2 procurement fraud but which the Fourth Circuit has found is 3 benefits fraud. And once that -- and right now that's the law
4 in this circuit. Now, who knows what it will be tomorrow.
5 Maybe the supreme court will jump in and change the law and 6 this Court will follow the law when it gets that law. But my 7 job is to try to recognize the law when I see it.

8           MR. KNIGHT: Sure.

9           THE COURT: That's hard enough for me to do without 10 trying to find anything else. But that -- it is -- but the 11 government is saying you need to start here and what 12 they're -- you know, that's really what they're saying.

13          MR. KNIGHT: Yeah. Well, like I said, Your Honor, 14 it's a unique case. I certainly have never been in a position 15 like that before. But as you said, each case is different.

16          Your Honor, we would argue -- we would ask the Court 17 not to vary upward in this matter really for three reasons: 18 Based on Mr. Tucker's role in the offense, based on the 19 incredible substantial assistance that he gave, and based on 20 who he is.

21          Your Honor, Mr. Tucker is a good man who made a big 22 mistake, but he's a good man. And he has a lot of people 23 here.

24          Whoever is here for Greg Tucker, if you would stand 25 up, please.

1           Just to show you that's the kind of man he is, Your 2 Honor. And the fact -- thank you. You can all be seated.

3           And, Your Honor, I know you always painstakingly 4 read every page that comes to you and every letter and I'm 5 sure you've seen his sentencing brief. There's 85 people that 6 wrote letters on his behalf, 85 separate people that were 7 willing to take the time to do that for him.

8           But first let me talk to you a little bit about the 9 fact that he had a very minimal role in this offense. I don't 10 think anybody is arguing he was a leader. He clearly wasn't.
11 You heard his testimony. He certainly didn't get rich off of 12 this. You've seen the PSR, Your Honor. His net worth is 13 about $15,000 now. He wasn't getting kickbacks or anything 14 else. He was simply doing -- you know, doing his job, getting 15 a paycheck, and that was it.

16           When Your Honor looks, too, at how the indictment 17 charged each person, you'll see that there are 30 total counts 18 in the indictment. And of those 30 counts, they apply to 19 everyone except two people. One being, I think Arnold Mann 20 only had -- was only charged with 27, I think, and Mr. Tucker 21 was only charged with 12.

22           Now, you were talking about some differences between 23 defendants. Mr. Cuthbertson was charged with 30 and 24 Mr. Tucker was only charged with 12, not even half of the 25 counts that Mr. Cuthbertson was.

1           In addition, Your Honor, he wasn't charged with the 2 money laundering count. And I'm sure Ms. Sugar would agree 3 that he -- there's no proof that he knew anything about the 4 money that was going into Styx's account and then coming back 5 to Boggs. It simply wasn't part of where he was.

6           Your Honor, and another reason I would ask the Court
7 to consider not varying upward and giving Mr. Tucker probation 8 is the amount of his assistance. And I would contend that as 9 you said, Your Honor, this is a unique case. And I would say 10 that his assistance has been unique and extraordinary based on 11 the dynamics of this case, of this community, and of that 12 company where he used to work. He was early in the door. And 13 I believe -- I think Ms. Sugar already alluded to this, it was 14 really hard to get people to come in in this case. And when 15 he came in, the guilty pleas started to roll after that 16 because -- in large part because of who he is. And I think 17 people knew that people believe Greg Tucker. And if he was 18 going to get up there and testify, they were going to be in 19 trouble because he is a man of character, of substance, who 20 made a mistake, but he would be somebody that they would 21 believe.

22           Your Honor, Ms. Sugar would tell you as well, too, I 23 think she already did, that he gave them information they did 24 not already have and substantial information that they could 25 not have gotten from anywhere else and a very important part

1 of her investigation. So I contend that, you know, in 2 addition to being different from Mr. Cuthbertson and that he 3 wasn't charged in as many counts, he also provided not just 4 assistance, but extremely valuable assistance that others 5 simply didn't have.

6 And, Your Honor, as -- I won't go over his testimony 7 again. You were here. You heard that. And you know how 8 difficult that can be. And that he was the only one that was 9 called to testify. And he's going to have to -- as I said, 10 he's going to have to wear that as he goes through his 11 day-to-day life that he's the only one that was called to 12 testify, and I would ask you to take that into consideration 13 as another part of his assistance.

14 Your Honor, Mr. Tucker, and you -- in the factual 15 basis and when he spoke with the government, has taken full 16 responsibility for what he did. He has. And, you know, 17 you've seen enough people in front of Your Honor that it's 18 hard after you plead guilty to really take it all and say, 19 yep, this is really everything that I did as opposed to maybe 20 I did this, this, and this in piecemeal. That's not what he 21 did. He went in and the very first time he met with them, he 22 told them everything. And when he finished with them, they 23 said he was great. They believed he was truthful. And they 24 even made the phrase, I believe it was Ms. Sugar or 25 Mr. Savage, that they thought he could be a star witness

KATHY FIR - DIRECT

1 because he was so truthful, because that's who he is and 2 that's the way he comes across.

3 Your Honor, Mr. Tucker now has a job. After he 4 voluntarily left Boggs Paving on his own, he was hired by 5 someone else. And that person, that company knows that he had 6 already pled guilty and that this charge is pending. They 7 hired him anyway because they think that much of him. Your 8 Honor, if he did receive a term of incarceration, he might 9 lose that job. So I'd ask you to take that into account as 10 well too.

11 Your Honor, just to briefly tell the Court, too, 12 about who he is, we'd like to call two witnesses to the stand 13 that won't take long. I'm going to ask that they come up and 14 speak on his behalf.

15 THE COURT: That would be fine.

16 MR. KNIGHT: Thank you, Your Honor.

17 First is Kathy Fir.

18 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, we would also be fine if 19 they want to just proffer.

20 THE COURT: I'll leave it up to however you want to 21 present the evidence.

22 MR. KNIGHT: Okay. Why don't you go on up there.

23 KATHY FIR, DEFENDANT TUCKER'S WITNESS, SWORN,

25 BY MR. KNIGHT:

KATHY FIR - DIRECT

1 Q. Would you please state your name for the record.

2 A. My name is Kathy Fir.

3 Q. And Kathy, what do you do for a living?

4 A. Well, for a living I don't do anything right now. I'm 5 retired.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. And I do -- I am on the board of directors at the West 8 Stanley Christian Ministry. I've been on there since '97 when 9 the conception of the organization came about.

10 And I retired recently from a job with AT&T where I 11 worked in the corporate world for 35 years and I worked in a 12 type of middle management similar to what Greg did. I handled 13 contracts and I did logistics and management for disaster -- 14 network disaster recovery. And I did that for 15 years for 15 them.

16 Q. And how do you know Greg Tucker?

17 A. I know Greg Tucker because we were raised in a small 18 community, very small. We used to call it a town. I think 19 now they call it a village. There's about a thousand people 20 or less in our area in the little town we live in. I have 21 watched Greg from the time he was a little guy to now when 22 he's grown into a man raising two children himself and see the 23 type of person that he is.

24 And my husband actually graduated from high school with 25 his mom. I know his mom and dad as well.

KATHY FIR - DIRECT

1 Q. Well, tell me, then, what kind of person is Greg Tucker?

2 A. Greg Tucker is the kind of person that is my third son.

3 I have adopted him and his wife and their two kids as our

4 grandchildren. My husband and I watched Greg and his wife

5 play in high school the sports that they were involved in.

6 I've watched him grow up in the community and help people in 7 our community. I'm in -- I'm kind of in a rare spot. I can

8 see a lot of things from being at the Christian ministry and I

9 know who gives and who helps. And I know what kids get

10 Christmas that wouldn't have it without people like Greg 11 Tucker and Wendy. I know people that need medical care and 12 medicine that would not get it without their help.

13 And I just know -- my husband and I always laughed that 14 if -- we had one son that was a brainiac and one that was a 15 social person; and if we'd have had a third one, they'd have 16 been normal like Greg.

17 So we have always enjoyed their family and their 18 friendship. And over the last five years, my husband has been 19 very ill with cancer. He passed away recently. And my sons

20 live out of state and we have nobody close to us as far as 21 family. And as far as when we needed something, we called on 22 Greg and Wendy and they have never let us down. My sons

23 depended on Greg to help us when we were -- you know, when 24 they couldn't be there. And he doesn't know, but I know, that

25 they call him and they talk to Wendy and find out how I'm

KATHY FIR - DIRECT

1 doing and things. And a week doesn't go by that I don't get a 2 text or a call from him or from his wife and -- to see how 3 we're doing.

4 I made myself a note here because I didn't want to -- 5 didn't want to forget what I was saying. Since my husband 6 passed away, my mind scatters at times. I know you probably 7 can understand that.

8 But we have gone through a lot together. And I wouldn't 9 be presumptuous to say I know Greg as well as his mom and dad 10 do because I'm sure I don't. But I can tell you, I've been 11 through life experiences with Greg Tucker. There is no finer, 12 better Christian man in my community than Greg Tucker is. I 13 trust him.

14 My sons and I have talked. My sons travel a lot. And 15 they have two small -- I have two small grandchildren now.
16 And they said if something happened to them, they would let 17 Greg Tucker raise their children. I don't think anybody could 18 ever say anything any better about another person than to say 19 that.

20 I know -- I saw him raised. I know how he was raised. I 21 know how he lives and he's never changed.

22 So I ask that he be treated like he treats other people.

23 Q. Thank you very much.

24 A. Uh-huh.

25 MR. KNIGHT: I don't have any other questions.

SHERRY VAUGHN - DIRECT

1 Ms. Sugar, do you have any questions?

2 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

3 MR. KNIGHT: Thank you, ma'am. You can step on 4 down.

5 (Witness stepped down.)

6 MR. KNIGHT: And, Your Honor, our next witness is 7 Sherry Vaughn.

8 Ms. Vaughn, if you would step on up.

9 SHERRY VAUGHN, DEFENDANT TUCKER'S WITNESS, SWORN,

10 DIRECT EXAMINATION

11 BY MR. KNIGHT:

12 Q. Would you please state your name.

13 A. Sherry Vaughn.

14 Q. And, Ms. Vaughn, how do you know Greg Tucker?

15 A. I've known of Greg since I was in elementary school. One 16 of his --

17 Q. What do you do now for a living? I'm sorry to interrupt 18 you.

19 A. I'm sorry. I work my family business, Locust Pump and 20 Well Drilling. And I also serve on the Stanly County School 21 Board.

22 Q. On the Stanly County School Board, is that what you said?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. I'm sorry, go ahead. How do you know Greg Tucker?

25 A. Greg's cousin Lori was a friend of mine all through

SHERRY VAUGHN - DIRECT

1 elementary school so I always knew of Greg and the Tucker
2 family, but I've known him personally for the last 16 years 3 and that's through church. My husband and I started going to 4 the Mission Baptist Church 16 years ago and Greg and the 5 Tuckers all attend there, and Greg is a Sunday school teacher.

6 Q. What kind of man is Greg Tucker?

7 A. Greg Tucker is a man of integrity, of virtue. He is a 8 respected man in our community. He is a pillar in our 9 community. He is an awesome father, husband, friend. You 10 just can't -- you can't say anything bad about Greg Tucker.

11 If I might, I'd like to read something to you.

12 Q. Sure, go ahead.

13 A. Just to give you a little bit of background, Greg is a 14 large Andy Griffith fan and sometime back in our Sunday school 15 class we did a series on Andy Griffith that Greg taught. And 16 honestly, if -- in the show if Andy Griffith had been a 17 project manager in a paving business, it would have been Greg 18 Tucker. I mean, he is that kind of guy.

19 I read a quote sometime back that Brad Paisley had said 20 on Andy Griffith's passing. And it says, "A moral compass who 21 saved as many souls as most preachers. Andy Griffith made the 22 world a better place, and I was so proud to call him a 23 friend."

24 Well, that's Greg Tucker. We should all have a moral 25 compass as Greg Tucker.

1           MR. KNIGHT: Thank you very much, Ms. Vaughn. You 2 can step down.

3           THE COURT: Any questions, Ms. Sugar?

4           MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

5           (Witness stepped down.)

6           THE COURT: Any further evidence, Mr. Knight?

7           MR. KNIGHT: No, Your Honor, no evidence.

8           As I said, Your Honor, this is just -- in my 20-plus 9 years of practicing law, 10 sitting over there at that table
10 and 10 over here, I've never been in front -- or seen a 11 hearing where there was a motion for substantial assistance 12 and downward variance and I was arguing to the Court not to 13 vary upward.

14           THE COURT: But you didn't have one of these cases 15 like this.

16           MR. KNIGHT: No, thank goodness, I didn't.

17           THE COURT: And I haven't seen one like this. It's 18 a kind of one-off, I hope, kind of case.

19           MR. KNIGHT: Based on what I explained to the Court, 20 his role in the offense, his substantial assistance and who he 21 is, we'd ask that the Court sentence him to probation. I 22 think that is the appropriate sentence based on everyone 23 else's positions in this case and based on the cooperation by 24 Mr. Tucker.

25           THE COURT: All right. What would you like to say,

1 Mr. Tucker?

2 DEFENDANT TUCKER: I'm good, sir. I'm good, sir.

3 Thank you.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

5 Well, the reason the government, I think, is doing 6 what it's doing is because it wants to recognize the 7 seriousness of the problems to the program. I think that's 8 what they're talking about. And that is what's been damaged 9 here. People can't just ignore these programs at their will 10 and operate their businesses as if they don't exist. If 11 they're going to try to take advantage of something that's 12 there, they have to do things right. And it was just done 13 wrong, done wrong with no care about that. So I think that's 14 why the government is doing what it's doing. The Court does 15 recognize, though, that Mr. Tucker has substantially assisted 16 in this case.

17 If there's one thing that's clear, this is an 18 organization where there was a lot of loyalty. Probably 19 brought about by -- for good reasons. Probably -- I don't 20 think that I'm sentencing a bunch of bad people today who have 21 been doing bad things every day of their lives. I think 22 they've done a bad thing in this case, but I don't think 23 they're bad people who have done a bad thing or that the 24 loyalty is based upon anything. And I think it's very 25 significant that Mr. Tucker has stepped forward and agreed to 1 cooperate with the government. The government needs this kind 2 of thing.

3 I also understand exactly what the government is 4 saying. The government is saying this is not under the normal 5 circumstances of the crime a 0 to 6 month case. Normally this 6 is a -- this is a case which would have to be taken care of by 7 a higher guideline. And I think what they're trying to do is 8 be consistent. I understand what they're trying to argue at 9 this time. They're disappointed that their argument didn't 10 carry the day and they're trying to reformulate to allow the 11 Court to know they think this is a serious matter. They want 12 to argue that it's a serious matter. They want the Court to 13 look at it as a serious matter. And everybody didn't 14 cooperate. So the Court recognizes that.

15 And the Court will say this with regard to variance.
16 The Court believes that the defendant's participation, and in 17 looking at all the 3553 factors in this case, absent -- and 18 the harm done, recognizing no money -- no United States 19 taxpayer money was lost in this case. There is no restitution 20 being asked for by the government. No money is lost.
21 Recognizing that and recognizing the harm is to the program of 22 Disadvantaged Business Enterprises and that that program has 23 been hurt and an uncalculable number of businesses could not 24 have gotten work during that period of time, and maybe some of 25 them aren't in business now because of that.

1           Realizing that there is a harm done here, the Court 2 is going to say that absent the cooperation, that the -- that 3 a -- a 14 would be appropriate for Mr. Tucker, 15 to 21 4 months. However, because of the fact that he has 5 substantially assisted, the Court is going to grant the motion 6 of the government for a 5K and depart downward to offense 7 level 8, criminal history category 1, 0 to 6 months, and is 8 going to sentence in that category. I think that -- his 9 assistance and the seriousness of the crime balance out in his 10 case and I'm going to give him a probationary sentence.

11           Stand up, please.

12           Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 and 13 U.S. v. Booker, it is the judgment of the Court, having 14 considered the factors noted in 18, United States Code, 15 Section 3553(a), that the defendant, Greg Tucker, is hereby 16 placed on probation for a term of two years.

17           While on probation, the defendant shall not commit 18 another federal, state or local crime, and shall comply with 19 the standard conditions that have been adopted by the Court in 20 the Western District of North Carolina, and shall comply with 21 the following additional conditions:

22           Defendant shall pay the United States a special 23 assessment of $100.

24           What says the government about fine? Probation is 25 recommending -- is finding that the defendant does not have

1 the ability to pay a fine or interest. Anything -- any 2 argument from the government on that before I do it? Are you 3 going to waive any argument of fine thanks to his cooperation?

4 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, he is currently employed. I 5 do think he can pay a fine. Certainly at least the level that 6 Mr. Cuthbertson is going to pay a fine.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Knight, anything you want to argue?

8 MR. KNIGHT: No, Your Honor. I mean, Your Honor, 9 you've seen his net worth. He did voluntarily leave the 10 company so I don't see how in this case a fine would really 11 do -- as you said, there's no loss, you know, so a fine would 12 sort of be --

13 THE COURT: No, but it's kind of -- you know, it's 14 part of the punishment aspect of the case.

15 The Court is going to order defendant to pay a fine 16 of $1,000.

17 If the defendant -- the monetary penalty is due and 18 payable immediately. While on probation defendant shall make 19 monthly payments in the amount of $50 a month to commence 20 within 60 days after being placed on probation.

21 Throughout the period of supervision, the probation
22 officer shall monitor the defendant's economic circumstances 23 and shall report to the Court with recommendations as 24 warranted any material changes that affect the defendant's 25 ability to pay any court-ordered payments.

1 Any counts to be dismissed, Ms. Sugar?

2 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor. We would dismiss all
3 remaining counts as to Greg Tucker.

4 THE COURT: All counts are hereby dismissed.

5 Anything further -- oh, I've got to do the appellate 6 aspect of this.

7 Mr. Tucker, you have a right to appeal this 8 conviction and sentence to the Fourth Circuit Court of 9 Appeals. Any appeal must be done within 14 days and must be 10 done in writing. If you are unable to -- if you wish to 11 appeal and are unable to afford an appeal, you may appeal at 12 government expense.

13 I would suggest you speak with very able counsel 14 about whether in this circumstance you wish to exercise your 15 right to appeal. But do you understand your right to appeal
16 as I have just explained it to you?

17 DEFENDANT TUCKER: Yes, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

19 Anything further from the defense?

20 MR. KNIGHT: No. Thank you, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Anything further from the government?

22 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: This matter is concluded.

24 (End of proceedings at 12:26 p.m.)

25 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, are you going to keep going

1 or do you want to take a lunch break?

2 THE COURT: Let's take a lunch break. I think -- 3 unless there's somebody -- I see someone has risen.
4 Mr. Winiker is behind you.

5 MR. WINIKER: I would prefer the Court have a lunch 6 break, but I did have a travel issue, but we are --

7 THE COURT: What time are we going to be going to 8 lunch -- I mean, what time are we going to be traveling? Tell 9 me.

10 MR. WINIKER: 4:00 p.m.

11 THE COURT: 4:00 p.m.

12 MR. WINIKER: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. And who do we have next? Is 14 your person next?

15 MR. FIALKO: Greg Miller, my client.

16 THE COURT: Greg Miller and then yours.

17 MR. WINIKER: Yes, sir.

18 THE COURT: I think if we take an hour for lunch, if 19 we come back at 1:30, we can get to him and then do you next.

20 MR. WINIKER: Yes, sir.

21 THE COURT: Is that right, you're after him?

22 MR. WINIKER: Yes, Your Honor, according to the 23 order the Court set.

24 THE COURT: I mean, we can change the order if we 25 have to. But let's go ahead, I think we'll be able to get 1 this done.

2 How long do you think your sentencing is going to 3 take?

4 MR. FIALKO: No more than 30 minutes.

5 THE COURT: Okay. You'll be easily able to get 6 through by 4:00.

7 MR. WINIKER: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Okay. We'll be in recess, then, until 9 1:30.

10 (Lunch recess at 12:27 p.m.)

11 MONDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 23, 2015

12 (Court resumed at 1:30 p.m.)

13 THE COURT: All right. We'll call the case of 14 United States versus Greg Miller.

15 Is the defendant ready?

16 MR. FIALKO: Yes, we are, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Is the government ready?

18 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Mr. Miller, do you recall appearing 20 before a United States magistrate judge for the purpose of 21 entering a plea of guilty in this case?

22 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Do you remember being placed under oath
24 at that time?

25 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Do you remember answering the questions
2 of the judge?

3           DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

4           THE COURT: Do you remember signing a plea
5 transcript form wherein you stated the answers you gave the 6 judge that day were true and accurate to the best of your 7 knowledge?

8           DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

9           THE COURT: Did you tell the judge the truth that 10 day?

11          DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor, I did.

12          THE COURT: If I were to ask you the same questions
13 today, would your answers be the same?

14          DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

15          THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

16          Counsel, do you believe your client understood fully 17 the questions the magistrate judge asked at the Rule 11
18 hearing?

19          MR. FIALKO: Yes, sir.

20          THE COURT: Thank you.

21          Mr. Miller, did you answer the questions the way you
22 did and are you going forward with your guilty plea today
23 because you did commit the crime you're pleading guilty to?

24          DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

25          THE COURT: Then based upon those representations

1 and the answers given by the defendant at the Rule 11 hearing
2 before the magistrate judge, the Court affirms the judge's 3 finding that the defendant's plea was knowingly and
4 voluntarily made. The Court also affirms the judge's finding 5 that the defendant understood the charges, the potential
6 penalties and the consequences of his plea. Accordingly, the 7 Court affirms the magistrate judge's acceptance of the 8 defendant's plea of guilty at the Rule 11 hearing and again 9 accepts it today.

10 Ms. Sugar, would the government have a factual
11 basis?

12 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the parties stipulate to the 13 factual basis as filed with the Court and as set forth in the 14 presentence report.

15 THE COURT: What says the defense?

16 MR. FIALKO: Yes, we do so stipulate.

17 THE COURT: Thank you. Based upon that stipulation
18 and the offense conduct as set forth in the presentence
19 report, the defendant's plea of guilty before the magistrate 20 judge, and the defendant's admissions in open court today, the 21 Court finds there is a factual basis for the entry of the plea 22 of guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of guilty in this
23 case.

24 Mr. Miller, your case was referred to the United 25 States Probation Office for a presentence investigation and

1 the preparation of a presentence report. The Court has 2 received that report. Have you read that report?

3 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, sir.

4 THE COURT: Have you gone over that report with your 5 attorney?

6 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, I have, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Do you now believe you understand the 8 contents of that report?

9 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Thank you.

11 Counsel, have you gone over that report with your 12 client and are you satisfied he understands the contents of 13 that report?

14 MR. FIALKO: Yes, I am satisfied, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Are there any objections to the 16 presentence report which remain outstanding as of this moment?

17 MR. FIALKO: No, sir.

18 THE COURT: Any from the government other than your 19 objection on the loss amount?

20 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Then the Court 22 will adopt the information contained in the presentence report 23 for the purpose of applying the guidelines in this case and 24 with the exception of the loss findings of the Court which the 25 Court has entered today.

1           Where does he come down?

2           MR. BAKER:   He's an 8/I, Your Honor.

3           THE COURT:   In the instant case, the advisory 4 guidelines call for a total offense level of 8 and a criminal 5 history category of I, with a guideline sentencing range of 0 6 to 6 months.

7           Any objection to that being the guideline range in 8 view of the Court's finding today from the defense?

9           MR. FIALKO:   No, sir.

10          THE COURT:   From the government?

11          MS. SUGAR:   No, Your Honor.

12          THE COURT:   All right.   I'll hear from the 13 government on punishment.

14          MS. SUGAR:   Thank you, Your Honor.

15          The government believes that the guideline range 16 understates the seriousness of the offense and the 3553(a) 17 factors and would therefore ask for a six-level upward 18 variance to a level 14 which results in a 15 to 21 month
19 sentence in this case.

20          We haven't talked that much about Mr. Miller's role.
21 We've been focused a lot on Drew Boggs, but it's important for 22 the Court to know that Mr. Miller was the vice -- was a -- was 23 the vice president and chief estimator during much of the time 24 period when this fraud was taking place, and he was present in 25 those bids where Styx was written in again and again.   In

1 fact, he signed numerous contracts, hauling agreements between 2 himself -- or between Boggs and Styx. The Government's 3 Collective Exhibit 19 which we would offer -- let me...

4 Here is a February 20th -- the first page, a 5 February 26, 2009, contract signed by Greg Miller for Styx for 6 163,000.

7 The next page, May 2009, a contract with Styx for 8 130,000.

9 The next page, a $55,000 contract with Styx signed 10 by Greg Miller, June 2009.

11 The next page, a $40,000 contract with Styx signed
12 October 2009.

13 The next page, a $19,000 contract with Styx signed
14 by Mr. Miller in August of 2010.

15 So his name is on many of these and he -- as he said 16 in his factual basis, he was there each time this -- or many 17 of the times that Styx was being written in.

18 And I think in all white collar cases, it's 19 important to note that this isn't a case where every day all 20 day they're doing DBE fraud at Boggs Paving. That's not how a 21 white collar crime works. That's not how a tax fraud scheme 22 or an accounting fraud scheme or an environmental scheme works 23 at a company. It's a small part of what they do. That 24 doesn't mean it's not important. That doesn't mean that it's 25 not something that warrants a sentence that shows how serious

1 of an offense like this is.

2           You've heard testimony from North Carolina DOT about 3 the DBE program. How it's designed to lift people up, to 4 promote them. And the scheme at Boggs Paving thwarted that 5 goal. The scheme didn't advance Styx. It prevented the 6 legitimate DBEs from advancing. And in fact, prevented people 7 who weren't cheating from getting these contracts. And it was 8 very serious and it lasted for a very long time.

9           You saw, you know, almost ten years that we talked 10 about here where they're using this bank account where money 11 is being run in this way. And you also saw numerous instances 12 where DOT, North Carolina DOT, South Carolina DOT, said, Hey, 13 there's a problem, and it continued.

14           One of the examples that Mr. Tucker testified about, 15 the Browns Hill job. You saw Greg Miller's signature on those 16 papers. He was part of the meeting where DOT said, You're 17 doing it wrong. And after that meeting it continued. Now, he 18 wasn't the leader. He wasn't the organizer. We didn't ask 19 for that enhancement. But the role that he played was serious 20 and he was very high up in the company and there for a long 21 time.

22           We think that a sentence within that range -- and 23 low end does make sense in this case based on a number of the 24 factors in his sentencing memo -- would be the appropriate 25 thing because we don't want defendants -- or we don't want

1 individuals who say, Well, I'm not the top guy so I don't need 2 to worry if I keep lying and I keep cheating and I keep 3 sending in these false documents.

4           Mr. Miller did not cooperate. He did plead guilty 5 and he did have a factual basis that certainly admitted to his 6 conduct, but he doesn't have -- he doesn't get recognized for 7 providing substantial assistance to the government. So there
8 is no reason to vary down from the range we've gone up to. I 9 believe that in Mr. Tucker's sentencing Your Honor said that 10 absent his cooperation, that a 15 to 21 month sentence would 11 be appropriate.

12           We want a sentence here that establishes respect for 13 the law. You can't ignore the DBE regulations whether you 14 like them or not. And this wasn't a case about not liking it.
15 It was using it as a system to the advantage of Boggs Paving 16 to get the contracts, to win the contracts. And the lies 17 happened over and over again.

18           And I would just leave you with -- just to show this 19 cavalier attitude that the defendants in this case and 20 Mr. Miller took. Here's an email, it's Exhibit 20, where this 21 is where they're bidding on the second small business job that 22 they obtained in Styx's name and here's Greg Tucker sending an 23 email to someone at Buckhorn and to Greg Miller. "How about 24 sending a quote in Styx name." And they, in fact, win it by 25 $52. And Greg Miller's response is, "Styx is a genius. Way

1 to go GT."

2 This is something that -- I'm sorry, I see you were 3 still looking at it.

4 THE COURT: I saw it.

5 MS. SUGAR: This is something that it was almost 6 funny what was going on to the defense in this case and we 7 need to show that this is serious. That individuals who 8 participate in this, whether there's a CEO or not, face 9 serious consequences and in the Western District of North 10 Carolina they will be prosecuted and face serious consequences 11 for this offense.

12 Based on all of these 3553(a) factors, we would ask 13 for a low end of the 15 to 21 month range, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Mr. Fialko, what would you like for me 15 to hear?

16 MR. FIALKO: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

17 A lot of what I'm going to say is in our sentencing 18 memorandum, but I do want to highlight some of it again.

19 Greg Miller has been a loyal working man. He 20 overcame serious alcohol and drug addiction and he's been 21 living a day-by-day life. He's become a positive influence in 22 his community despite his actions and his failings in this 23 case.

24 As we noted, Your Honor, Greg overcame alcoholic 25 parents. He went to community college up in the Hickory area.

1 And then he went to UNC Charlotte. Got his civil engineering
2 degree there. And went to work for Dickerson Company for Andy 3 Boggs way back when Jimmy Carter was president. And he's been 4 working ever since. When Dickerson broke up, Boggs/Vaughn was 5 started and Mr. Miller followed Andy Boggs there. And that 6 was essentially a startup company as Nancy Bovender in her 7 letter that was submitted to the Court described. And Greg 8 learned this business from the bottom up.

9 As I've noted, his nickname in the company is Doc 10 because of -- they call him the Doctor of Asphalt. He knows 11 how to make asphalt like nobody else.

12 But alcoholism caught up with him, Your Honor. In 13 the '80s he was a functioning alcoholic but still an 14 alcoholic. And then he began to use cocaine. And as we noted 15 in our sentencing memorandum, he did go in to rehab and was 16 essentially given an ultimatum by Andy Boggs who thought of 17 Greg as a valued employee, but someone who obviously had this 18 addiction. And Greg Miller went. He actually tried to leave 19 once from it and ran into his wife who was coming to visit 20 him. He stayed and he's been sober now for 23-1/2 years one 21 day at a time.

22 He has worked, as we noted, in the community 23 significantly for a number of community organizations. He was 24 on some committees for the United Way of Union County and then 25 one of the pastors Paul Saleeby suggested that he might come

1 and work for the Friendship House. Well, Greg knew the 2 Friendship House because that's where Greg had gone to a great 3 number of AA and NA meetings. And as Pastor Saleeby noted, 4 Greg has been on their board, the Friendship Home, for a long 5 time now and has been invaluable to them.

6 Greg also went through travails with his wife who 7 battled breast cancer twice and the second one, 2009 and 2010, 8 she lost that battle.

9 There's a great number of people here in support of 10 Mr. Miller. I'd like to point them out, Your Honor. And this 11 will just take a moment, but I would like to read their names.

12 And if you could stand as I read your name.

13 Is that all right with the Court?

14 THE COURT: That's fine.

15 MR. FIALKO: So Greg's daughter -- it's actually his 16 wife's daughter, but Greg helped raise her -- Audra Tucker is 17 here and her husband Joey. They came down from Raleigh.

18 His brother-in-law Ronnie Medlin is here who lives 19 in Monroe.

20 Greg's godson James Whisnant, Jr., and his mother 21 Sandy are here. They're from High Point. They drove down 22 today.

23 There are -- and also -- excuse me. There are many 24 number of people here from his church. Gary and Lynnitt 25 Williams are here. Reverend Murdock is here. Tommy and 1 Connie Carlucci and Dina Dulan are all here in support of 2 Greg.

3 Also his good friend Ron Harrison from Charlotte is 4 here.

5 And probably Greg's best friend these days, Dr.
6 Rocky Branch who was the minister at the church here and now 7 is at Spruce Pine. And Rocky came to my client -- all of my 8 client's hearings in support of him, including the plea 9 hearing.

10 So, Your Honor, he's got a community that he's a 11 valued member of and people who can support him.

12 I think the theme of the sentencing memorandum in 13 this case was essentially twofold: His loyalty and his work 14 ethic. I even quoted a Psalm which, you know, is unusual for 15 me. I'm not the most religious person, but I quoted it more 16 because it's in the Old Testament which has a lot of wisdom in 17 it than a religious nature. The Psalm said, "Man goeth forth 18 unto his work and to his labour until the evening." I found 19 it by looking in Bartlett's Familiar Quotations when I was 20 trying to figure out some thoughts and wisdom about work. And 21 that's what Greg Miller has done since 1978 is he's come to 22 work every day that he could.

23 It's also since March 2nd of 1992, the first day of 24 his sobriety, work is what's kept him sober, along with other 25 things. And he has a significant fear, Your Honor, of that.

1 That if he's not going to be able to work, it will be harder 2 for him to stay sober.

3           So along that theme of work, when Greg Tucker 4 finally turned on Drew Boggs in July of last year while we 5 were all in trial prep and when Kevin Hicks turned on Drew 6 Boggs and pled guilty, it was finally time for Greg to do it 7 and he did. And after he did, he asked me this question. He 8 said, Do I have to quit working at Boggs Paving like Greg 9 Tucker and Kevin Hicks did? And I discussed it with him and I 10 didn't see a good reason for him to quit if he had work to do.
11 And so we talked with Boggs and they needed him to complete 12 projects that Mr. Tucker couldn't do, and he's been there now 13 for another year and a half.

14           You mentioned you might, if this judgeship doesn't 15 work out for you, establish a brick company and you could hire 16 him because he will show up to work if you do that. That's 17 what Greg's dignity is, it's in his work.

18           So the question is does he need to go to prison in 19 this case? And, you know, there's three main goals of the 20 sentencing statute:

21           Rehabilitation, which I don't think Greg needs.

22           Retribution, an eye for an eye, which isn't the case 23 in this particular type of offense.

24           And so then there's deterrence. And deterrence has 25 two parts, personal and general. And I don't think Greg needs

1 any personal deterrence. He has no prior record of this and 2 he has been taking this very seriously. So the general 3 deterrence is what I wanted to talk about. And I have several 4 thoughts about that, and they're in my memorandum as well.

5           The number one of them is that really the dynamic 6 men behind Boggs Paving in 2009, '10, and '11 were Drew Boggs
7 and Greg Tucker and Kevin Hicks. And if the Court is looking 8 to set an example, it would seem to me to be the dynamic men, 9 the three friends who went on hunting trips together and were 10 on the up and up in the company while my client who's of a 11 different generation was fading in the company.

12           The second is that when Greg Miller was out of the 13 office for 16 months, Boggs Paving has been good to him for a 14 long time and allowed him essentially to take a de facto leave 15 of absence to care for Barbara, his wife, who went through 16 many different types of treatment that was hard and difficult.
17 But during that time period, the offense conduct continued 18 unabated. Most of the documents that have been shown Friday 19 and today occur actually in the 2009, '10 time period where my 20 client was not present at the office on a daily basis.

21           Another thing I'd like you to think about is my 22 client understands and accepts, and you'll hear from him in a 23 minute, his responsibility and he understands conspiracy law.
24 I've talked about it with him. He fully accepts what he's 25 done and what he failed to do that helped this offense.

1           But as I see it, there were really three parts to 2 the offense.

3           One was the bidding part, and that's where my client
4 had a great role. He was the chief estimator for a long time
5 before Greg Tucker took that job. In charge of making sure 6 the estimates were right. And then, as you've heard, at the 7 very end when there was a DBE needed for a small percentage, 8 usually less than 5 percent, he put in Styx at the direction
9 of Mr. Boggs. And he knew what he was doing.

10           But the other two parts of the offense he didn't 11 have a role in that I could see in this case. One was the DBE 12 reporting actually out of what was completed, and the other 13 was what the government calls the nominee account and the flow 14 of the money in and out of the BB&T Styx account. Whereas, 15 for example, Mr. Tucker had a role in at least two parts of 16 that. He was an estimator and bidder, but he also was 17 certifying with Kristy Lawrence that Styx actually did that 18 work.

19           Two more things, Your Honor, maybe three, about why 20 you should vary down and not sentence my client to a term of 21 imprisonment. One is the same that's been mentioned before 22 from Mr. Tucker. My client did not earn profits or the spoils 23 of this other than continuing to earn his salary and have his 24 job.

25           The other is what I like to call now collateral

1 punishments, not collateral consequences. There is a very 2 real punishment to my client. He's debarred, he's suspended 3 by the United States Department of Transportation. It will 4 become a permanent suspension once we're done today and the 5 DOT gets word of it, and I put that letter in the sentencing 6 memorandum. He's not going to be able to work for a company 7 that does this type of work unless all they need him for is to 8 estimate and work on private jobs, which is a hard thing to 9 do.

10 He also is a significant number of years older than 11 Greg Tucker who has been able to find, apparently, a job. At 12 61 years old, my client is going to have much more difficulty 13 doing that.

14 THE COURT: So in trying to show your client is 15 different from Mr. Tucker, you're saying Mr. Tucker in 16 addition to his cooperation is not being debarred?

17 MR. FIALKO: No, I think Mr. Tucker has been 18 debarred as well, Your Honor. I think the letter has his name 19 on it.

20 There is one more -- and in trying to distinguish, 21 there is one more thought I have about distinguishing.
22 Mr. Hicks hasn't been sentenced yet. I don't know whether -- 23 we're not privy to the PSRs of co-defendants, but I don't know 24 whether he's had any enhancement for abuse of position of 25 private trust as a CFO, but it seems to me that my client was 1 on the front end, but Mr. Tucker -- of the bidding, but 2 Mr. Hicks had a significant opportunity as the CFO to put a 3 stop to this and he didn't.

4           So, Your Honor, I understand the government has 5 asked to move -- to upwardly depart and we object to that, but 6 we understand it. I mean, I think you said consistently from 7 the beginning, and as have I, that the loss amount figure is 8 not a good proxy for culpability in this case. But I think 9 six levels in his case may be too much, but also it's a little 10 apples and oranges. I mean, maybe six levels is okay to go up 11 if you're just talking about the loss amount. But if we're 12 talking about other factors, I think a variance down is 13 deserving for my client. He has community support. His role 14 in this case was a worker every day directed by other -- by 15 Mr. Boggs. As noted by Arnold Mann, one of the state's star 16 witnesses, that Mr. Boggs diminished my client's role as much 17 as he could because he was of a different generation. But as 18 I put in my sentencing memorandum, one of the reasons was 19 because Greg Miller often stood up to Drew Boggs, or tried to, 20 and Drew didn't like that. And then eventually Mr. Tucker was 21 named to my client's job.

22           So in conclusion, Your Honor, I'd ask you to vary 23 downward, if you're going to vary up to level 14 as the 24 government requests, back down to a level 10 and in the zone B 25 range in this case and sentence my client to a term of 1 probation with house arrest.

2           And it hasn't been talked about in the prior 3 sentencing hearings, or not often in this courtroom or in our 4 district, but in other federal districts, the Court has the 5 opportunity to make a good thing happen which is to sentence 6 my client to doing a significant number of community service
7 hours. He has this addiction. He's been in recovery for a 8 long time and he has skills that he can offer to the community 9 by doing a hundred, two hundred or more community service 10 hours off of a home detention sentence in this case.

11           In conclusion, Your Honor, you know, I suspect that 12 sentencing is the hardest part of a judge's job. I don't envy 13 it. But I think what you have to do now is weigh whether 14 removing Greg Miller from the community, via imprisonment, and 15 removing him from leading AA meetings like he does sometimes, 16 removing him from caring for people in his church, removing 17 him from showing up at out-of-town funerals as Rocky Branch 18 said for church members, removing him from this Saturday 19 morning breakfast that Ronnie Medlin talks about that he's 20 been doing for many years with his wife's family, whether 21 doing all of that is a reasonable sentence and whether it's 22 necessary under 3553(a) in order to possibly, maybe, 23 theoretically deter other companies or other workers from 24 skirting the quota rules that have been set up by the U.S.
25 Congress on DBE.

1           THE COURT: That's really what -- that's really 2 what's moving the Court in this --

3           MR. FIALKO: I know.

4           THE COURT: -- is the general deterrence. I mean, 5 we've got to stop people from -- if there's a carrot out there 6 of 80 some million dollars in highway deals, people have got 7 to follow the rules in order to get that. If it requires a 8 DBE, then they've got to do it. I mean, you know, I know it's 9 difficult to do and maybe it makes the bid more expensive. It 10 shouldn't.

11          MR. FIALKO: Sure.

12          THE COURT: But the fact that they're trying to help 13 minority and women-owned companies should not cost the 14 taxpayer any more money. That is -- that's not a good thing.
15 But they have -- how am I going to deter people if everybody 16 thinks the worst thing that happens to you is probation?

17          MR. FIALKO: Well --

18          THE COURT: I realize the debarment from the field 19 is a big deal. I'm not --

20          MR. FIALKO: It is.

21          THE COURT: I'm not discounting the fact that they 22 can't work again in that business. But, you know, you wonder 23 what businesses could be set up. What friends could hire him 24 in different things and say they're not working on federal 25 stuff, but who knows.

1           MR. FIALKO: But, Your Honor, I think, you know, 2 you're supposed to figure out a sentence that's sufficient but 3 not greater than necessary for my client here. And I 4 understand that --

5           THE COURT: And general deterrence is part of it.

6           MR. FIALKO: No, no --

7           THE COURT: I mean, any time you're doing a 8 sentence, you can't just look -- it would be great if you 9 could just look at the defendant, but you've got to say what 10 is this -- it's all the 3553 factors --

11          MR. FIALKO: Well --

12          THE COURT: -- that take into consideration the 13 seriousness of the crime --

14          MR. FIALKO: Yes, sir.

15          THE COURT: -- the other available punishments and 16 that sort of thing, and then deterring the defendant.

17               And I agree with you, most of these defendants are 18 not going to offend again. They're all criminal history 19 category I's. They're all -- I mean, some of the least 20 criminal history I've ever seen. We have no loss in the case.
21 But we do have a program that has been abused by -- over a 22 period of time. And, I mean, what am I supposed to do?

23          MR. FIALKO: So what I was going to say when 24 pointing out that you have to do a sentence sufficient but not 25 greater than necessary for my client is that general

1 deterrence is not best imposed here via my client. I think 2 that the government has shown that Drew Boggs was the leader
3 in this case, the owner in this case, and that things came top 4 down from there. My client was very loyal to him and to his 5 father especially, but that's the case. And I think that the 6 community will understand deterrence through Mr. Boggs more 7 than it will through my client.

8           So, Your Honor, you clearly know the ins and outs of 9 this case in weighing this. What I'm saying to you is there 10 is a significant amount of punishment that you can give to my 11 client through what I'm asking for without him having to go to 12 prison in this matter and that's what we ask. And Greg would 13 like to speak briefly to Your Honor.

14           THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

15           Yes, sir, Mr. Miller.

16           DEFENDANT MILLER: Your Honor, allocution is a word
17 I never heard until my attorney had to explain it to me. I 18 never had that in my vocabulary before. And, you know, after 19 all these -- all these months and years of waiting on this -- 20 on this sentence, on this moment, that has just, you know, 21 laid heavy on my heart. You know, even the indictment on 22 July 13 and the plea agreement July 14 and then waiting until 23 now, but there was something about him explaining this to me 24 that just, you know, set me, I guess, more in the moment, that 25 just made me realize more than anything else that what was

1 going on with this case and what's happening and how serious a 2 situation that I got myself into.

3           You know, after -- after additional quiet time,
4 reflection, you know, I came to the conclusion that speaking 5 today and giving this allocution would not be a meaningless
6 action and what I say will matter to you as the presiding 7 judge of my fate.

8           As the Court knows, through my guilty plea I have 9 accepted a plea to count one. And guilty I am. Many years of 10 participation and many years of ignoring what was happening 11 around me does not make me any less guilty. This only 12 furthers the fact that I knew what was going on, stood by and 13 did nothing about it. You know, therefore, I take full 14 responsibility for my role in deceiving the South Carolina 15 DOT, the North Carolina DOT, and other government agencies.

16           In addition, I want to acknowledge the underlying 17 direct victims of the dollars received from the above 18 entities. These are the numerous trucking firms with 19 legitimate DBE status that were ignored and not given an 20 opportunity to participate in the various contracts awarded to 21 Boggs Paving. More specifically, my conduct prevented them 22 from having even the slightest chance to perform hauling on 23 our projects.

24           What I didn't know -- what I didn't have at the time 25 of my illegal activity that I have now is a belief system that

1 does not fail me. One of the more important things I've 2 learned pertaining to my current situation is that I am to 3 answer to all powers, all principalities, all governments.
4 This knowledge came too little too late, and I personally 5 failed in this respect also. This is a burden I now carry and 6 have difficulty with on a regular basis. Through my 7 ignorance, actions, deception, the victims are the ones who 8 suffered.

9 I do have a particular skill set, I think, due to my 10 history of drug and alcohol addiction and my recovery from the 11 same has allowed me to be a big asset to AA and NA groups. At 12 my current age of 61 years, I understand that life here is way 13 too short and I have great opportunities to make a difference 14 in the lives of others with the time I have left.

15 Your Honor, my life has been one of pride, 16 self-consciousness, fear of failure, self-reliance, shyness, 17 loneliness. This life has made me reclusive and one who 18 follows the crowd, afraid to rock the boat. One where I never 19 speak out for fear of rejection and one where I worry about 20 what others may think of me.

21 These are the things that led me to my poor decision 22 making and led me to the drug and alcohol addiction. That 23 life has died and a new path has begun. So I now sit in your 24 judgment seat and respectfully accept the outcome rendered.

25 And lastly, I'd just like to reiterate the main

1 thing with this allocution is that I am responsible for the 2 consequences of my actions. Thank you.

3 THE COURT: Yes, sir. Thank you.

4 Any comment from the government with regard to his 5 role in the offense versus Mr. Tucker's?

6 MS. SUGAR: Well, Your Honor, as we've shown on the 7 chart, we do believe that for the majority of the scheme, 8 Mr. Miller was the superior to Mr. Tucker and that is 9 supported by talking to the project managers. At the end, 10 Mr. Tucker did take over Mr. Miller's role, but for the vast 11 majority of the scheme, Mr. Miller was in a higher position in 12 the company with regard to reporting directly to Mr. Boggs.

13 I do want to just comment about deterrence and the 14 importance for respect for the law. We just can't have a 15 system of laws where the people are more afraid of saying no 16 to their boss than to not breaking the law. We can't have 17 that system.

18 To have deterrence here, if you come in and you're 19 someone who's had every opportunity in life and you say, Oh, I 20 was just following what my boss said, that's not good enough.
21 That's not going to deter others in the same situation. This 22 is a case that calls for a prison sentence. Thank you.

23 THE COURT: Mr. Fialko. Anything else?

24 MR. FIALKO: I don't think so, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1           All right. The Court does believe that the 2 guideline range which is based on the loss amount understates 3 the harm to the DBE program, and that is something that has to 4 be looked at in doing the Court's sentencing. The Court said 5 that it ultimately would do that and it will do what it has to 6 do with regard to these -- to these sentences.

7           It's always a difficult -- sentencing is always a 8 difficult thing, particularly sentencing individuals who are 9 not otherwise but for their involvement in a crime that's, in 10 this case, a nonviolent crime, not bad people. But you take 11 on responsibility when you do this job; and although there are 12 times that sentencing is easy due to what occurred, due to the 13 type of thing that's done, these cases are hard. None of 14 these are easy cases.

15           You know, the 3553 factors do, they have to promote 16 respect for the law. They have to adequately punish the crime 17 that has occurred. And they have to -- and as Mr. Fialko 18 argues, and correctly, you know, you want a sentence that is 19 sufficient but not greater than necessary.

20           The problem with this case is what do I do with 21 deterrence in this case. Although the loss is zero, a 22 contract for 80 some million dollars went to a company that 23 may not have gotten that but for the way they handled the DBE 24 thing. They may have gotten it anyway. I mean, 25 Mr. Cuthbertson was qualified to be a DBE. But if he was a

1 DBE, he would have been a little bit harder to handle than the 2 way he was handled and they may not have gotten that contract.
3 So I don't really see any other way to do it.

4 The Court believes that the guideline range of 5 offense level 14, criminal history category I more adequately 6 deals with the harm that occurred in this case. Therefore, 7 will vary upward to that range of 15 to 21 months and sentence 8 there.

9 Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 and 10 U.S. v. Booker, it is the judgment of this Court, having 11 considered the factors noted in 18, United States Code, 12 Section 3553(a), that the defendant, Greg Miller, is hereby 13 committed to the custody of the United States Bureau of 14 Prisons to be imprisoned for a term of 15 months.

15 The Court recommends that the Bureau of Prisons
16 designate a facility near Monroe, North Carolina, for service 17 of this sentence if it places the defendant in a traditional 18 prison.

19 The Court further recommends that due to the 20 nonviolent nature of this crime, the defendant's clean 21 criminal record, defendant be considered for designation at a 22 camp.

23 The Court further recommends defendant be allowed to 24 participate in any educational and vocational opportunities 25 while incarcerated.

1           Upon release from imprisonment, defendant shall be 2 placed on supervised release for a term of two years.

3           Within 72 hours of release from the custody of the 4 Bureau of Prisons, the defendant shall report in person to the 5 probation office in the district to which the defendant is 6 released.

7           While on supervised release, the defendant shall not 8 commit another federal, state or local crime, and shall comply 9 with the standard conditions that have been adopted by the 10 Court in the Western District of North Carolina.

11           It's ordered defendant shall pay to the United 12 States a special assessment of $100.

13           The Court finds the defendant does not have the 14 ability to pay a fine or interest and, having considered the 15 factors noted in 18, United States Code, Section 3572(a), will 16 waive payment of a fine and interest in this case.

17           Defendant shall forfeit the defendant's interest in 18 any properties identified by the United States if any exist.

19           Payment of the $100 criminal monetary penalty is due 20 and payable immediately.

21           Mr. Fialko, is he going to be able to pay that?

22           MR. FIALKO: Yes, sir.

23           THE COURT: Since he's not going to have to go 24 immediately into custody?

25           MR. FIALKO: Yes, sir.

1           THE COURT: Okay. That makes it a lot easier on -- 2 if he ends up earning money there.

3           MR. FIALKO: Yes, sir.

4           THE COURT: Having money there, they're not taking 5 it out. Okay.

6           I don't believe the defendant will be in there long 7 enough to take advantage of any alcohol treatment or whatever 8 reduction of sentence there.

9           MR. FIALKO: Well, Your Honor, it cannot harm to 10 recommend it.

11          THE COURT: All right. Where is that -- where is 12 that found? What's the -- I'm asking probation. Where would 13 I find that?

14          MR. BAKER: I apologize, Your Honor, what's the 15 question?

16          THE COURT: Alcohol treatment, possibility of 17 getting some time off with his history of alcohol abuse.

18          MR. BAKER: Yes.

19          THE COURT: Where is that? I need to read that into 20 the sentence. If you could find me the paragraph where I do 21 that, I'll put that in the sentence.

22          MR. FIALKO: I think the simple phrase you need to 23 put in there is you recommend him for the Residential Drug 24 Abuse Treatment program, is usually the term.

25          THE COURT: I think he'll be better at the camp if 1 he gets one.

2 MR. FIALKO: I think you're right.

3 MR. BAKER: I'm going to have to pull another report 4 up.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. FIALKO: May I approach the court reporter?

7 THE COURT: Sure.

8 (Document tendered to the court reporter.)

9 THE COURT: The Court calls to the attention of the 10 custodial authorities that the defendant has a history of 11 substance abuse and recommends the defendant be allowed to 12 participate in any available substance abuse treatment 13 programs while incarcerated and, if eligible, receive the 14 benefit of 18, United States Code, Section 3621(e)(2).

15 All right. Is there any legal reason why this 16 should not be the sentence in this case from the defense?

17 MR. FIALKO: No, sir.

18 THE COURT: From the government?

19 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right. That is the sentence in this
21 case.

22 Mr. Miller, you have a right to appeal this 23 conviction and sentence to the Fourth Circuit Court of 24 Appeals. Any notice of appeal must be filed in writing within 25 14 days from when I enter the written judgment. I've just

1 entered an oral judgment today. There will be a written 2 judgment and statement of reasons which will be filed in this 3 case. Within 14 days of that, you have to give a written 4 notice of appeal. If you cannot afford to appeal and wish to 5 appeal, you can appeal at government expense.

6 I would suggest you speak to your very able attorney 7 about whether in this circumstance you wish to exercise that 8 right to appeal, but do you understand your right to appeal as 9 I have just explained it to you?

10 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

12 Anything further from the defense?

13 MR. FIALKO: We move that he be allowed to 14 self-surrender, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Anything from the government on that?

16 MS. SUGAR: We don't oppose that.

17 THE COURT: Defendant will be allowed to 18 self-surrender at his own expense to the -- to a facility once 19 it is designated by the Bureau of Prisons.

20 And, Mr. Miller, you need to -- it's a good thing 21 that you get this, but you got to be there on time. In other 22 words, if they tell you to be there at 5:00 on a certain day, 23 you can't be a flat tire away from missing that 5:00 deadline.
24 Get an early start and be in the vicinity of the -- when the 25 time comes because if you don't show up when you're supposed

1 to, they think you've escaped and they may put you in a 2 different facility and you have an opportunity, probably,
3 because of your past lack of criminal record of getting a 4 decent facility, a good facility. Don't mess that up on the 5 failure to report.

6 DEFENDANT MILLER: Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Okay?

8 DEFENDANT MILLER: Yes, sir.

9 THE COURT: All right. This matter is concluded.
10 Thank you.

11 Oh, remaining counts.

12 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, we move to dismiss all the 13 remaining counts against this defendant.

14 THE COURT: Let them be dismissed.

15 (End of proceedings at 2:18 p.m.)

16 THE COURT: All right. We'll call the case of the 17 United States versus Kevin Hicks.

18 Is the defendant ready?

19 MR. WINIKER: Your Honor, he is.

20 THE COURT: Is the government ready?

21 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Mr. Hicks, do you recall appearing 23 before a United States magistrate judge for the purpose of 24 entering a plea of guilty in this case?

25 DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Do you remember being placed under oath
2 at that time?

3           DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

4           THE COURT: And do you remember answering the 5 questions of the judge?

6           DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

7           THE COURT: Do you remember signing a plea
8 transcript form indicating the answers you gave the judge that 9 day were true and accurate to the best of your knowledge?

10          DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

11          THE COURT: Did you tell the judge the truth that 12 day?

13          DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

14          THE COURT: If I were to ask you the same questions, 15 would your answers be the same today?

16          DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

17          THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Counsel, do you 18 believe your client understood fully the questions asked by 19 the magistrate judge at the Rule 11 hearing?

20          MR. WINIKER: I do, Your Honor.

21          THE COURT: All right. Mr. Hicks, one more question 22 for you. Did you answer the questions the way you did and are 23 you going forward with your guilty plea today because you did 24 commit the crime you're pleading guilty to?

25          DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Based upon those representations and the 2 answers given by the defendant at the Rule 11 hearing before 3 the magistrate judge, the Court affirms the judge's finding 4 that the defendant's plea was knowingly and voluntarily made.
5 The Court also affirms the judge's finding that the defendant
6 understood the charges, the potential penalties, and the 7 consequences of his plea. Accordingly, the Court affirms the 8 magistrate judge's acceptance of the defendant's plea of 9 guilty at the Rule 11 hearing and accepts that plea today.

10           All right. Ms. Sugar, would the government have a 11 factual basis in this case?

12           MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, the parties have filed a 13 factual basis and it has been adopted in the presentence 14 report. We would stipulate to that factual basis.

15           MR. WINIKER: As would the defendant, Your Honor.

16           THE COURT: Thank you. Based upon that stipulation
17 and the offense conduct as set forth in the presentence
18 report, the defendant's plea of guilty before the magistrate 19 judge, and the defendant's admissions in open court today, the 20 Court finds there is a factual basis for the entry of the plea 21 of guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of guilty in this
22 case.

23           Mr. Hicks, your case was referred to the United 24 States Probation Office for a presentence investigation and 25 the preparation of a presentence report. The Court has now

1 received that report. Have you read that report?

2 DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Have you gone over that report with your 4 attorney?

5 DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Do you now believe you understand the 7 contents of that report?

8 DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Thank you.

10 Mr. Winiker, have you gone over that report with 11 your client and do you believe he understands the contents of 12 that report?

13 MR. WINIKER: I have and I do, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. And are there 15 any objections to the presentence report which remain 16 outstanding at this time?

17 MR. WINIKER: There are not, especially given the 18 government's -- the Court's ruling as to loss.

19 THE COURT: Right. And with regard to the 20 government, except for the Court's ruling with regard to how 21 much the loss was, is there any other objection outstanding at 22 this time?

23 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: All right. Then the Court will adopt 25 the information contained in the presentence report for the 1 purpose of applying the guidelines with the addition that the 2 Court has ruled with regard to a different loss amount than 3 was in the presentence report.

4 Is this an 8 and a I?

5 MR. BAKER: This is a 10 and a I.

6 THE COURT: Oh, a 10 and a I. Thank you.

7 In the instant case, the advisory guidelines provide 8 for a total offense level of 10, a criminal history category
9 of I, and a guideline sentencing range of 6 to 12 months.
10 Does the defense agree?

11 MR. WINIKER: I believe I do. I wanted to look at 12 that range one more time.

13 THE COURT: Take your time.

14 MR. WINIKER: Your Honor, I do. Ordinarily it would 15 have been a three-level reduction originally, but with the 16 two-level reduction given the Court's ruling --

17 THE COURT: Given the Court's ruling, it got down 18 below the three-level reduction allowed so you only get two.

19 MR. WINIKER: No objection.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

21 Any objections from the government at this time 22 other than the amount of loss issue?

23 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

25 All right. Then that is the correct guideline

1 range.

2 I'll hear from the government with regard to what 3 the appropriate punishment is based upon the 3553 factors in 4 this case.

5 MS. SUGAR: Thank you, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: And any motions that the government may 7 be making for a downward departure following any variances the 8 government asks for. The Court will be -- will entertain that 9 also.

10 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor, we'll be making both.

11 First, we would move for a six-level upward variance 12 due to the loss range not reflecting the conduct in this case 13 and the harm to the DBE program. But joint in that, we would 14 move for a 5K motion of five levels for Mr. Hicks down to a 15 level 11, which would put him in zone B consistent with the 16 terms of his plea agreement and his cooperation with the 17 United States.

18 Now, certainly I do want to note, it's important for 19 the Court to know, Mr. Hicks falls higher than Mr. Tucker did 20 because he has a two-level bump for the money laundering.
21 Mr. Hicks was the CFO for the bulk of this time period and his 22 role was very different than the project managers. He was not 23 in the bid meetings. He was the guy signing the two checks to 24 Styx Cuthbertson that were going out every two weeks. He 25 signed two and then he got an email back from the woman under

1 him that said this is how much we're getting back from Styx.
2 So every two weeks he writes two checks: One usually bigger,
3 mostly comes back, and one much smaller for Styx. And he did 4 this for years. His name was on the nominee bank account, as 5 was the CFO before him and the CFO before him. And he 6 reported directly to Drew Boggs.

7           And Mr. Hicks and Mr. Tucker came in to cooperate 8 with the government around the same time. And we believe that 9 although Mr. Tucker certainly has testified, that put him at a 10 different position vis-a-vis his cooperation and the value of 11 it, Mr. Hicks was key because he connected Mr. Boggs to that 12 financial part of the case, to the accounting.

13           Each part of the company worked together to make 14 things work in this fraud and Mr. Hicks had a very important 15 role with the signing of checks and the moving of money.
16 There's no way from an accounting standpoint you write someone 17 a check for them to write it to you back and you do it over 18 and over again. They were clearly trying to make the books 19 change so it looks like Styx had done more work or had been 20 paid more than he actually had. That way they had checks they 21 could show DOT. That way they had invoices they could show 22 DOT even though the work hadn't been done.

23           Being a CFO is certainly an important job and comes 24 with a lot of responsibility and obligations to be truthful, 25 and Mr. Hicks violated that trust when he participated in the 1 money laundering and in the DBE fraud scheme.

2 But I think it is fair that he, because of his 3 background, had less knowledge of the DBE rules, although this 4 was clearly on its face not correct what was happening. And 5 he wasn't in the meetings where they were writing in Styx.
6 That wasn't part of his job.

7 But we think that -- he definitely needs a higher 8 sentence than Greg Tucker. I think that that money laundering 9 difference is important and it's important to the government.
10 Eight to 14 months gives you a sufficient range in the 11 different ways that you can impose a sentence that's going to 12 let CFOs know even if you come in and cooperate, and he does 13 certainly get credit for that, that this is a real crime.
14 There's real victims. There's real harm here. That just 15 going along with what your supervisor does is not okay. That 16 there are real severe consequences for this conduct that went 17 on for years and years. Every two weeks the checks. Every 18 two weeks the checks.

19 And we need the sentence here to promote respect for 20 the law and give deterrence. And we do think that that would 21 ordinarily here be the level 16, the 21 to 27 months. But due 22 to his cooperation, due to his coming in and talking to the 23 government, both initially during trial preparation and as 24 recently as this week, we would ask for that departure. And 25 we do believe that the range of 8 to 14 months is the 1 appropriate level to sentence the defendant, recognizing the 2 seriousness of the offense while also giving him credit for 3 the substantial cooperation he has provided to us.

4 THE COURT: All right. Are you seeking a particular 5 sentence in that range?

6 MS. SUGAR: We do think that a term of some type of 7 confinement is appropriate.

8 THE COURT: Well, that range would call for some 9 kind of confinement.

10 MS. SUGAR: Yes.

11 THE COURT: It would allow for home detention also.

12 MS. SUGAR: It does, Your Honor. We would just say 13 that we do think there should be confinement and 8 to 14 14 months is the appropriate amount of such confinement. Other 15 than that we would defer to the Court.

16 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

17 MR. WINIKER: I stand and breathe a sigh of relief, 18 Your Honor. I didn't know what I was going to be arguing 19 until moments ago given all of the moving parts that have been 20 in this case so far in terms of at least the government's 21 recommendation. Let me go in -- for a moment in terms of my 22 client's history and background and those other factors.

23 But just coming off -- just to begin with, at 9:00
24 this morning the government's recommendation in this case, 25 given the original government finding of loss amount and the

1 plea that was entered by my client a year and a half ago, put 2 him at a rage of 4 to 14 months in zone B. Now, after the 3 Court having found a significant reduction in that loss 4 amount, the government's recommendation is now higher. And so 5 that's where we are today.

6           Your Honor, my client is a native of Jackson, 7 Mississippi. Went to school there. He's a little -- not a 8 ton younger than me, but a little bit younger than me. Went 9 to -- got an accounting degree in college. Met his wife 10 there. Started working at a construction firm that didn't do 11 any kind of government work. No DBE work or anything like 12 that. Basically working in the finance department.
13 Combination of data entry and, you know, not much more than 14 that. A little bit more than data entry, but essentially 15 working in that area.

16           But finally was recruited for a bigger position.
17 Saw an advertisement that was posted. Came and interviewed 18 with Drew Boggs here in 2003, and that's when he was offered 19 the position. Took his wife and his then very young family -- 20 he had -- I believe his daughter was probably about four years 21 old, maybe even just born at that time. She's now 13. And so 22 came and took that job. Moved out to Monroe. Started working 23 there. So it's just basically this young family, just those 24 three.

25           And as the Court knows, what Mr. Hicks walked into 1 was a company that had existed at least since the mid '90s.

2 You had Greg Miller who the Court just heard from. And 3 ordinarily I don't like to talk about other co-defendants at a 4 sentencing like this, but the problem is is that I don't want 5 the Court to get a misapprehension as to both Mr. Hicks' role 6 in the offense and also the history how he fits into the 7 history of the company.

8 Kristy Lawrence, whose grand jury testimony we heard 9 snippets of, had already been trained by her predecessors and 10 had already been also having contact with project managers a 11 year before Mr. Hicks was hired as CFO. This Styx bank 12 account that was talked about, that had existed since the mid 13 '90s. I would argue it would be someone, Mr. Miller, who's 14 more conversant with the way this company was formed from the 15 beginning, that's where this scheme derived from.

16 So just so the Court is very clear that while my 17 client absolutely accepts responsibility, and you'll hear from 18 him on that and you'll hear from me a little bit more on that 19 for a moment, this scheme didn't start with him. It wasn't 20 presented to him to be orchestrated. He came, started working 21 for this company, and this was -- this was a train that had 22 already left the station.

23 My client -- my client's job primarily focused on 24 bigger picture items such as dealing with the company's 25 primary lender, Cat, dealing with the company's surety,

1 dealing with the company's other lenders in this case. And 2 essentially kind of putting out fire to fire to fire every 3 single day for the last dozen years just about.

4           Your Honor, this is a man who was essentially 5 described by his wife as a workaholic, and both his job and,
6 quite honestly, this case nearly cost him his life. The day 7 the indictment came out in this case, he suffered massive 8 heart failure. His wife Jennifer, who is here, Your Honor, 9 and has told me she is mortified of speaking for a number of 10 different reasons. One, it's very difficult for her to speak; 11 but second, she doesn't believe she can get two words out 12 without bursting into tears. And having met and talked with 13 her on many times over the course of the last several years, I 14 would say that that's true. She's an ardent supporter of her 15 husband. She wrote, I think, a very eloquent letter that I'm 16 sure the Court has reviewed. But in that she describes 17 finding him that day in July gasping for breath on the kitchen 18 counter. He had to wear a defibrillator for six months after 19 that, a vest that he had to wear. And was at one time, they 20 were looking at whether or not he should be on the heart 21 transplant list and he was being prepped for that procedure.

22           Your Honor, he has recovered from the event, but 23 when I say recovered, he can be struck with the same malady
24 pretty much any time, and that I think is a significant factor 25 I ask the Court to take into account in this case in

1 determining -- especially if the Court determines that some 2 period of confinement is important, that this has been through 3 regularly seeing his doctors, very carefully controlled 4 medication and carefully controlled diet, which even when he 5 was hospitalized, he couldn't eat the hospital -- the low 6 sodium hospital food. His cardiologist said it was too high 7 in sodium at the time. So the diet and every bit of his 8 health at this point needs to be carefully monitored less he 9 succumb to the same event soon.

10           Your Honor, I want to take a moment now to recognize 11 his family who's here.

12           And if you can please stand.

13           I wanted to introduce his mother and father, 14 Margaret and Kevin Hicks, at the end. His sister Bonney 15 Henderson is here. I'll ask the Court to hear from her in 16 just a moment. And also his brothers Alan and Matt Hicks. Of 17 course, his lovely wife Jennifer. Thank you very much.

18           Your Honor, they both traveled in from out of town 19 to be here today. It has -- I think in terms of talking about 20 his conduct in this matter and falling into it, the Court did 21 hear that Drew Boggs took Greg Tucker and also Kevin Hicks on 22 trips. He was considered a friend. It was just Kevin and his 23 wife here in Charlotte and he was sort of taken under their 24 wing. And like many other employees in the company, the 25 loyalty was cultivated. And if anything, it probably, in my

1 opinion anyway -- I don't know that Kevin has ever said this,
2 but I think it could have led to clouding his judgment a bit
3 in terms of trusting the people around him. Not imagining 4 that people around him could be involved in this kind of a 5 scheme.

6           Now, on paper and looking at what he -- you know, 7 the items he looked at, he will tell you, absolutely, that is 8 not the kind of conduct that he thinks is appropriate. But 9 remember, he was not involved in overseeing the submission of 10 DBE reports like Greg Tucker was. He didn't develop invoices.
11 He didn't write Styx in the contracts. What he was aware of 12 is that Styx was essentially -- and this is his sin -- that 13 Styx was an in-house DBE. That his -- the DBE reports were 14 important for the company to be paid. And that the movement 15 of money was designed to help support that. But beyond that 16 he didn't know about DBE regulations, how they worked, trucks 17 being substituted. Other than maybe being copied on some 18 emails, that was not part of his job, and certainly nothing he 19 looked at and for that.

20           And then finally, after having carefully examined 21 the evidence in this case and given his limited role, the fact 22 that he was guilty of this offense, we -- Mr. Hicks did not 23 know Mr. Tucker was talking to the government at the same 24 time. But Mr. Hicks came to the government, worked out and 25 tendered his guilty plea independent of that. Though Arnold

1 Mann had pleaded guilty previously, I would argue that 2 really -- that didn't -- I know that that didn't have any 3 impact -- or any great impact on Mr. Hicks' decision in this 4 case.

5           He was -- the Court heard from Mr. Tucker, but 6 Mr. Hicks' role in this company is sort of like the two sides
7 of Janus. Tucker was the project manager side, the project 8 managers who interacted directly with both DOT and with the 9 staff who entered in these reports and submitted them to DOT.
10 Mr. Hicks -- Mr. Hicks' side greatly assisted the government 11 in being able to provide them a witness to authenticate any 12 and all of the financial records that they would need to 13 introduce at a trial. And I would argue were it not for 14 Mr. Hicks' cooperation, there's a substantial reason to think 15 that this case might not have ended the way it did today. And 16 I would argue to the Court that his cooperation was extremely 17 substantial in this matter.

18           Your Honor, he's been unemployed for the last year.
19 He has a money laundering conviction as an accountant. He was 20 able to finally find a job with an HVAC firm a little bit less 21 than a month ago. They are aware of the nature of his case 22 right now and it is a testament to Mr. Hicks and as well as 23 the trust of this company, and the Court, I'm sure, has read 24 the letter of support written by his employer, after a very 25 short period of time how impressive Mr. Hicks has been in 1 terms of the way he works, the way he works very hard and his 2 fierce loyalty.

3           Your Honor, before -- I will have a few closing 4 remarks, but let me very quickly ask his brother to come 5 forward. He wanted to say a few words on his behalf.

6           If you can just step right here.

7           MR. MATTHEW HICKS: Good afternoon, Your Honor. I'm 8 Matthew Hicks. I'm here today from Greenwood, Mississippi, in 9 support of Kevin Hicks who is my older brother.

10           I've known Kevin all of my life so I can say without 11 hesitation that Kevin is a good and decent man. He's someone 12 that I've looked up to not just as a big brother, but as a 13 person. Kevin possesses a number of good qualities and traits 14 that I've always had a lot of respect for, one of which is his 15 very strong work ethic. A lot of people probably don't 16 realize this, but he's held a steady job since he was 15 years 17 old. I think in today's time that speaks a lot about him and 18 is pretty impressive, especially given the fact that with the 19 last few years he's had a very serious medical condition.

20           Kevin and I, even though we live in different 21 states, we're still very close. Kevin's the person that if 22 I'm in a situation where I need advice or guidance, I 23 regularly go to Kevin for that. I can honestly say that a lot 24 of the advice and guidance that he's given me in regards to 25 developing my career have been invaluable. So I can honestly

1 say that I look up to Kevin for that.

2 I also have found Kevin to be very instrumental in 3 how I've gone about raising my daughter. Kevin and I have a 4 similar situation with our families in that both he -- both my 5 wife and I have just one child. We have a daughter. And I've 6 seen the way that Kevin has gone about raising his daughter, 7 and I've tried to model how I raise my daughter after how he's 8 done it because he's done a terrific job with it.

9 Lastly, I just want to say that Kevin is someone -- 10 he's not perfect, but he's someone that I always have and 11 always will look up to and I always will be proud to call him 12 my brother.

13 Thank you very much for your time today, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Yes, sir. Thank you.

15 MR. BELL: Your Honor, his sister might say a few 16 words.

17 MS. BONNEY HENDERSON: Hi, I'm Bonney Henderson and 18 Kevin is my brother. Kevin and I are just two years apart.
19 We have always been close. We played on the same high school 20 tennis team. We were even partners at times. We were both at 21 Mississippi State during the same time, which is where Kevin 22 introduced me to my husband whom I've been married to for 18 23 years and share three children with.

24 Thirteen years ago my husband and I chose Kevin to 25 be the godfather of our first child. This is not a decision

1 that we took lightly, but we chose Kevin because of his family 2 values and his good character. And if I had to make that 3 decision all over again today, I wouldn't do anything 4 differently on choosing him again.

5           He's extremely dedicated to his wife Jennifer and 6 their 13-year-old daughter Neely. The bond that Kevin and 7 Neely share is simply incredible. It's so obvious just how 8 much Neely adores her dad and she needs him very much.

9           Shortly after Kevin was diagnosed with heart
10 failure, my husband and I drove our children from Mississippi 11 to North Carolina to spend Thanksgiving with Kevin and their 12 family. They had been so busy in meeting with doctors and 13 simply trying to adjust with the many restrictions that come 14 with any heart failure patient. I'm so proud of how Kevin has 15 handled these restrictions with his health. He knows how 16 important it is for him to obey his doctors' orders and that's 17 exactly what he's doing.

18           So that Thanksgiving I told him I would make a heart
19 healthy Thanksgiving meal for all of us. That is no easy 20 task, but together we did it. Jennifer and Neely watched my 21 every move in the kitchen to make sure I didn't put a pinch of 22 salt in anything or serve anything that might make Kevin sick.
23 We had a bland meal that day, but it was a wonderful 24 Thanksgiving.

25           My point is this. Kevin is a good man. He has a

1 family that loves him and supports him and they depend on him.
2 And our entire family is here today to show support for Kevin.
3 And I respectfully ask that you grant Kevin a second chance so 4 that he can continue to raise his daughter, earn a living for 5 his family, and be a productive member of society. I know he 6 will not let us down. Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Thank you.

8 MR. WINIKER: Thank you.

9 Your Honor, I will close with a few words, but my 10 client would like to address the Court at this time.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 DEFENDANT HICKS: Your Honor, I'd just like to say 13 that, you know, I acknowledge that I made a terrible mistake
14 in my actions in regards to this case that I deeply regret.
15 And sadly, it has caused me to have to learn an extremely 16 painful lesson, a lesson that I will never soon forget for the 17 rest of my life. I basically -- this whole experience has 18 reminded me to take more caution in my job and make sure that 19 anything that comes across my desk is up and up and perfectly 20 good with any requirement that's needed of it.

21 And I'd just like to say that I'm sorry especially 22 to my family who has been inadvertently hurt because of all 23 this, because of a poor course of judgment on my behalf.

24 So thank you for your time.

25 MR. WINIKER: Your Honor, if I may. May I approach?

1 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

2 (The document was tendered to the Court.)

3 MR. WINIKER: Your Honor, that's a page out of 4 the -- out of the government's discovery obtained from what I 5 imagine was at some point a grand jury production of the 6 company. But, Your Honor, in terms of where this company was, 7 this was -- this was a company that was sort of passed down 8 from Drew's father Andy, and Greg Miller was essentially the 9 Dick Cheney of the operation, and that is, you know, an older 10 seasoned hand coming on board with Drew. That is how this 11 matter operated. Whatever -- however this scheme was 12 conceived was conceived before my client was there.

13 And subsequent to that, he's done everything in his 14 power to do the right thing. And given the circumstances and 15 the isolation of him and his family, he made an extremely 16 tough call. He provided spectacular assistance to the United 17 States in terms of his role in the offense and, you know, 18 his -- the position that they needed him for in any potential 19 trial.

20 Your Honor, he is a valuable member of the 21 community, a valuable member to his family. He has 22 significant health issues. And I would ask the Court to take 23 all of that into consideration and to -- you know, Your Honor, 24 I had asked in the sentencing memo for some term that included 25 home confinement, and I ask that the Court impose nothing more

1 than that. But I would argue given the sentence that has 2 already been given to Greg Tucker, I would argue that he 3 had -- he earned the same salary Mr. Tucker did. Mr. Tucker 4 had a bigger role, had more contact with DBE reporting, and 5 Mr. Hicks' cooperation was just as valuable.

6 Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

8 Okay. The Court will go through the exercise of 9 agreeing with the extra two levels. That the appropriate 10 sentencing range would be found at offense level 16, criminal 11 history category 1, 21 to 27 months.

12 Recognizing that if the Court goes down into the 13 zone B, the Court could go to the 4 -- hearing that it was 14 originally 4 to 14, could go down to 9 and have home
15 confinement. But I'm afraid that would work the probation 16 office harder than the defendant in this case.

17 So the Court is going to, based on the full 18 cooperation of the defendant in this case, is going to -- 19 under 5K is going to depart down for the substantial 20 assistance of the defendant to total offense level 8, criminal 21 history category I, and sentence there considering all those 22 factors.

23 Everybody in this case is lucky that there was not a 24 loss to the government in this case, financial. We have to 25 recognize that immediately up front. Zero money lost. But

1 the government was protecting -- the reason the government is 2 bringing this case is the government is protecting the 3 Disadvantaged Business Enterprises which is a laudable program 4 and needs to be protected.

5 Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 and 6 U.S. v. Booker, it is the judgment of the Court, having 7 considered the factors noted in 18, United States Code, 8 Section 3553(a), that the defendant, Kevin Hicks, is hereby 9 placed on probation for a term of two years.

10 While on probation the defendant shall not commit
11 another federal, state or local crime.

12 Shall comply with the standard conditions that have 13 been adopted by the Court in the Western District of North 14 Carolina, and shall comply with the following conditions:

15 And that is that defendant is ordered to pay a 16 special assessment of $200.

17 And is to forfeit any interest the defendant has in 18 any properties identified by the United States.

19 MR. BAKER: Your Honor, is the probation going to be 20 run concurrent between both counts?

21 THE COURT: Yeah. Thank you very much. It's the 22 same sentence on both and these sentences are going to be 23 concurrent to one another.

24 Could you approach one minute. I want to ask you a 25 question.

1 (The Court and the probation officer conferred.)

2 THE COURT: As part of this sentence, defendant is 3 ordered to pay a fine in the amount of $2,000.

4 The $200 is payable immediately -- the $200 special 5 assessment is due immediately.

6 The $2,000 can be paid in monthly installments of 7 $100 each to begin within 60 days of going on supervision.

8 Anything further that I'm missing from the 9 government?

10 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: I think I've got everything covered.

12 Is there any legal reason why this should not be the 13 sentence in this case from the defense?

14 MR. WINIKER: No, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: From the government?

16 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: All right. That is the sentence in this
18 case.

19 Mr. Hicks, you can appeal this conviction and 20 sentence to the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals. Any appeal 21 must be done in writing and must be done within 14 days from 22 when I enter the written judgment in this case. If you wish 23 to appeal and cannot afford to appeal, you may appeal at 24 government expense.

25 I would suggest you speak to very able counsel about

1 this -- these rights to appeal and as to whether in this 2 circumstance you wish to exercise those rights, but do you
3 understand your rights as I just explained them to you?

4 DEFENDANT HICKS: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Thank you.

6 Anything further from the defense at this time?

7 MR. WINIKER: Nothing from the defense. Thank you,
8 Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: From the government?

10 MS. SUGAR: Yes. We would move to dismiss the 11 remaining counts as to this defendant.

12 THE COURT: Let those be dismissed.

13 MR. WINIKER: Thank you.

14 THE COURT: Thank you.

15 (End of proceedings at 2:53 p.m.)

16 THE COURT: All right. We're going to take a brief 17 recess before we go into the next two sentencings, so we'll be 18 in recess for about 10, 15 minutes.

19 MR. BELL: Your Honor, while you're recessing, may I 20 hand up some character letters?

21 THE COURT: You may.

22 THE COURT: It will help eat up my recess, but 23 that's all right.

24 (Documents were tendered to the Court.)

25 (Brief recess at 2:53 p.m. Court resumed at 3:05

1 p.m.)

2 THE COURT: All right. We'll call the case of -- 3 yes, sir.

4 MR. SAVAGE: Your Honor, if there is no preference
5 or difference to the Court or the defendants, the government 6 requests that we maybe do the sentencing for the organization 7 first. That would give Ms. Sugar a break. But also, there's 8 a provision in the guidelines that would require that -- the 9 Court could impose part of the fine for the corporation, in a 10 closely held corporation, on the principal defendant who is 11 also an owner.

12 So for that reason, if it's not anybody else's 13 deference, we'd prefer to go with Boggs Paving, Inc. next.

14 THE COURT: All right. Let's do that unless there's 15 a good objection for it. Let's go ahead and do that.

16 What we will do, then, is call the case of the 17 United States versus Boggs Paving, Inc.

18 Who do we have here as corporate representatives?

19 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, James Galyean of Nexsen
20 Pruet -- from Nexsen Pruet for Boggs Paving and Mr. Boggs 21 standing in for the company.

22 MR. SAVAGE: Your Honor, if I might maybe outline
23 the direction. Obviously, the Court has the thing, but I 24 thought that we might want to establish the statutory 25 guidelines for the offense.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. SAVAGE: Then, of course, there's the matter of 3 which guidelines apply, which we believe would be the 2014 4 guidelines.

5 Then I think there are the arguments under the -- 6 arguments and some of them -- I know that Mr. Bell had 7 contested the government's sentencing memorandum and we had 8 evidence to present on that.

9 THE COURT: All right. Why don't you go ahead and 10 proceed, then.

11 MR. SAVAGE: Okay. Does Your Honor need to do the 12 plea colloquy thing?

13 THE COURT: Well, I guess I probably should.

14 MR. SAVAGE: Yeah, with the defendant.

15 THE COURT: It's kind of odd to do one on a 16 corporation. I know Mr. Boggs is here for the corporation, 17 but as I opined before --

18 MR. SAVAGE: Yes, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: -- it's a little strange that you 20 can't -- that the corporation is a person and it can be -- it 21 can't be put in jail, doesn't have a soul and a lot of other 22 things, but...

23 MR. SAVAGE: It has money.

24 THE COURT: It does have money. It does have money.
25 All right. Please stand.

1           Mr. Boggs, did you -- were you the person that 2 appeared before a United States magistrate judge for the 3 purpose of entering a plea of guilty for Boggs Paving, Inc.?

4           DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

5           THE COURT: Were you placed under oath at that time?

6           DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

7           THE COURT: Do you remember answering the questions
8 of the judge that day?

9           DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

10          THE COURT: Do you remember signing a plea 11 transcript form indicating the answers you gave on behalf of 12 Boggs Paving, Inc., were true and accurate at the time they 13 were given?

14          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

15          THE COURT: Did you tell the judge the truth that 16 day?

17          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

18          THE COURT: If I were to ask you the same questions
19 today, would your answers be the same?

20          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

21          THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

22          Counsel, do you believe your client understood fully 23 the questions the magistrate judge asked at the Rule 11
24 hearing --

25          MR. GALYEAN: I do, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: -- on behalf of Boggs Paving, Inc.?

2 MR. GALYEAN: I do, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Thank you.

4 Mr. Boggs, did you answer the questions the way you
5 did on behalf of Boggs Paving, Inc., and are you going forward
6 with Boggs Paving, Inc.'s, guilty plea today because Boggs
7 Paving, Inc., did commit the crime --

8 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: -- that it is pleading guilty to?

10 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, sir.

11 THE COURT: All right. Then based upon those 12 representations and the answers given by the defendant at the 13 Rule 11 hearing before the magistrate judge -- or given by 14 Mr. Boggs, the principal of Boggs Paving, Inc., before the 15 magistrate judge, the Court affirms the judge's finding that 16 the defendant's plea was knowingly and voluntarily made. The 17 court also affirms the judge's finding that the -- that 18 Mr. Boggs understood on behalf of the company the charges, the 19 potential penalties, and the consequences of his plea.
20 Accordingly, the Court affirms the magistrate judge's
21 acceptance of defendant Boggs Paving, Inc.'s, plea of guilty 22 at the Rule 11 hearing and accepts same today.

23 Ms. Sugar, would the government have -- or 24 Mr. Savage, would the government have a factual basis?

25 MR. SAVAGE: Yes, Your Honor. The government would

1 stipulate -- the defendant corporation pled guilty without the 2 benefit of a plea agreement but submitted a factual resume, as 3 did the government. The government would stipulate to the 4 factual basis in the presentence report, noting, of course, 5 its objections to loss amount.

6 THE COURT: Right. Yes, sir.

7 What says the defense?

8 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, we would do the same.

9 THE COURT: All right. Then based upon that 10 stipulation and the offense conduct as set forth in the 11 presentence report, the defendant's plea of guilty before the 12 magistrate judge, and the defendant's admissions in open -- 13 and the defendant's admissions -- or Mr. Boggs' admissions on 14 behalf of the defendant Boggs Paving, Inc., in open court 15 today, the Court finds there is a factual basis for the entry 16 of the plea of guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of 17 guilty against Boggs Paving, Inc., in this case.

18 All right. Mr. Boggs, your company's case was 19 referred to the United States -- was this case sent to 20 probation to fill out this too?

21 MR. GALYEAN: That's my understanding, Your Honor.

22 MR. BAKER: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay. And there is a presentence report
24 and the Court's received that report.

25 Have you read that report?

1 MR. GALYEAN: Yes, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Have you gone over that report with your 3 lawyer?

4 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, sir. I believe we've -- I
5 think we've submitted some objections, I believe.

6 MR. GALYEAN: No, Your Honor, we have no objections 7 to the presentence report.

8 THE COURT: No objections from the company. Okay.
9 So are there any -- do you believe you understand the contents 10 of the report after talking to the lawyer?

11 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Are you satisfied on behalf of 13 the company he understands the contents of that report and its 14 implications for his company?

15 MR. GALYEAN: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. Any objections to the 17 presentence report which remain outstanding today?

18 MR. SAVAGE: Not other than loss, Your Honor.

19 MR. GALYEAN: None from the defense, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right. Very good.

21 All right. Then the Court will adopt the 22 information contained in the presentence report for the 23 purpose of applying the guidelines in this case except for the 24 loss.

25 Where are we with the company now?

1           MR. BAKER: With the company now, Your Honor, the 2 offense level would be 11. And as far as the culpability
3 score, that would remain the same. The fine range computation 4 based on the 37,000, using the multipliers, would create a 5 fine range of $51,800 to $103,600.

6           THE COURT: Okay. Does the defense agree?

7           MR. GALYEAN: Yes, Your Honor.

8           THE COURT: Does the government agree?

9           MR. SAVAGE: Yes, Your Honor.

10          THE COURT: Okay. All right. I'll hear from the 11 government on sentencing and what we should do.

12          MR. SAVAGE: Your Honor, I'm going to direct the 13 Court's attention in this case to Section 3571 of the code.
14 If the Court's familiar with that, that is with regards to the 15 imposition of a fine on a corporation.

16          As the Court noted, and as the guidelines provide, a 17 corporation does not have a soul. It does not have -- it 18 cannot operate except through its people.

19          THE COURT: But it can make political contributions 20 apparently.

21          MR. SAVAGE: It can, indeed, make political 22 contributions.

23          THE COURT: Because it's a person.

24          MR. SAVAGE: It cannot make direct political 25 contributions, but it can make some.

1           THE COURT: It reaches into that big corporate 2 pocket with its big corporate hand and...

3           MR. SAVAGE: Yes, Your Honor. But that would be for 4 another day.

5           But I would direct the Court to the sentencing, I 6 think we did in our sentencing memo, to the purposes of 7 sentencing a corporation and that is, I think, to promote 8 respect for the law. Corporations don't have a soul, but they 9 do operate under a legal format. And I think in a corporation 10 like this that has existed for so many years in disobedience of 11 the law and, as you said -- noted, gathered $87 million in 12 federal contracts, of which 300 -- 3.7 million was supposed to 13 go to DBEs such as Mr. Styx who would have benefited from it 14 if they had actually received that money and grew their 15 businesses.

16           We find ourselves in a dilemma here because perhaps 17 3.7 million, or as we argued in our brief, 7 million would 18 have been appropriate. But I think that the court now is 19 going to be -- this is where the loss calculation has a real, 20 real implication. And that is, the maximum fine for the 21 offense to which this corporation pled guilty is $500,000
22 under Section 3571(C)(3). So the most this Court could impose 23 on a corporation that's gotten $87 million worth of contracts, 24 laundered $7 million through its accounts and, based on the 25 accounting of the accountant for which they paid $125,000 for,

1 is $500,000.

2 THE COURT: The Court understands the implications 3 of the --

4 MR. SAVAGE: The alternative fine would have been 5 based on (D) --

6 THE COURT: -- guidelines -- the fact that the 7 guidelines were done the way they were done. The Court 8 understands that implication.

9 MR. SAVAGE: Exactly.

10 THE COURT: It has strained over that for a long
11 time.

12 MR. SAVAGE: Exactly.

13 So I don't think that the Court could or maybe is 14 inclined to, and I don't want to rehash that, but we could go 15 back into loss amount solely for this corporation, but I think 16 that that would be a waste of time. The Court has noted our 17 objection.

18 But I wanted to say that but for the fact that the 19 loss in this case or the gain as would have been provided 20 under 3571(D), we think it's much greater than $37,000. We 21 would have asked for a much higher fine, somewhere in the 22 $7 million range, because that would truly reflect the harm 23 this corporation caused.

24 But that being said, the most that you can impose is 25 $500,000. Therefore, if you took and worked backwards into

1 that, if you take the multiplier of 1.4, you divide 400,000 -- 2 that into 500,000, we would suggest that a departure on the 3 base fine somewhere in the amount of -- if you go to -- if I 4 might do the math one more time.

5 A fine of $357,000 which would require the Court to 6 depart 7 levels to offense level 18. If the Court were to 7 depart to offense level 18, impose a fine of $350,000, and 8 multiply that by the amount that would be in the multiplier 9 factor of approximately 1.4, it would come up with a statutory 10 maximum penalty of $500,000.

11 THE COURT: Let me ask the government, what kind 12 of -- what do you -- what are you doing about forfeitures of 13 the company? Because it's all -- I mean, this is a total 14 punishment situation here. It's not, well, we're going to 15 take this from them here, this from them here; and once we get 16 it all, we're going to sow the earth with salt so nothing 17 grows there again.

18 MR. SAVAGE: No, Your Honor, we haven't -- 19 there's -- due to the fact -- and we're not going to say this.
20 As the Court's noted from both the government's brief and the 21 defense's opposition, there is nothing left to salt. Pretty 22 much the Boggs family dynasty and the Boggs family trust has 23 moved all the operable assets out of this corporation and 24 placed them into a separate trust known as Lynches River. And 25 we -- they did it legally. We're not arguing that they did it

1 illegally. But basically there is no forfeiture.

2 THE COURT: How many assets did they move out of 3 there?

4 MR. SAVAGE: Pardon me?

5 THE COURT: Tell me what the total assets they moved 6 out were.

7 MR. SAVAGE: We have some idea, not totally. Some 8 idea of that. And I could show the Court.

9 First of all, I know that Mr. Bell's firm filed a 10 motion and in pretty strong terms claimed that the government, 11 I think, falsified, lied, deliberately manipulated things.
12 And for that I take -- if there are mistakes in that, Your 13 Honor, I take responsibility. Ms. Sugar faced by this phalanx 14 of lawyers from these multiple high dollar firms with lots of 15 lawyers needed a little help and all she could get was me.

16 So I remember attending a --

17 THE COURT: Probably some of the empire's assets 18 have been bled clean by some of the attorneys on the other 19 side.

20 MR. SAVAGE: Well, we're hoping some is left.

21 And what I want to do is show the Court what's been 22 marked as Government's Exhibit 400. When I began this case, 23 and this was after the indictment, I remember attending a few 24 hearings. In that time the corporation was represented by Roy 25 Black of Miami fame. And at that time we were arguing over

1 different things. Really, what it was was -- and there was a 2 letter that Mr. Bell attached to his motion that showed that 3 if you do anything to Boggs Paving, Inc., you kill the entire 4 Boggs network because as Exhibit 400 shows, while the company 5 was operating this fraud, it was Boggs Group. It was very 6 integrated.

7           It had a Boggs Transport thing that kept its trucks 8 in one area. And according to Mr. Hicks' debrief, that was to 9 limit its liability in case its truck ran over somebody.

10           It had another thing called materials or whatever.
11 It had like the quarries and the -- it owned various 12 interests.

13           And then it had Boggs Paving, Inc., which did the 14 paving, and it basically did business with itself with these 15 other entities.

16           Now, in fairness, and I'm not going to tell -- I 17 apologize to Mr. Bell for whatever confusion there was. It 18 wasn't just Boggs Paving, Inc. It should have said and my 19 brief should have said Boggs Group. But Boggs Paving, Inc., 20 was surely an integral part of Boggs Paving Group and without 21 it it became -- there was a huge hole. So we became a little 22 confused with that.

23           And if we look at some of the things that are here, 24 the parent company Boggs Group contains various things, 25 including Buckhorn Materials which is River Quarry,

1 Construction Materials Group, Buck -- Black Creek Sand Mine,
2 and affiliates of different Boggs Groups things.

3 So they were all at one time a large part of -- 4 somehow integrated or owned by the Boggs family or the Boggs 5 Group or Boggs Paving or Boggs dynasty in one way or another.

6 Then, Your Honor, we received various presentations.
7 This one is what I've marked as Government's Exhibit 401.
8 This is the Boggs Paving consolidated financials for 2012. We 9 got these from the defendants. And I would note that it's 10 Boggs Paving and Affiliates Consolidated Financial Statements.

11 Another part of my confusion in this was that when 12 Boggs Paving was doing business, it filed one set of financial 13 statements because they were all interrelated. And indeed, 14 some of the various things that were complained about in the 15 government's brief are, for instance, all of these 16 corporations had a revolving line of credit with Caterpillar.
17 They were all cross-collateralized and owed to one another in 18 one way or another. And the deal was that if you kill one of 19 them, you kill all of them, and we couldn't possibly have 20 moved forward with that without jeopardizing jobs and the 21 company itself.

22 One of the big things that it had going for it, 23 though, was the Monroe bypass. Monroe bypass was a 300 24 million -- and it still is -- a $300 million construction 25 project of which Boggs Paving, Inc., is one-third of a

1 co-venture and stands to gain a hundred million dollars out of 2 it to this day.

3 Now, one of the things I will take issue with the 4 defense -- with the defense's brief on is this, is they're 5 saying that no matter what happens here, that Boggs Paving has 6 no interest, no money, no nothing. But one thing it does have 7 is it still has that Boggs Paving -- that Monroe bypass 8 contract.

9 And indeed, I was going to show the Court what we 10 just received from the defense in a request for -- which is 11 the Monroe bypass subcontract agreement for a hundred million 12 dollars. And it's dated, if you'll note, Your Honor, 13 October 25th, 2015. The State of North Carolina was required 14 to issue this contract because it had originally contracted 15 with Boggs Paving, Inc., well before it became disbarred and 16 before it was indicted. And due to environmental litigation 17 involving the Monroe bypass, the project was delayed for 18 several years.

19 Now, one of the things is, is that this corporation 20 might have -- there might be some limits on the ability of the 21 corporation to hire people who are convicted felons or 22 debarred, but the company still has the contract. Still has 23 the contract to this day. Just awarded to it. And there's 24 nothing the State of North Carolina can do about that because 25 it was awarded before the debarment.

1           So going forward, Boggs Paving, Inc., I think, is 2 going to be able to afford a measly $500,000 fine as a result 3 of at least maybe a little cut of its hundred million dollar 4 deal with the State of North Carolina for a contract that was 5 begun while it was cheating but before it got caught.

6           And, Your Honor, the argument for a maximum fine -- 7 and if I might show the Court one more exhibit. This is 8 actually something I think the defense would show you as well.

9           And this is their diagram of how the company was 10 split up afterwards. And if you look at it, at one point 11 where Lynches River sits today -- and this is a company that's 12 owned for the benefit of the Boggs family. In other words, 13 they -- Mr. Boggs -- Mr. Drew Boggs, the defendant here, still 14 owns Boggs Paving, Inc., still is in control of it. And 15 indeed, we have documents that would show transferred assets, 16 about $600,000 worth of assets from it to a company called -- 17 if I can get it right. Make sure I've got that. One minute, 18 Your Honor. I don't want to get it wrong.

19           Buffalo Creek Investments. And we received 20 documents when we subpoenaed Buffalo Creek -- you'll notice in 21 the defense reply that it says that certain high dollar 22 equipment from, we allege, the assets of Mr. Boggs that caused 23 some of the assets of Boggs Paving, Inc., to be transferred to 24 Lynches River. And they said, Oh, that can't possibly be 25 true. And he's right to one degree. What happened is

1 Mr. Boggs transferred the equipment to the Buffalo Creek 2 Investments which sold it, and on the very same day leased it
3 to Lynches River for a low profit.

4           So I think what they said is -- in any event, so
5 there you go. So I think that at least that amount of money 6 was transferred -- those assets were transferred. And even in 7 its own assessment, it says that as soon as it gets done doing 8 business, it's going to be out of business and then Lynches 9 River is going to take over whatever Boggs Paving used to do.
10 Of course, it's going to be doing business with Boggs 11 Transport, Inc. And you heard Mr. Bell talk about its 12 involvement. We didn't indict every single corporation, shame
13 on us. But Boggs -- of course, Pork Chop worked for Boggs 14 Transport, Inc., and directed the hauling in this case. Some 15 of the hauling was done by the Boggs Material Corp. So none 16 of these other corporations have clean hands, but they aren't 17 indicted. They're still eligible to do business. And of 18 course, Lynches River is there and it is what it is. It's a 19 legal entity created. And according to the State of South 20 Carolina, at least -- this was attached to us -- it is legally 21 entitled to do business as an entity. And Your Honor has this 22 as part of the government's pleadings.

23           I would note a couple of things in this report
24 because, not surprisingly, once it became known that Lynches 25 River was really made up of 90 percent of ownership of trust

1 created by the Boggs family, we said, Well, what kind of 2 punishment is that if they're allowed to do business simply 3 under another name? And then there was a long investigation 4 and they were found to be independently separate. And in 5 fact, if you'll see -- and I want to make sure I'm clear on 6 this -- that the company is run by Thad Preslar. Now, Thad 7 Preslar was a former project manager for Boggs Paving, Inc.
8 But the two corporations and the two trusts that run that are 9 now obviously different people. And purportedly Mr. Boggs and 10 his brother, who is not charged in this case but is disbarred 11 because of his association with the paving company, have 12 nothing to do with it.

13 But a couple of things about that, Your Honor. And 14 I would note this because I think it's important to note that 15 the assets of -- where the assets are going. And I think if 16 we look at the paragraph that I have kind of outlined here -- 17 and the State of South Carolina released the IG report.

18 Regardless of the strict legal -- legal 19 interpretation of the debarment laws and regulations, a 20 derivative effect or benefit under debarments is on the 21 deterrent effect on wrongdoing in the South Carolina
22 Department of Transportation procurements. For a road 23 construction vendor, the risk of losing the right to conduct 24 business with the South Carolina DOT on any project would 25 likely be terminal for many companies, which clearly has a

1 deterrent value. The complainants in this case that were 2 competitors of Boggs Paving, Inc., and Lynches River who were 3 competing for contracts complained that -- they certainly 4 raised the issue of Boggs Paving, Inc., escaping the full 5 consequences of the state's debarment regulations by 6 establishing Lynches River to do business with the South 7 Carolina Department of Transportation.

8           And they asked, and this is a good question, where 9 is the deterrent value, or fairness, when a debarred wrongdoer 10 apparently can materially use the same debarred company's 11 assets and business operations in a new company or trust which 12 continues to indirectly benefit the wrongdoer by channeling 13 wealth to close family? And that's exactly what's happened 14 here, Your Honor.

15           For those reasons we think that any wealth -- or the 16 maximum extent to which the Court can fine Boggs Paving, which 17 in this case is the $500,000 statutory maximum, should be the 18 fine that's imposed in order to promote respect for the law 19 and to be sure that the company is not simply -- does not 20 simply benefit from its wrongdoing.

21           And I'd end with this note. When we were 22 negotiating this case -- and I only bring this up because the 23 defense in this case included a letter from the plea
24 negotiations. It was noted that one of the things the company 25 could have done or might have done is negotiate with its

1 creditors because of the violation of its negative covenants.
2 It can't break the law and still borrow money. It was having 3 trouble raising cash. It was having a lot of trouble doing a 4 lot of things because of the government's indictment.

5 But one of the things that it could have done with 6 its money was to implement a compliance program. It could 7 have been Boggs Paving instead of Lynches River standing here
8 today. The Court could have imposed a probationary sentence.
9 It could have imposed a special master. They were going to 10 hire a clean -- quote, clean president to run the company the 11 way it should be run. But instead what happened was, is -- 12 unknown to the government, what happened was the company 13 simply pled guilty. It would not agree to a plea agreement 14 because there were two provisions in it. One, you can't hire 15 felons and, two, you can't dissipate the company's assets.
16 That being unacceptable, the company pled guilty without a 17 plea agreement. The government accepted the fait accompli 18 that it was and here we are.

19 So given all of that, Your Honor, we suggest that 20 the maximum fine in this particular case, which should be like 21 in the millions so that the company doesn't benefit by the 22 fact that it's going to reap a hundred million dollars from 23 the State of North Carolina. But the most this Court, I 24 think, can do under its present ruling given there's the 25 alternate fine which would be based on pecuniary gain or

1 pecuniary loss is $500,000. So I think that after that, 2 there's not a lot to argue about.

3 MR. GALYEAN: Well, obviously, Your Honor, we would 4 disagree. Boggs Paving has been entirely consistent with the 5 government from the very beginning of this process on what a 6 detrimental impact the indictment or any proceedings even like 7 it would have on Boggs Paving.

8 From the very beginning Boggs Paving has informed 9 the government that any indictment or other action would lead 10 to an immediate suspension of its ongoing bidding privileges 11 with the South Carolina Department of Transportation and the 12 North Carolina Department of Transportation.

13 We also indicated that that would mean that as a -- 14 as an ongoing enterprise, that would be a severe threat to the 15 continuing operations of Boggs Paving and also its affiliate 16 enterprises.

17 I think, Your Honor, there have been a number of 18 statements regarding the assets of Boggs Paving. I think the 19 best thing to do is to tell you from -- for you to hear a 20 witness by the name of Chad Warpula. He's the current trustee 21 of Lynches River. He can give you detail by chapter and verse 22 of how Boggs Transport and Boggs Materials were taken and 23 molded into another company and how Chris Boggs and Drew Boggs 24 have nothing to do with that company because of the structure 25 thereof. And also how none of the assets from Boggs Paving

1 have been dissipated in any way nor have they been sold to 2 finance Lynches River.

3 So at this time, Your Honor, we would call Chad 4 Warpula to the stand.

5 CHAD WARPULA, DEFENDANT BOGGS PAVING'S WITNESS, SWORN,

6 DIRECT EXAMINATION

7 BY MR. GALYEAN:

8 Q. Mr. Warpula, I apologize, I was mispronouncing your name.

9 A. That's all right.

10 Q. Could you tell the Court -- could you state your name for 11 the record and tell the Court where you work.

12 A. Chad Warpula. I'm a partner at Troutman Sanders, a law 13 firm here in town.

14 Q. What is your involvement with the current case regarding 15 Lynches River?

16 A. I am corporate counsel for Lynches River Contracting, 17 Boggs Materials, and Boggs Transport. I'm also a trustee of 18 Lynches River Trust.

19 Q. And can you tell me how that relationship came to be.

20 A. Yes. When I found out that Boggs Paving and Drew Boggs
21 had been debarred, my client at that time was Boggs Materials.
22 And so I met with Chris Boggs and said we need to separate my 23 client Boggs Materials from Drew Boggs and Boggs Paving 24 because if they have any affiliation with them, then it taints 25 Boggs Materials' ability to continue forward with its

CHAD WARPULA - DIRECT

1 employees and assets.

2 From that point we discussed different operation options
3 to separate Boggs Materials and Boggs Transport from Boggs
4 Paving. As was explained before, they were part of a bigger 5 group and my role was to separate materials and transport from 6 Boggs Paving.

7 Q. And what steps did you take toward that end?

8 A. There were two trusts that were set up, two irrevocable 9 grantor trusts that were established and Drew and Chris -- 10 even though Chris wasn't indicted, I had Chris quarantined as 11 well. And I said, I don't want materials or transport to have 12 anything to do with either Drew or Chris or Boggs Paving. So 13 we set up two separate trusts. They're grantor -- irrevocable 14 grantor trusts which means Drew and Chris put the entities 15 into those trusts and they can never get them out.

16 And from there the trusts are separate, independent legal 17 entities; have separate, independent trustees to manage those 18 entities going forward. And that effectively, from legal, 19 tax, financial accounting, operational control purposes
20 separates Boggs Materials and Boggs Transport from Drew Boggs, 21 Chris Boggs, and Boggs Paving.

22 Q. You heard the government's statement earlier. Have any 23 assets of Boggs Paving been used to finance or otherwise 24 create an obligation between Boggs Paving and the Lynches 25 River entities?

CHAD WARPULA - DIRECT

1 A. No, and that's my role. As counsel to Boggs Materials, 2 to Boggs Transport, and to Lynches River, I can't have a 3 conflict of interest. If Drew Boggs, Chris Boggs or Boggs 4 Paving has any direct affiliation or connection with any of my 5 clients, then it taints them. And I ethically have sworn to 6 keep that line clean and make sure there is no affiliation
7 between the two. I'm not aware of any assets that have gone 8 directly from Boggs Paving to Lynches River.

9 I will speak to the Buffalo Creek transaction, if I can.

10 Q. Please do.

11 A. So Thad Preslar and Lee Sanders at Lynches River
12 contacted me and said, We need assets. We're getting jobs.
13 We need to pave roads. We need assets.

14 And I said, You're not buying those from Boggs Paving. I 15 don't want you to talk to Drew or Chris or Boggs Paving. I 16 don't want you to negotiate. I'm not allowing you to have any 17 direct connection with them.

18 And they said, We've got a gentleman who owns Buffalo 19 Creek Investments who may be able to help us. He's in the 20 business of finding used equipment and he made -- he has 21 relationships with people that have used equipment.

22 So from there Chad Whitley, I believe is his name, he 23 reached out to Boggs Paving as well as other vendors and found 24 certain pieces of equipment. With respect to the equipment 25 that was purchased from Boggs Paving, there was an appraisal

CHAD WARPULA - DIRECT

1 that was obtained. And I believe Chad would testify he paid 2 more than the appraised value, what he thought it was worth
3 for that equipment. And then he leased it or did a long-term 4 lease under a note with Boggs -- with Lynches River to get 5 them the equipment. He also did that with other vendors. He 6 didn't only buy assets.

7 And the reason we had the appraisal is because we wanted
8 to make sure that it was completely above board. And if you 9 think about these assets, they're not being used on Boggs
10 Paving's yard. They're getting dilapidated. They're rusting.
11 If you don't use this equipment every day, it's going to break 12 down. You won't be able to sell it except for pennies on the 13 dollar. And so the best thing for Boggs Paving to do was to 14 sell it, liquidate it, bring the cash in, which doesn't get 15 dilapidated, it doesn't rust. It can sit in a bank account 16 and be used to satisfy whatever it needs to.

17 Q. Did any of that cash from that sale that flowed to Boggs 18 Paving, did any of that cash subsequently find its way to 19 Lynches River's operations?

20 A. Not at all, no.

21 Q. What is the current status of Lynches River? What jobs 22 are you operating on?

23 A. I'm not -- I don't have the list in front of me of the 24 jobs, but I know they're actively engaged in North Carolina, 25 South Carolina, and federally funded jobs. And at the time

CHAD WARPULA - DIRECT

1 when we bid those jobs, North Carolina, South Carolina DOT, 2 and USDOT looked heavily into Lynches River. They hired their 3 own law firm. They had their own attorneys look at it. We 4 delivered thousands of pages of documents as to the formation 5 of the trust for Lynches River. They asked a number of 6 questions. We met with them repeatedly.

7 And at the end of that, they determined there was no
8 control by Drew or Chris. There was no financial impact.
9 There was no oversight or involvement. That we had 10 sufficiently quarantined Drew, Chris, and Boggs Paving so 11 they've got no connection with Lynches River, Boggs Materials 12 or Boggs Transport.

13 Q. Did those government entities that looked at this 14 structure and the current status of it, did they request any 15 changes to the structure or even make any requests of how 16 Lynches River would operate in the future?

17 A. They did not. Richardson Plowden was the law firm for 18 South Carolina DOT. And they said, It's our job to find how 19 Drew, Chris, and Boggs Paving are somehow related. And at the 20 end of the investigation, they said, We can't find any 21 connection between the two at all. As hard as we tried to 22 find it, we can't find any connection at all.

23 Q. Could you tell us who the beneficiaries of the trust of 24 Lynches River are.

25 A. Sure. It's the children of Drew Boggs and the children

CHAD WARPULA - DIRECT

1 of Chris Boggs. And as a beneficiary, I know they're family
2 and they're related to Chris and Drew, but they have no
3 ability to control the trusts whatsoever. It's kind of like 4 being a beneficiary under a will. You sit there with your 5 hands open and you get what's given to you. So even though 6 it's family, they've got no ability to control.

7 And the element in South Carolina, North Carolina, and 8 USDOT is whether a debarred person controls or has oversight.
9 And in the structure that we've put together, which has been 10 blessed by all the authorities, there's no control whatsoever.

11 And it's important to note that the assets of the trust 12 can't go up. They can only go from the children down to their 13 descendents. The assets cannot revert back to the donor.
14 They can't go to their wives. They can't go to sisters, to 15 parents, to siblings. They can only go from the children down 16 to the future generations.

17 Q. Regarding the -- going back to the sale of the Boggs 18 Paving equipment. Are you familiar with what happened with 19 the proceeds of that sale?

20 A. Personally I'm not. I don't represent Boggs Paving.

21 Q. Okay. Were you directed to send payment in different 22 installments to Black Creek?

23 A. There's an installment note where Lynches River is paid 24 in installments, but I wasn't directed by -- that's the terms 25 we negotiated with Buffalo Creek.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. And those were directly with Buffalo Creek.

2 A. That's correct. We didn't have any negotiations with 3 Boggs Paving, Drew Boggs or Chris Boggs at all.

4 MR. GALYEAN: Nothing further, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Cross examination.

6 MR. SAVAGE: Yes.

7 CROSS EXAMINATION

8 BY MR. SAVAGE:

9 Q. You mentioned that there were no affiliations at all 10 between Lynches River and Boggs Paving, Inc.; is that right?

11 A. That's correct.

12 Q. Have you reviewed the South Carolina Inspector General's 13 Report on this issue?

14 A. I have.

15 Q. Okay. There were a number of coincidences that they 16 found when they conducted their investigation even though they 17 came out in your favor. And I'd point out if you could -- do 18 you see the last line of the bullets there? Oops, hang on one 19 second. There we go.

20 And this would be one of the last -- page 8 of the 21 report. So facts giving pause to an understanding of the 22 substance of Lynches River versus its form in distinguishing 23 Lynches River from Boggs Paving, Inc., included, would you 24 read that bullet.

25 A. "When interviewing the site supervisor for one of the

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 current Boggs projects with South Carolina DOT, he stated
2 several crews had already moved over to LRC and another crew
3 stated they would be 'switched over' to LRC soon."

4 Q. Okay. So obviously, there's communication between at 5 least your principals at Lynches River and the people who used 6 to be at Boggs Paving. There was a finding, at least in an 7 interview by the IG, that they were moving the business over.
8 Are they?

9 A. Lynches River has accepted as employees certain employees 10 that had resigned from Boggs Paving. There has never been 11 overlapping employment where someone is employed at Boggs
12 Paving and Lynches River at the same time.

13 Q. Did Lynches River conduct any investigation before hiring 14 those employees to find out whether they were involved in the 15 DBE contracting fraud that was involved in this case?

16 A. Yes. At Lynches River we've been very strict. We're not 17 going to hire anyone that's been involved in the DBE, anyone 18 that's indicted, anyone that's been criminally charged. We 19 have very strict protocol. And the employees that are in 20 charge, Thad Preslar and Lee Sanders, have been very clear we 21 do not want anything to do with Boggs Paving. We're a brand 22 new company. We have new policies, new procedures. We do not 23 want to continue the culture --

24 Q. Well, did Thad Preslar tell you whether or not he had 25 been interviewed, say, by government agents in the case

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 involving Boggs Paving?

2 A. He had been interviewed, but he has not been charged to 3 my knowledge.

4 Q. Well, did he tell you whether or not he knew of the DBE 5 fraud involving Boggs Paving, Inc.?

6 A. He knew about it, thus his resolve not to continue it.

7 Q. Okay. Did he tell you whether or not he did anything 8 about it while he knew about it as an employee of Boggs
9 Paving?

10 A. He didn't -- that didn't come up.

11 Q. So you didn't ask him, like, what was your involvement?
12 Did you run things through the DBE account at Boggs Paving?
13 What was your involvement in that? You didn't go into any of 14 that with him?

15 A. He was a gentleman in a truck and he drove up and down 16 the highways making sure jobs were done. He was a project 17 manager.

18 Q. Who appointed him as the 5 percent owner and president of 19 Lynches River?

20 A. Both he and Lee Sanders bought in as a 5 percent owner of 21 Lynches River, and that was myself and the other trustee 22 Ingram Walters.

23 Q. And do you know where his 5 percent came from?

24 A. He borrowed the funds, and there's a promissory note 25 where he borrowed those from Lynches River, which is standard.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 When you buy in as an employee, you don't have to displace the 2 cash immediately.

3 Q. Okay. And who loaned him the money to buy into the 4 5 percent?

5 A. Lynches River.

6 Q. Okay. So Lynches River, former employee of Boggs Paving 7 Inc., along with Lee Sanders, they now own 10 percent, but 8 Lynches River loaned them the money so they could own 9 10 percent and be the head of it.

10 A. That's very standard.

11 Q. That's what happened, right?

12 A. Correct.

13 Q. Okay. One of the other things on the top bullet that the 14 the IG noted was, if you can read the top bullet there?

15 A. The phone number -- the highlighted part or the first 16 bullet?

17 Q. Just the first bullet, I'm sorry.

18 A. "The phone number listed on LRC's prequalification 19 application was registered to Boggs Transport, Inc."

20 Q. So have you changed the phone number yet? If you call 21 Boggs Paving, do you answer Lynches Transport?

22 A. No. That says Boggs Transport, not Boggs Paving.

23 Q. Boggs Transport.

24 A. Boggs Transport, Boggs Materials, and Lynches River share 25 the same office and the same phone number, as they can.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. And did they do that when they filed their joint 2 financial statements with Boggs Group?

3 A. That was in 2012. We separated them in the beginning of 4 2015.

5 Q. Okay. So it would be accurate to say that before they 6 were, quote, separated, it was one entity they operated 7 together.

8 A. Materials produced rock, transport transported it, paving
9 laid it down until we separated the entities, which I 10 testified was my position to separate materials and transport 11 from paving.

12 Q. And the beneficiary of this would be the family of the 13 defendant in this case -- at least half of that would be the 14 family of the defendant in this case Drew Boggs.

15 A. Not the family. The linear descendents, the children.

16 Q. Well, that would include people in his family, would it 17 not?

18 A. It includes -- but his family also includes his wife and 19 his parents and his siblings, which it does not.

20 Q. His children.

21 A. His children only.

22 Q. Okay. And does he still live with his children?

23 A. He does.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. But the children can't control the trust.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. I understand. Now, you mentioned that the Boggs Paving, 2 Inc., equipment was just simply rotting away somewhere. How 3 do you know that?

4 A. I know that from Thad Preslar who said, We need to 5 identify a couple of pavers. And before I left Boggs Paving, 6 these pavers were out in the back yard not being used.

7 Q. And who currently is running Boggs Paving, if you know?

8 A. No idea.

9 Q. Pardon me?

10 A. I have no idea.

11 Q. Well, you were just in the courtroom today when Mr. Drew 12 Boggs stood up as its chief executive and acknowledged that it 13 pled guilty.

14 A. Other than Friday, today is my first day having 15 involvement with this case. Boggs Paving and Drew Boggs are 16 not my clients.

17 Q. Did Boggs Materials have any interest in an entity by the 18 name of Buckhorn?

19 A. It did.

20 Q. What was its interest?

21 A. I believe it owned 50 percent together with a joint 22 venture partner named A Mining Group.

23 Q. Did it also -- are you also familiar with a company 24 called Construction Materials Group, LLC?

25 A. Yes.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. What is that?

2 A. I believe that owned the Black Creek Sand Mine.

3 Q. Okay. And you're familiar with the fact that they merged 4 together on the -- that Buckhorn and Construction Materials
5 Group were merged into one company?

6 A. What's the date of that merger? I can't see.

7 Q. Well, let me show you the second page. I was hoping you 8 would ask that.

9 Can you read that?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. What is the date of that?

12 A. June 9th, 2014.

13 Q. Okay. Is that about the same date that Construction 14 Materials sold its interest in the sand mine to another 15 conglomerate named Summit?

16 A. I believe Summit bought Buckhorn and CMG and merged them 17 the same day. We did not merge the entities.

18 Q. And the assets from that transaction, did that go to pay 19 the bills and -- any of the bills or expenses of Boggs Group 20 in any way?

21 A. I have no idea.

22 Q. Okay. Did you know that $600,000 of it went into the 23 Boggs family home, which is -- we've marked as Government's 24 Exhibit 16?

25 A. No.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. Directly into the defendant's checking account and in to 2 pay off his mortgage.

3 A. No.

4 Q. Would that be money that could have been used by the 5 trust?

6 A. That was well before the trusts were formed.

7 Q. Okay. That would have been money -- you were part of 8 Boggs Materials, money that could have been used by Boggs 9 Materials.

10 A. It could have been.

11 Q. Okay.

12 A. It's not uncommon for an LLC to distribute money to its 13 owners.

14 Q. Okay. You're right, there is nothing illegal about that.

15 A. Right.

16 Q. Now, who paid the -- sounds like a lot of work went into 17 creating these trusts. Who paid the fees for the -- your law 18 firm in creating these trusts?

19 A. Boggs Materials.

20 Q. Okay. And at the time who was in charge of Boggs 21 Materials and who directed that the payment be made?

22 A. Chuck Steele assumed management and became the president 23 of Boggs Materials.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. He approved all our invoices.

CHAD WARPULA - CROSS

1 Q. Now, are you familiar at all with the joint financial 2 statements of Boggs Group before it was separated?

3 A. I'm not other than the fact you mentioned it.

4 Q. Would you be surprise to know it paid some $3 million in 5 legal fees in 2012?

6 A. That was before my time.

7 MR. SAVAGE: Okay. No further questions, Your 8 Honor.

9 THE COURT: Any redirect?

10 MR. GALYEAN: No, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. You may come 12 down.

13 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

14 (Witness stepped down.)

15 THE COURT: Further evidence?

16 MR. GALYEAN: No further evidence, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Any further evidence from the 18 government?

19 MR. SAVAGE: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Any further argument from the government 21 on sentencing?

22 MR. SAVAGE: No, Your Honor.

23 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, can I have one moment, 24 please?

25 THE COURT: Yes.

1 MR. GALYEAN: Thank you.

2 (Counsel for the defendant conferred.)

3 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, just two brief further 4 points regarding the argument.

5 There was much made a moment ago of the sale of the 6 sand mine and the proceeds that went from that to Mr. Boggs'
7 home. That has nothing to do with Boggs Paving. Boggs Paving 8 didn't have an interest in that sand mine. Therefore, 9 Mr. Bell is going to cover that in just a few minutes.

10 Mr. Orso can speak to the current status of Boggs
11 Paving --

12 THE COURT: Who is Ken Lucas? Ken Lucas castle.
13 Who is Ken Lucas? I know Ken Bell. I don't know Ken Lucas.

14 MR. SAVAGE: Used to be a Carolina Panther, Your 15 Honor.

16 THE COURT: Used to be what?

17 MR. SAVAGE: Carolina Panther. No longer.

18 THE COURT: And that home was sold to the Boggs.

19 MR. SAVAGE: Yes.

20 THE COURT: I just wondered why it said Ken Lucas on 21 there.

22 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, Mr. Orso can speak to the 23 current status of Boggs Paving regarding the Monroe bypass 24 job. There are additional facts that the government may not 25 be aware of. I'll turn it over to Mr. Orso.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. ORSO: Thanks, Your Honor. I know Mr. Bell has 3 done most of the talking, but this is something that I know 4 more than he does about for once.

5 So as far as the hundred million dollar subcontract 6 on the Monroe bypass that the government keeps speaking of to 7 Boggs Paving which was signed in October, that was a contract 8 that the state needed to be signed urgently because of some 9 emergency detour work that needed to be done. There was no 10 contractor that was able to --

11 THE COURT: I don't think they're alleging there was 12 anything wrong about signing that. I think they're just 13 alleging there's an asset there that can be --

14 MR. ORSO: Okay. I'm getting to that.

15 THE COURT: -- used. I don't think they're saying 16 there's anything wrong with that.

17 MR. ORSO: Pursuant to the supplemental agreement, 18 Supplemental Agreement 39 on the Monroe bypass, Boggs Paving 19 cannot going forward have a role in that or work on that 20 project. So what Boggs Paving can do and is planning to do in 21 the next couple of weeks is a little bit of that detour work 22 before that entire subcontract gets assigned to another 23 contractor that's not affiliated with or related to Boggs
24 Paving.

25 THE COURT: Well, they signed a contract. Don't

1 they owe you some money or allow you to sell the contract?

2 MR. ORSO: Boggs Paving may get up to about a 3 hundred or two hundred thousand dollars for the detour work 4 but nothing more on that contract.

5 MR. SAVAGE: There you go.

6 THE COURT: What about the -- what about the 7 contract itself? They signed a hundred million dollar 8 contract. Are you going to -- are you going to sell the 9 contract?

10 MR. ORSO: Not sell it, just assign it under the 11 terms of the supplemental agreement. They don't have an 12 interest in those further funds. They're not able to work on 13 the project or to gain anything further from it.

14 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, that's all Boggs Paving 15 has.

16 THE COURT: Mr. Savage, anything else about assets?

17 MR. SAVAGE: No, Your Honor. Apparently they have 18 money from the sale of equipment they sold in May. They have 19 apparently a couple hundred thousand coming from the little 20 hundred million dollar contract that they have. So clearly 21 there is at least a half million dollars there that can be 22 used to pay the fine in this case. And I think that would be 23 a deterrent. And it's not salting the earth. This is a 24 legitimate, I think, reasonable fine given the circumstances.

25 MR. GALYEAN: Your Honor, just briefly regarding

1 that. The sale of that equipment did take place. However, 2 that equipment was guaranteed by a company called Caterpillar 3 Financial. The majority of the proceeds of that sale went to 4 Caterpillar.

5 THE COURT: I'm sure -- I read a letter somebody 6 loaned them 15 million at some point.

7 MR. GALYEAN: That's correct, Your Honor. And that 8 is -- that is a good example of what happened with the entire 9 company as we made the government aware very early on in the 10 process. The majority of the equipment was heavily leveraged, 11 as was the asphalt plants and everything else. The problem 12 with stopping the flow of jobs to the company resulted in most 13 of the equipment and asphalt plants and all the other major 14 assets of the company having to be liquidated. As the jobs 15 they had already obligated to complete, as those jobs were 16 completed, the company began selling off assets, then had to 17 lay off employees, and is gradually winding down its 18 operations. There's not been any money that's flowed into 19 these other companies. It's not dissipating its assets. It's 20 paying its creditors. Indeed, at the end of the day, both 21 Mr. Drew Boggs and Chris Boggs will have to come out of pocket 22 a substantial amount of money to complete the projects such 23 that the surety would not be able to come back against them 24 because they are personally liable to the surety.

25 THE COURT: And I'll listen to all that with regard

1 to Mr. Boggs when the time comes with regard to his fine.

2 MR. GALYEAN: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

3 MR. SAVAGE: Nothing further, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: All right. Well, I do think that just 5 as the -- just as with all of these others, that the dollar 6 amount, the way that the dollar plays out in this and the fact 7 that the government -- since there was absolutely no loss for 8 the government and because of the way the guidelines played, 9 that a defendant gets credit for the costs of doing things, 10 that the result is that the -- this fine level under 11 represents the harm in this case. And therefore, the Court 12 will vary upward -- is it four levels, Mr. Savage?

13 MR. SAVAGE: Your Honor, I believe it was 18 -- it 14 was -- we're asking that the Court go to base fine level 18.

15 MR. BAKER: It was a seven level --

16 THE COURT: Seven levels. Okay. The Court will 17 vary up seven levels to base fine level 18 using the 1.4
18 multiplier and will impose a fine of $500,000 on Boggs Paving.

19 MR. SAVAGE: That might be slightly more than 1.4.
20 I think, Your Honor, you'd have to go to 1.5. Otherwise, you 21 would leave $10,000 on the table.

22 THE COURT: 1.4 times 350. Got to do more of this 23 math than I wanted to do. I should have gone to medical 24 school if I had to do this much math.

25 MR. BAKER: Times 1.4 will be 490,000.

1           THE COURT: Okay. Well, the Court will do 1.5 and 2 impose the maximum fine of $500,000 in this case. The Court 3 believes under all the 3553 factors that is appropriate in 4 that the resulting harm is far greater than what happens when 5 the loss is as low as this loss was under the guidelines as 6 the Court interprets them. And I think clearly that's what 7 they are. If I had reasonably been able to find another way, 8 I can tell you I would have. I think that's the correct way 9 to do it. I think the defense was right on this one.

10           All right. Anything else with regard to the company 11 other than I'm assuming the company can appeal this sentence 12 to the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals. Any appeal must be 13 done within 14 days and must be done in writing. If the 14 company cannot afford an attorney --

15           MR. SAVAGE: And, Your Honor, just to be sure that 16 the record is clear for the Fourth Circuit should it come up 17 because there is no plea agreement in this case, the Court did 18 consider probation in this case and found that it would not be 19 a worthwhile exercise.

20           THE COURT: How in the world -- you can't send them
21 to prison. You can't --

22           MR. SAVAGE: Well, you could impose a special master 23 or --

24           THE COURT: Oh, Lord. Yeah, it's not -- no.

25           MR. SAVAGE: And the Court also found, just for the 1 record, that restitution or remediation was not a factor in 2 this case.

3 THE COURT: No, the government is not asking for 4 restitution.

5 MR. SAVAGE: That's correct, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: There is no restitution.

7 MR. SAVAGE: I'm just asking the Court to make the 8 finding.

9 THE COURT: That's correct. Fine is the only way --

10 MR. SAVAGE: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: -- to punish the corporation in this 12 case and the Court has done that.

13 MR. SAVAGE: Thank you.

14 THE COURT: Okay. You may appeal to the Fourth
15 Circuit Court of Appeals. Any appeal must be done within 14 16 days and must be done in writing. If you cannot afford to 17 appeal, you may appeal at government expense. I would suggest 18 that you speak with counsel about whether or not you wish to 19 appeal this case.

20 Mr. Boggs, do you understand your right to appeal on 21 behalf of the corporation?

22 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. This matter is 24 concluded.

25 THE CLERK: Remaining counts.

1           THE COURT: Are the remaining counts against the 2 corporation being dismissed?

3           MS. SUGAR: I believe we already dismissed them.
4 Because they just pled straight up to count one, it remained 5 on the Court's docket until we moved to dismiss them some time
6 ago. But if that is incorrect, then I would move to dismiss 7 them out of an abundance of caution.

8           THE COURT: All right. If they are not dismissed, 9 let them be dismissed.

10          THE CLERK: Thank you.

11          THE COURT: Okay.

12          (End of proceedings at 4:00 p.m.)

13          THE COURT: All right. United States versus Carl 14 Andrew Boggs, III.

15          Is defendant ready?

16          MR. BELL: Yes, Your Honor.

17          THE COURT: Is the government ready?

18          MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

19          THE COURT: All right. Mr. Boggs, do you recall 20 appearing before a United States magistrate judge for the 21 purpose of entering a plea of guilty in this case?

22          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, sir.

23          THE COURT: Do you remember being placed under oath
24 at that time?

25          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Do you remember answering the questions
2 of the judge?

3           DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

4           THE COURT: Do you remember signing a plea
5 transcript form indicating your answers were true and correct 6 at the time they were given?

7           DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

8           THE COURT: Did you tell the judge the truth that 9 day?

10          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

11          THE COURT: If I were to ask you the same questions
12 today, would your answers be the same?

13          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

14          THE COURT: Mr. Bell, do you believe your client 15 understood fully the questions the magistrate judge asked at 16 the Rule 11 hearing?

17          MR. BELL: I do.

18          THE COURT: Thank you.

19          Mr. Boggs, did you answer the questions the way you
20 did and are you going forward with your guilty plea today
21 because you did commit the crime you're pleading guilty to?

22          DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

23          THE COURT: Thank you. Then based upon those 24 representations and the answers given by the defendant at the 25 Rule 11 hearing before the magistrate judge, the Court affirms

1 the judge's finding that the defendant's plea was knowingly
2 and voluntarily made. The Court also affirms the judge's 3 finding that the defendant understood the charges, the 4 potential penalties and the consequences of his plea.
5 Accordingly, the Court affirms the magistrate judge's
6 acceptance of the defendant's plea of guilty at the Rule 11 7 hearing and now and herein accepts same.

8 Ms. Sugar, would the government have a factual
9 basis?

10 MS. SUGAR: I'm sorry, Your Honor?

11 THE COURT: Would you have a factual basis? I know 12 Mr. Savage was distracting you.

13 MS. SUGAR: I'm sorry, Your Honor. The parties 14 would stipulate to the factual basis as set forth in the filed 15 factual basis and as set forth in the presentence report.

16 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Bell?

17 MR. BELL: We agree.

18 THE COURT: All right. Based upon that stipulation
19 and the offense conduct as set forth in the presentence
20 report, the defendant's plea of guilty before the magistrate 21 judge, and the defendant's admissions in open court today, the 22 Court finds there is a factual basis for the entry of the plea
23 of guilty and enters a verdict and judgment of guilty in this
24 case.

25 Now, Mr. Boggs, your case was referred to the United

1 States Probation Office for a presentence investigation and
2 the preparation of a presentence report. The Court has now
3 received that report. Have you read that report?

4 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Have you gone over that report with your 6 attorney?

7 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Do you now believe you understand the 9 contents of that report?

10 DEFENDANT BOGGS: I do, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Counsel, have one of you gone 12 over the presentence report with Mr. Boggs and do you believe 13 he understands the contents of that report?

14 MR. BELL: We have and we do.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

16 Are there any objections to the presentence report 17 which are still outstanding at this moment?

18 MR. BELL: No, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: From the government?

20 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Other than, I understand, the 22 loss issue that the government objects to.

23 Okay. Then the Court will adopt the information 24 contained in the presentence report for the purpose of 25 applying the guidelines with the exception of the loss amount

1 which the Court has found different than in the presentence 2 report.

3 Where are we with regard to Mr. Boggs now? Ross, is 4 he a 14 or a 13?

5 MR. BAKER: He's a 13, Your Honor, after acceptance.

6 THE COURT: Okay. After acceptance of 7 responsibility, the Court believes that the total offense 8 level would be 13, criminal history category would be I, and 9 the guideline sentencing range in this case would be 12 to 18 10 months.

11 Does the defense agree that that is the sentencing 12 range, the guideline sentencing range?

13 MR. BELL: We do, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Does the government agree?

15 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. I'll hear from the 17 government on punishment.

18 MS. SUGAR: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 Your Honor, the DBE fraud program has been talked 20 about a lot, but it's a program that's supposed to let the 21 little guy, the person who doesn't have as much of an 22 opportunity to get big government contracts in the door. To 23 take a small business, the American dream, raise it up. Get 24 them to be a part of the economy. To not have monopolies 25 where just the big guy, just the Walmart gets it and the mom

1 and pops can't compete. That's what the DBE program is about.

2           So it's very interesting that here the defendant 3 Drew Boggs is someone who got a construction business from his 4 father and has passed on through this dynasty trust the same 5 assets to his children, while Mr. Styx Cuthbertson is in the 6 same place he was at the beginning. And that's really 7 disturbing. And I think that that's really important for the 8 Court to consider in fashioning a sentence in light of the 9 3553(a) factors.

10           Now, certainly this is a white collar crime. As I 11 said earlier today, they didn't walk in every day and say, 12 Let's commit DBE fraud all day long. It was just part of what 13 they did, like in an accounting fraud case, like in a tax 14 fraud case, like in an environmental fraud case. But it was 15 an important part of what happened.

16           And we don't give white collar criminals a pass just 17 because most of what they do is sit behind a desk. We don't 18 want to continue the perception that the justice system favors 19 those with money, those with education, those with good 20 families. We have to treat white collar criminals and 21 consider their crime serious and give them punishments that 22 are not slap on the wrists, that are not just a pass, saying, 23 oh, it's just a desk thing.

24           This is a serious crime that involves lying over 25 years, lying in bids, lying in DBE reports, money laundering

1 $7 million. This was a complex scheme that involved nearly 2 every part of Boggs Paving from the project management to the 3 finance to the trucking. Everyone was involved to make it 4 work.

5 And I'm just going to put back up on the screen 6 Government's Exhibit 405. We've heard this defendant refer to 7 this as this is just the left hand not knowing what the right 8 hand is doing. And I submit to you, Your Honor, this is 9 exactly what that's not. This is the left hand knowing 10 exactly what the right hand and the left foot and the right 11 foot are doing to make the numbers match and to make this 12 work.

13 Year after year after year, despite being told by 14 North Carolina DOT you can't do it like this; despite being 15 told by South Carolina DOT you can't do it like this; moving 16 him to plant hauler so he would be less easy to see; putting 17 magnets on trucks so the people looking at the trucks wouldn't 18 know whose trucks they were; getting a subpoena, a federal 19 grand jury subpoena, and then bidding on a small business job 20 in Styx's name where every dime of that money went to Boggs 21 Paving and its affiliates.

22 This is not a regulatory offense, Your Honor.
23 $7 million in money laundering is not a regulatory offense.
24 This is conduct that took -- we know that that DBE bank 25 account had three different CFOs listed on it. This lasted a

1 long time.

2 Now, we also need to think about who's harmed and 3 the DBE program is certainly harmed and that's the government 4 victim in this case. But that's not the only harm here.
5 We've heard from legitimate DBE's during this case who talk 6 about how hard it was to get jobs because of things like this.

7 We've -- we know that there are other people who are 8 trying to play by the rules who can't get jobs because of 9 cheating. And we can't let that continue. Construction 10 companies around North Carolina and South Carolina, they need 11 to hear loud and clear that the U.S. Attorney's Office takes 12 this conduct seriously. We will investigate and we will 13 prosecute these matters and you will not walk away with a slap 14 on the wrist.

15 A lot of the defense filing in this case talks about 16 collateral consequences. Boggs Paving has ended. Well, they 17 still have a $107 million contract. And the assets of the 18 related companies have been sold for a trust for the children.
19 Mr. Boggs is not having any financial difficulties, I assure 20 you.

21 And the real consequences that I think we should 22 talk about are what about these five other people who now have 23 felony charges. What about everyone in this company who is 24 now marred by this conduct that was led by the defendant Drew 25 Boggs. Those are real -- those are real collateral

1 consequences that I think this Court needs to think about.

2           And I'm disturbed by the defendant blaming others.
3 If my supervisor took -- said, Oh, this ten years of contact 4 that involved -- conduct that involved everyone at my company, 5 but I didn't know about it, it was all Greg Tucker, it was all 6 Arnold Mann, she would be laughed at because it's offensive.
7 To blame the underlings is just not -- it's just not showing 8 much acceptance of responsibility. And it's certainly not 9 showing accountability.

10           And accountability is what this Court can do now.
11 Hold Drew Boggs accountable. Consider the seriousness of the 12 offense, respect for the law, and the need to deter others.

13           We would ask for the six-level upward departure that 14 we've asked for in the other cases which would result in a 15 level 19 and we believe that the high end sentence of 37 16 months is appropriate.

17           We also were concerned about the fine range in this 18 case. We were very limited in what to do to the company 19 because of the statutory max. We have a lot more room with 20 Drew Boggs and that's because he's pled guilty to money 21 laundering. So the Court could vary up as high as twice the 22 laundered funds, and we would ask that you do that. We think 23 that varying upward to a point where a fine equivalent to the 24 $3.7 million that was supposed to go to a legitimate DBE, that 25 was reported as having gone to Styx but mostly went into the 1 pockets of Boggs Paving, that that would be the appropriate 2 fine.

3 Mr. Savage showed you the joint financial 4 statements. And you simply can't say Boggs Transport and 5 Boggs Materials are separate. Those are still entities that 6 the defendant benefits from, benefited from money of, and that 7 had joint financial statements. We think that you have an 8 opportunity here to vary upward on the fine to send a message 9 that not only is jail time appropriate, but a substantial fine 10 should be imposed to reflect the seriousness of DBE fraud.

11 THE COURT: Do you agree with his financial 12 statement from the probation office? Have you looked at that?

13 MS. SUGAR: Well, there was also an amendment
14 submitted. I do know that Mr. Boggs has plenty of money. I 15 know that just three months ago he transferred a hundred 16 thousand dollars from one of the entities that's listed in -- 17 listed as one of his assets to a casino to gamble.

18 I'll mark this as Exhibit 21. This is a transfer 19 from KLJ Properties by Drew Boggs to Tribal Harrah's Casino
20 just in August of a hundred thousand dollars to gamble. So I 21 don't believe this is someone who has a financial -- who's 22 financially hurting. And this is someone who just paid 23 $600,000 off towards his mortgage. I think he has a 24 substantial ability to pay.

25 We have not thoroughly investigated his finances to 1 tell you every dime he has, but we don't -- we don't think 2 passing along all of your assets to your children and then 3 claiming it's an irrevocable trust should be a way to hide 4 from your obligations in this case.

5 THE COURT: Yeah. Mr. Bell, one question I have on 6 the assets. It shows a liability to Boggs Material for 7 3 million, but there's no -- there's no asset that goes with 8 that. What's that about?

9 MR. BELL: I'll have to take a look at that, Your 10 Honor. I'm not prepared right at this second to address that.

11 THE COURT: Okay. At some point I'd like to know 12 how they wound up owing Boggs Material 3 million without 13 anything corresponding to what they got for that.

14 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, we would note that the Boggs 15 Material and Boggs Transport are 3.5 million right there in 16 liabilities.

17 THE COURT: Right.

18 MS. SUGAR: Should be assets.

19 THE COURT: Well, there's a Boggs -- there's 20 Boggs -- let's see. Is there a Boggs Transport over here?

21 MR. BELL: We'll take a look at that while --

22 THE COURT: Yeah, I'm trying to figure out what the 23 real financial picture of the defendant is in fashioning an 24 appropriate fine.

25 MR. BELL: I understand, Your Honor.

1           THE COURT: Not an anticipatory one, but an 2 appropriate fine.

3           MR. BELL: Your Honor, I'd like to start by 4 introducing Drew's family who is here beginning with his wife 5 and two daughters, age 16 and 13, his father-in-law, and his 6 brother Chris, who is extremely affected by all of this as 7 well.

8           Your Honor, I keep having to talk about facts that 9 are brought up for the first time that aren't facts and 10 wouldn't have been presented to the Court if they'd just made 11 a phone call to me and asked about what's bothering them.

12           Like just that last comment about, Well, he has a 13 hundred thousand dollars that he can go out and gamble with.
14 There is a family real estate trust that Mr. Boggs owns about 15 10 percent of that made a loan to some friend of the family to 16 go gamble. It wasn't even his decision. Wasn't even his 17 money. Now, a phone call to me could have made that a little 18 more clear.

19           MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, Mr. -- Mr. Boggs' ID was 20 also in the materials provided by the casino. That does not 21 ring true to me at all.

22           THE COURT: It's not -- the main thing I'm trying to 23 find out is not what he's got -- not what he's blown at the 24 casino, but what he has in assets now. That's what my 25 questions are. What are his -- in trying to fashion whatever

1 the fine is going to be, I need -- I'd like as close to a real 2 financial picture as I can get.

3 MR. BELL: He and his brother Chris --

4 THE COURT: I don't mind -- I mean, he can use his 5 money for whatever he wants to.

6 MR. BELL: But he wasn't. That's my point.

7 THE COURT: I understand. But I'm just saying that 8 one was not creating any issue with me.

9 MR. BELL: All right.

10 THE COURT: I look at the total asset sheet because 11 there's a lot more people -- a lot more people to be dealt 12 with there than just him. He has family and that sort of 13 thing and, you know -- but he does have -- it is passing 14 through other generations. It's always good to have a daddy 15 or a granddaddy that makes money.

16 MR. BELL: Although in this case, Your Honor --

17 THE COURT: It's a lot easier to be born on third 18 base than hit the triple.

19 MR. BELL: That's the other point I was going to 20 make, that somehow this company, Boggs Paving, was given to 21 Chris and Drew by his dad. That's not right. As we said in 22 our sentencing memorandum, he and Chris went out and did this 23 on their own. They bought their first asphalt plant. They 24 hired their first crew. This was not born on third base 25 stuff.

1           But what I want to address -- I keep getting afraid 2 that we're losing the forest for the trees here in sort of a 3 reverse way because the Court is exactly right that what -- 4 its main job right now is deterrence and we have to fashion a 5 sentence that will deter others from this conduct. And I keep 6 coming back to, well, let's look at what this conduct was as 7 opposed to just some of what's been talked about, about we 8 really hurt a lot of DBEs who couldn't get ahead. This 9 conduct in this case by this company and Mr. Boggs over the 10 last ten years, not to the disadvantage of DBEs, not to the 11 exclusion of DBEs, not in an effort to keep DBEs out of the 12 economic stream and to better themselves -- and we put up this 13 chart, this is Government's Exhibit 1 -- over these years has 14 hired and paid something like 45 DBEs. So their history is 15 not we're getting around DBEs. We don't want to use DBEs.
16 We're going to play with DBEs. And some of these 45, and I 17 can't give you a number, were hired when there was no 18 government requirement to hire DBEs. They're just doing 19 business with DBEs. So that's an attitude of the company as 20 well. It's not some aversion to minorities or an aversion to 21 hiring minorities.

22           THE COURT: No, and the Court doesn't think that.
23 The Court thinks it was a fast and loose system that was 24 convenient -- convenient to use someone to do the trucking and 25 be able to control the cost of that. I mean, that's pretty

1 clear that that's what was being done there. It was to 2 control the cost of that aspect of it. Cuthbertson was 3 reliable and apparently willing to work for less than some 4 other DBEs might have been willing to work.

5 MR. BELL: Well, I dispute the latter part, but 6 would agree with the first part, Your Honor. And even with 7 respect to the 41 projects involved in this indictment, with 8 respect to those projects, Boggs Paving paid DBEs more than 9 they were required to under these programs.

10 So again, the program, the intended recipients were 11 not harmed. I mean, they were overpaid, if you will. Which 12 is fine. That's good. The government was absolutely entitled 13 to a bid that was correct, to being told by reports here's who 14 we're going to use. Here's who we have used. Here's who we 15 paid and how much. They were absolutely entitled to that.
16 But the program and, theoretically, DBEs were not harmed.
17 I'll say it again. DBEs on these projects were paid more than 18 the government required.

19 THE COURT: Right. DBEs that Boggs chose to do. In 20 other words, if I was bidding -- if I was bidding -- if I was 21 bidding and I had a DBE that I might use, put in my bid and I 22 lost the bid, that DBE didn't get the job. DBEs may have 23 gotten the job that Mr. Boggs was dealing with, but that DBE 24 didn't. So the program -- the program is damaged.

25 I will agree with you no money was lost from the

1 government. It appears that Boggs Paving did good work so 2 there was not shoddy work done. This is not a Ponzi scheme.
3 But it is a situation where the government has got to 4 protect -- if Congress is going to tell us to do these DBE 5 programs, then they've got to be protected. They need to be 6 protected at this end. They also need to be protected at the 7 end where they're being granted so that people -- the right 8 people are getting the job and not somebody that knows 9 somebody that tells them how to form a company the day they 10 get the contract. That ought to not be the way.

11 MR. BELL: No, and that ought not be the case.
12 That's not what happened.

13 THE COURT: I realize that didn't happen here. But 14 I'm just saying there are a lot of things about a program that 15 needs to be run right if it's going to be run. But it's got 16 to be run right, Mr. Bell.

17 MR. BELL: Oh, no, Your Honor, if there is a 18 crime --

19 THE COURT: And there have got to be penalties here.

20 MR. BELL: If there's a crime committed here, then 21 the conduct that constitutes that crime needs to be deterred.
22 And all I'm trying to do is come to some common understanding, 23 if we can, about what the conduct is that needs to be deterred 24 because the point Your Honor just made about, Well, they used 25 the DBEs that they wanted to. That's the way this whole

1 process works, the way the whole system is set up. The DOTs
2 don't care which DBEs you use as long as it's a registered
3 DBE.

4 THE COURT: But if you call them up, they'll 5 recommend somebody.

6 MR. BELL: Well, they've got a list.

7 THE COURT: Right.

8 MR. BELL: Yeah, they've got a list of who you can 9 use and get credit.

10 So within those boundaries they don't care whether 11 you hire Styx Cuthbertson or somebody else. They really 12 don't. And so that's my point of they should have reported 13 and bid all these other DBEs that they actually used and 14 actually paid. So they're not harming any theoretical DBEs.
15 They did it wrong. Okay.

16 But even with respect to Mr. Cuthbertson, all these 17 other DBEs, Your Honor -- another point I wanted to make. In 18 this multi-year investigation, at least not that I've heard, 19 there was no problem with Boggs Paving and its reporting of 20 any other DBE. The problem is all with Mr. Cuthbertson. So 21 it's not a systemic DBE fraud by Boggs Paving because they 22 overpaid DBEs, and the only problem they seem to have had with 23 any DBEs was Mr. Cuthbertson.

24 I'm not saying that this -- it's not bad and needs
25 to be punished. I'm just saying this is not the evil -- root

1 of all evil kind of crime that it's sometimes been made out to 2 be. This is fairly -- although it was over a long period of 3 time, it dealt with one out of 45 DBEs, during the course of 4 which DBEs as a whole were paid more than the government was 5 requiring being paid to them.

6           So I'm just trying to characterize the nature of the 7 offense and the harm done before we talk about punishment 8 because I think that the punishment, of course, has to be 9 geared towards the harm done and that's my view of the harm 10 done.

11           Now, as to punishment, and I think the Court made 12 mention of this a couple times. You know, salt the earth, 13 that seemed to be the appropriate punishment. And before we 14 ever got here, punishment has been inflicted. And I think a 15 great deal of deterrence has already been inflicted. Boggs 16 Paving will soon be no more as we predicted when we were in 17 plea negotiations. Once they were debarred because of the 18 indictment, they cannot bid on any projects. If you can't 19 bid, you can't work. You are entitled, and it's probably for 20 the benefit of the state, it's not the companies. If you get 21 debarred you can finish what you already have, which is all 22 they've been doing for the last year or two, couple years I 23 guess. And so those will wind up sometime next spring and 24 those projects are over and they can't bid on any new ones.
25 So that company is gone.

1           And while they've been winding these things down, 2 Drew and his brother Chris, who didn't do a thing wrong in 3 this case, 50 percent owners, they're in it together, and so 4 they're going to pay the penalty here together, to a certain 5 extent, large extent. They have already lost $12 million of 6 winding this down and not getting any new work to keep things 7 going. They will have to come out of pocket 50/50 8 individually another $3 million probably between now and 9 sometime in the spring, maybe early summer next year to finish 10 the projects they have. The reason they have to do that is if 11 they don't go into their pockets and finish the projects, then 12 the surety will come in and say, Well, then we're required 13 under the surety bond to complete the project. We can hire 14 whoever we want. We don't care what they cost to finish it, 15 and come after Drew and Chris Boggs for whatever the 16 difference is. So they have to continue to lose money to 17 finish this just to keep from losing more money.

18           They have had to divest themselves of unrelated 19 entities -- well, not unrelated. Legally unrelated because I 20 don't want to be misleading about that at all. Boggs 21 Material, Boggs Transport, these other companies, because Drew 22 and Chris were -- well, because Drew was under indictment and 23 has now pled guilty, he's debarred and so those companies 24 can't do business with North Carolina, South Carolina, and 25 federal funds.

1 Chris, who hadn't done anything wrong, owns 2 50 percent in those, he couldn't either. So it's not like he 3 could buy Drew out and keep those companies running. He's 4 just as harmed as Chris, which I know how Drew feels about 5 that because -- pretty awful about that. So to keep those 6 companies going in a way that could at least benefit their 7 children, they -- and you heard from Mr. Warpula. Trusts were 8 created, a new company was created so that the companies that 9 are not charged in this case, Boggs Materials, Boggs
10 Transport, they could put those assets -- sell those assets, 11 actually, because there's a note, to these two trusts so that 12 at least what they had built, but they are no longer allowed 13 to work on, could continue to hopefully provide for their 14 children and grandchildren.

15 And another main object of creating Lynches River
16 was Drew particularly, I'm sure Chris as well, felt terrible 17 about the fact that their 300-some employees are losing their 18 jobs as they're winding down and eventually there will be no 19 jobs. And so what they wanted to do was create an entity that 20 would hopefully provide for their children and grandchildren, 21 but give their former employees who hadn't done anything wrong 22 a place to go and continue to work.

23 So if you want to talk about the punishment -- oh, 24 and there's -- let's talk about salting the earth. So when 25 Mr. Boggs, Drew Boggs, sells his one-third interest in an

1 entity that was not under indictment, not a Boggs Group 2 entity, and takes his share of those proceeds and puts it into 3 his family home to pay off his mortgage, that too led to the 4 government filing a notice of lien of forfeiture. And again, 5 if they had made a phone call, that might not have been 6 necessary because when we responded to that motion and laid 7 out the facts, they withdrew it.

8           But there doesn't seem to be any punishment that's 9 enough for the government in this case. Company out of 10 business. Not enough. Chris Boggs losing 7-1/2 million 11 dollars, not enough. Drew Boggs, 7-1/2 million dollars, not 12 enough. Drew and Chris Boggs can't work in the profession 13 that's been their whole life, that's not enough. Transferring 14 the assets of companies they can no longer work in into trusts 15 for their children, that is somehow nefarious and needs to be 16 punished almost in and of itself for the suspicious nature of 17 it.

18           So there is tremendous punishment here already. And 19 more importantly for the Court's purposes, probably, 20 tremendous deterrence. I don't think any general contractor 21 out there who's followed this case and will read the newspaper 22 tomorrow will say, well, here's what happened to the last guy 23 that did DBE wrong. He lost his company. He lost millions of 24 dollars. Has made his brother lose just as many millions of 25 dollars. He's out of the profession essentially forever. And

1 all he can do now is hope that these trusts that have been set 2 up can take care of his children. Now, that's -- that will 3 deter some people right there.

4 Now, I know that the Court is trying to sentence 5 these defendants -- I've been watching the floor rise up under 6 us as the Court has been doing sentences. I don't 7 particularly object -- wouldn't matter if I did, of course, I 8 understand that -- to any of the sentences that have been 9 imposed.

10 You know, one of the things that bothered me a 11 little bit -- I just have to say it again, although maybe it 12 doesn't matter. For Greg Tucker to be able to come into this 13 courtroom on Friday and commit perjury and then have the 14 government laud his substantial assistance does bother me a 15 little bit, but probation was his sentence and that's fine.

16 THE COURT: If I believed. I have no way of knowing 17 in the limited information I have --

18 MR. BELL: I understand that.

19 THE COURT: -- beyond that to know whether what he 20 said was true. I took it as being accurate and counted on the 21 government to be the governor on that with regard to whether 22 or not he did.

23 MR. BELL: I understand that, Your Honor. That's 24 why I --

25 THE COURT: That's what I have to do. In other

1 words, I understand you believe that he did, but I have no 2 knowledge that that's accurate. And maybe he did, maybe he 3 didn't. I don't distrust what you say.

4 MR. BELL: I know.

5 THE COURT: But I understand that bothers you. But 6 that's...

7 MR. BELL: And, Your Honor, I want to talk about -- 8 I hope this isn't taken the wrong way because I've tried to 9 figure out how to phrase it so it expresses what I'm trying to 10 say. Mr. Boggs, as he will tell you, bears the greatest 11 responsibility for this because it was his company. I don't 12 think he bears the greatest culpability for this. I don't 13 think he knew as much about what was going on that was wrong 14 about all of this as several others. In fact, when we were 15 talking about Mr. Hicks, the former CFO, who was sentenced and 16 received a sentence of probation, when he was interviewed 17 after his plea, he was, of course, asked about all this and 18 who knew what and what did he do about it. And one of the 19 things he told the government at that time, when Hicks first 20 started at Boggs Paving he was overwhelmed with the job and he 21 did not know the DBE rules. As such, the run-through of funds 22 involving Styx Cuthbertson Trucking did not immediately 23 register with him. As time passed Hicks realized it was 24 wrong. However, he never discussed the issue with Drew Boggs 25 or tried to fix it.

1           Now, I'm not saying that Drew didn't know, should -- 2 should have known and should have fixed this. There's no
3 question about that. I think when he comes into these bid 4 meetings and they're going through the thing and they don't 5 know where else to put their DBE commitments, he says, Write 6 Styx in, you ought not do that if you don't know Styx can 7 perform the work. And I don't know that Mr. Boggs made any 8 effort to make sure, as he should have as CEO, that Styx 9 performed that work. I think he could have because he earned 10 more money over this time than was committed, but he didn't do 11 anything about it.

12           With respect to the DBE reporting, that side of it, 13 because it wouldn't -- in some ways it wouldn't matter in that 14 it could have been fixed if they had over committed 15 Mr. Cuthbertson, right? We heard from the DBE director that, 16 yes, there's a way to do it. You can come get permission to 17 sub other drivers or other DBEs or even we can just let you go 18 if your best faith efforts can't find somebody else to do it.

19           So the problem in this case wasn't really the bid 20 process because that can be tracked, followed and fixed with 21 substitutes if necessary.

22           The DBE reporting was done by this wholly wrong
23 system where Kristy Lawrence is entering the numbers that go 24 through these accounts from Boggs Paving to Styx Cuthbertson
25 to Boggs Transport. And then poor Terry Coleman, who I'm sure

1 was doing her best, and the two women who came before her 2 going all the way back in the '90s, they prepared the reports
3 the way they had always been done under no direction of Mr.
4 Boggs or anybody else, but he was CEO. And he will tell you 5 when I finish talking that was his job to make sure that was 6 done right and it wasn't. There's responsibility, but not 7 necessarily culpability.

8           And so I'm not trying to run away and he's really 9 not going to try to run away from it either, but if you look 10 at who did this collectively so that the court can put in -- 11 Mr. Boggs in an appropriate sentence along with the others, he 12 was really less involved in this than CFO Hicks because it was 13 his job to keep up with the money. He was the one supervising 14 Kristy Lawrence and, to a certain extent, Charity Coleman, 15 although I think she might have been technically in another 16 department. She was in accounting. There were a lot of 17 people who could have caught this and fixed it. He's the 18 boss, I get that.

19           And the Court wants to deter, but there is a heap of 20 deterrence out there already and the Court does not need a -- 21 well, my view, and I know I'm an advocate here, but I'll give 22 you my view anyway. I don't think he needs a prison sentence.
23 I know the Court is going to be informed by the 15 months it 24 gave Mr. Miller. But when I look at this conduct, and trying 25 to be not just an advocate, but dispassionate, this conduct --

1 the offense conduct and the harm to the DBE program and 2 Mr. Boggs' role in it and all of the punishment and deterrence 3 that's already been heaped up does not require a prison
4 sentence.

5 I've got a sense of what the Court is going to do,
6 but I just don't think that's what's necessary for punishment.
7 And certainly not some huge jump up variance above what the 8 guidelines are. You know, if Mr. Miller is at 15 months, 9 okay. And perhaps it should be something close to that. But 10 this sort of three years' worth, that is -- in my view, Your 11 Honor, that would be a disproportionate, much harsher than 12 necessary to accomplish any of the goals that the Court is 13 trying to accomplish here.

14 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

15 MR. BELL: Mr. Boggs, I think, would like to address
16 Your Honor as well.

17 THE COURT: Yes, sir, Mr. Boggs.

18 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Your Honor, I had to make some 19 notes because my memory is not all that great.

20 I realize what I did was wrong and I accept full 21 responsibility for what happened at my company. I was the 22 president. I should have -- I should have dug deeper. I 23 should have done anything possible to stop it and I didn't, 24 and I take full responsibility and accountability for that 25 here today.

1           Styx Cuthbertson was a real business long before 2 Boggs Paving ever incorporated. Mr. Cuthbertson ran his 3 business. He worked hard. He kept his trucks running. He 4 drove his trucks. He managed his affairs. And he's a good
5 and honest man. And I feel horrible for what happened to him 6 as a result of our misconduct and our failure to manage our 7 affairs right. He's just -- he's a good man and I'm very 8 truly sorry for him being a part of this.

9           From the very beginning, our intent was to help
10 Mr. Cuthbertson. DBE -- NCDOT had a program called the DBE 11 mentor protégé program and we had contemplated signing up for 12 that program. That program enables the prime contractor to 13 take a DBE contractor kind of under their wing and mentor them
14 and help them cultivate and grow their business. And, you 15 know, we had a problem at our company for just being hard 16 chargers and playing offense probably too hard and not taking 17 time to dot all the I's and cross all the T's.

18           And looking back, you know, we really should have 19 gone and signed up for that program and followed all the rules 20 and protocols and that program would have enabled us to help 21 him like we did help him following those rules. But we failed 22 to do that and we were wrong for not doing that. I take 23 responsibility and accountability for that as well.

24           As far as the goals and commitments, it was 25 absolutely our intent for him -- for us to meet the goals that

1 we put in our bids. On a given bid night we might bid ten -- 2 I remember one month we bid 22 jobs in one month. We did not 3 know when we turned those bids in whether we would get 1 of 4 those 22 or 19 of those 22. And so certainly it would be very 5 fair to say that if we got 19 of them, we would have all been 6 over committed and we would have been late on the jobs and had 7 to pay legal daily damages, which happens sometimes. You 8 know, so that would have put us at a huge over commitment on 9 everybody's part. But on the other hand, we could have been 10 unsuccessful and there have been months when we've gotten zero
11 jobs. And so it really didn't matter at that point what you 12 had written in a contract to perform because he wasn't going 13 to get anything. So that's kind of the variants on bid night.
14 You don't know what you're going to get so you really don't 15 know if anybody is over committed or not.

16 Over time this issue just progressively became worse 17 and obviously transpired into something that became, you know, 18 bad and not following the rules and the regulations and I 19 should have caught that. I'm the guy that should have dug in 20 there and said, wait a minute, why are we reporting this or 21 why is this checkbook in this building? And I didn't do that 22 and I should have done it, and I take responsibility for that.

23 Just in general, you know, throughout this process 24 of this investigation and all the different things we've gone 25 through, you know, I've learned a lot about what's right and

1 what's wrong. And again, one thing I've learned is it would 2 pay one to spend more time working on defense, so to speak, 3 learning how to dot your I's and cross your T's and doing 4 things right in compliance and making sure that you are 5 following all the rules and we just didn't do that. I didn't 6 do it. I was president of the company. You know, I've 7 learned that that's -- that's just as important as growing 8 your business and going out and building work and, you know, I 9 didn't do that. So I'm responsible for that.

10 As far as a deterrent, I do believe there's been a 11 bunch of people watching. I've had calls from contractors all 12 over the country who wanted to know about this case. And I 13 think this situation, our case has definitely raised some 14 eyebrows about how others in this industry as far as the 15 western United States have changed the way they're doing 16 business to try to make absolutely certain they're following 17 every rule and every regulation and they've seen what's 18 happened to our company, and I think that -- I think it will 19 serve as a huge deterrent for future behavior like this. And 20 I certainly hope it will.

21 You know, I've been very involved in the industry 22 for many years and one thing I think I can do in the future to 23 help deter is, you know, use my contacts and speak at our 24 industry events and help other prime contractors learn what 25 not to do and help DBEs learn what not to do and what to do

1 and I hope I have the opportunity to do that in the future.

2 Other businesses, you know, other things I'm 3 involved in has raised my awareness of looking at the rules 4 and the regulations. And again, more on defense and less on 5 offense and just trying to make sure we follow every rule and 6 do everything right. And I've -- you know, I've learned a lot 7 from this and I'm committed to doing that in the future.

8 Finally, I'm just sorry for all the folks we've hurt
9 by our actions. You know, DBEs, the industry, these folks 10 having to take their time. You know, it took an awful lot of 11 resources and, you know, I'm truly sorry for all that 12 everybody has been through, especially my family, my wife and 13 my daughters, my mother, father-in-law, you know, just all my 14 family and my friends, my 300 employees, many of whom were 15 minorities, women, good employees. And then my brother Chris.
16 You know, he's a hard working guy and he didn't do anything 17 wrong. And as Mr. Bell said, he's been severely impacted by 18 what I and the other defendants have done and I'm truly sorry 19 for that.

20 And I -- that's all I have. I'm sorry to the Court.

21 THE COURT: What says the government about the -- 22 any comment regarding the losses that the individuals are 23 having to pay to finish the job?

24 MS. SUGAR: Well, I do want to point out that we -- 25 as we've stated over and over again, and we have a completely

1 different view of the facts, and we believe that the factual 2 basis of the other defendants just completely go against what 3 Mr. Boggs said. You see that the amount that was run through 4 the Styx nominee account was substantially more than the 5 amount that was paid to him and in the end he made what a 6 truck driver would make.

7 THE COURT: I'm talking about on the loss -- on the 8 impact on the defendant -- defendant's company and those kinds 9 of things in terms of that. In other words, when you -- you 10 know, you put somebody out of business -- I'm looking for a 11 deterrent value.

12 MS. SUGAR: Sure, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: I'm in a case with a zero loss, zero
14 cash loss. Government lost no money. The jobs got done.
15 They got done, I guess, on time. The problem was that the 16 program that was set up to help disadvantaged business 17 entities was ignored, I think just completely with regard 18 to -- I mean, they may have done that. They may have overdone 19 it. They may have tried to do it. But nobody was keeping 20 track of what was being done and they violated all these rules 21 and regulations.

22 So the question is in the deterrent value that -- I 23 want to know as to what -- what with regard to the financial 24 impact on the -- on Mr. Boggs and the companies. I can't get 25 into what his brother suffered because he's not in front of 1 me.

2 MS. SUGAR: Well, Your Honor, I do believe that 3 most, if not all, of -- very good portion of the employees
4 have gone on to work at Lynches River.

5 THE COURT: I'm not worried about the employees.
6 He's talking about the millions of dollars that were lost 7 because the companies had to close. I am aware if you close 8 down the company, usually there's -- if you've got jobs going 9 on, there are some things that are lost if you have to do it 10 within a certain short period of time. If you do it in a long 11 period of time, you can make money; but on a short period of 12 time, you lose money.

13 MS. SUGAR: Well, Your Honor, there are -- in 14 corporate prosecutions which have been in the news recently, 15 there are a variety of different ways those can be handled.
16 And in this case we saw DOT go to Mr. Boggs again and again 17 and say these are wrong. So when a company is approached 18 initially, there are other -- there are other ways to deal 19 with it. But that's not what happened here. So for -- if the 20 company would have gone along, complied, changed the program 21 the first time it was made aware, we could be in a different 22 situation. So it's Mr. Boggs' conduct that brought us where 23 we are today.

24 THE COURT: I understand. I'm not blaming the 25 government for bringing the prosecution. I have said the 1 government was right. I'm trying to come up with an 2 appropriate sentence for Mr. Boggs, is what I'm trying to come

3 up with. I'm not blaming the government for doing anything
4 wrong. And so -- and it's a serious matter. But I am 5 impacted by the fact that no money was lost and the idea that 6 I still thought that the numbers would be higher and wouldn't 7 go as low as they did. That's why I'm varying up, and I'm 8 going to vary up on Mr. Boggs.

9           But the main thing here is to make people do what 10 these folks want them to do on these DBEs so that we can get 11 this -- get the right -- you know, have the program run the 12 way that Congress intends it to be run. It needs to be run 13 that way on both ends.

14           In other words, if suddenly -- if suddenly someone 15 who -- a female who's disadvantaged under the law had her own 16 business and decided to start her own business and she was 17 sitting in some big corporate office over here and she started 18 her own business and came out as a disadvantaged business 19 entity and was able to use her gender to get a job and then 20 hire a bunch of folks on salary, that doesn't seem to me to be 21 what they were trying to do.

22           Cuthbertson seems to me to be the kind of guy that 23 ought to be the poster child of this and not somebody who 24 comes in and uses a particular thing that Congress has said is 25 worthwhile to use to get the job when they really aren't

1 economically disadvantaged, they're just disadvantaged -- they 2 fit the disadvantaged area of this. Either they're a 3 minority, they're a woman, disabled, a service disabled
4 veteran. And companies shouldn't be able to suddenly add a 5 service disabled veteran and pay him for his disability and 6 get the job too. I'm an owner. Well, what percentage are you 7 going to get? They're paying me this much money to be an 8 owner. That shouldn't be the way that it is, but -- on that 9 end. On the other end they got to cross the T's and dot the 10 I's or the program falls.

11               So I'm ready to sentence.

12               MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor.

13               THE COURT: I'm going to sentence Mr. Boggs to an 14 active sentence. The question I'm trying to find out is 15 what's the appropriate active sentence that is going to in 16 this case punish him for what he did and the fact that he is 17 the head guy, it is his responsibility, and primarily deter 18 others. I don't think that -- I don't think anybody who's 19 been in here for this full day of sentencing is going to think 20 these people are going to violate the law anymore. I got 21 people -- I got people coming back and I can pick out the 22 recidivists the moment they walk out of the courtroom now, the 23 ones that I'll be saying in my mind, Be seeing you again, and 24 the ones that I won't ever see again. And I don't think any 25 of these people will ever be seen again. But there are people

1 out there watching this case that must be deterred.

2 MS. SUGAR: Yes. And, Your Honor, certainly under 3 3553(a) you must consider the other consequences of this 4 prosecution. We don't disagree with that at all. But I think 5 when you compare those consequences as to someone in 6 Mr. Boggs' shoes as opposed to a CFO who now has a money 7 laundering conviction, other people who now have felony 8 convictions and disbarments without this company and without 9 this money to pass on to their family, they're hurt even more.
10 And I think --

11 THE COURT: That's why he -- that's why he's going 12 to jail. He's going to get the longest sentence of the 13 people, but I've got to decide what that sentence is going to 14 be.

15 (Government counsel conferred.)

16 THE COURT: I mean, you're looking for me to go up 17 six, and that's fine for you to argue that. I'm trying to 18 find out -- the reason I asked you the question is not for you 19 to necessarily reargue. I understand you have a reasonable -- 20 you're making a reasonable request at 19, 30 to 37 months, and 21 you're asking me to go high end of the guideline. In trying 22 to figure out whether that's the guideline point that I want 23 to hit, my question to you is do you have anything that you 24 can add to say that they're not accurate in saying about the 25 millions of dollars that they have lost as a result of this in 1 terms of another way of punishment? It's their own fault.

2 But you -- but in terms of deterrence, a business person out 3 there is going to look at it and say, you know, if I could 4 save millions of dollars, I'd go to jail for a while rather 5 than lose millions of dollars and go to jail for a while.

6 MS. SUGAR: Your Honor, I think the issues you've 7 pointed out in the financial statements in the PSR go to that.
8 The liabilities don't make sense. It looks like his net worth 9 should be substantially higher than this because there should 10 be some asset that matches Boggs Materials and Boggs
11 Transport. So we're concerned that this is not an accurate 12 reflection for the Court of his financial situation or the 13 harm that's come to him.

14 And also, we don't know what is the value of these 15 trusts that have gone to his children. If he's just moved 16 millions of dollars and now is -- sure, he can't access it, 17 but gone to his kids, then how does that really impact --

18 THE COURT: Yeah, the companies -- whatever that 19 they haven't spent have been moved into those trusts and 20 they're going to operate the same paving company to the 21 advantage of the children. Now, they'll have to be -- I'm 22 sure somebody will be watching the store on that, but my guess 23 is that the assets -- that whatever assets they couldn't keep 24 to keep the paving business going and all the other businesses 25 going is in the trust. And if it's not illegal to do it, they

1 get to do that. I can't --

2 MS. SUGAR: Yes, but I think we should consider it 3 and what the loss to his personal finances is.

4 THE COURT: Yeah, I'm not going -- I'm not giving 5 him credit for what he had to transfer -- or what he decided 6 to do to the dynasty trust, which they call them dynasty
7 trusts even if they're piddly little amounts of money. I 8 mean, something has been done to get people to do trusts.
9 It's a good marketing tool for the state lawyers. Mr. Bell 10 can ask his people up there to do his estate stuff. I bet 11 there are plenty of them up there. They call them dynasty 12 trusts whether you're a little player or a big player because 13 it makes the person feel really good about the fact that it's 14 a dynasty.

15 MS. SUGAR: But if someone comes and says, Well, I 16 gave away my stock in a company so now I have -- don't have 17 assets, it's certainly something the Court should --

18 THE COURT: They sold it. He has a note back. He's 19 going to get paid for that stuff over the years. I mean, you 20 heard -- in other words, there's a note that went from the 21 dynasty trust to them. He'll be getting money paid to him on 22 the note for the value of what came. There will be money 23 coming in. There will be income coming in, assuming it makes 24 a profit.

25 MR. BELL: If the company is successful.

1           THE COURT: If the company makes a profit, he'll get 2 paid. He'll get paid whatever the value -- I don't know what 3 the note's worth. He'll get paid. But that's what the 4 testimony was. Notes went back and forth to form the dynasty
5 trust.

6           So I'm -- Mr. Bell, do you want to say something 7 while they're talking?

8           MR. BELL: I did because the Court asked me when we 9 first got started to plug in a couple of holes on the 10 presentence report and the financials. I think you were 11 asking about the liabilities on the final report that I have, 12 page 15.

13          THE COURT: There's two large liabilities that don't 14 have anything corresponding as to assets on the asset side.

15          MR. BELL: Those are liabilities to Cat Financial.
16 That's where those liabilities come from.

17          THE COURT: Well, what are -- where are the assets
18 of the companies themselves to Drew Boggs? In other words, 19 there's -- in other words, there's -- on the asset side, it 20 doesn't appear that there is any company called -- and maybe I 21 just looked at the wrong thing -- called Transport. In other 22 words, I understand the liability aspect of it. But on 23 that -- I realize when we're trying to fill these things out, 24 it's not like -- or maybe it is like a bank. They sure loan 25 out a lot of money on financial statements.

1           But it looks like there's -- there's two loans in 2 here, substantial loans to -- one to -- for Boggs Materials, 3 Inc., and one Boggs Transport, Inc., but there's no company
4 listed over here. There's Boggs Paving, Boggs Property, Boggs 5 Farms, Boggs HMA, and then I guess BOVA Corporation, which 6 maybe that's Boggs Virginia, I don't know. Boggs Brothers, 7 Boggs Paving. But no Boggs Material or Boggs Transport on the 8 asset side.

9           MR. BELL: I think I've got it figured out, Your 10 Honor.

11          THE COURT: Okay.

12          MR. BELL: Those -- listed under liabilities, Boggs 13 Material, Boggs Transport, those are debts owed by those 14 entities to Caterpillar and they are personally guaranteed by 15 Drew and Chris.

16          THE COURT: Okay.

17          MR. BELL: So those -- and they are Boggs Materials
18 and Boggs Transport.

19          THE COURT: Does he have any stock in that company?
20 Is there any ownership in the company as an asset over here?

21          MR. BELL: The stock in those companies -- we 22 provided that information. I can't find it on this sheet that 23 we provided. But now -- I mean, this is after the 24 reorganization.

25          THE COURT: I understand.

1           MR. BELL: But, you know, those were -- the trusts
2 now own Boggs Transport and Boggs Materials with these notes 3 coming back, the value of those notes.

4           And one other thing I would point out to the Court, 5 and this is our mistake. We caught it sort of late.

6           Under "Asset Type" it shows Principal Financial 7 Group for $3 million. And that's a life insurance policy, and 8 that makes it look like it's got that much cash value. It's 9 actually a term life insurance policy with no cash value.

10          MR. BAKER: Your Honor, may I? In regards to the 11 defense, they did provide me with information to supplement.
12 I completed the supplement, but our office did not file it 13 with the Court.

14          THE COURT: Okay.

15          MR. BAKER: I've got a copy here. I don't know that 16 it dramatically changes what you're referencing in terms of 17 Boggs Transport, but it's a little bit cleaner than the 18 presentence report. I apologize for that.

19          MR. BELL: So I think -- I don't know what the 20 newest numbers look like, Your Honor, but I think Mr. Boggs' 21 net worth is under a million dollars.

22          THE COURT: His net worth is what?

23          MR. BELL: Under a million dollars.

24          THE COURT: Yeah, it has on here his net worth is 25 minus 600 -- 6,822,000.

1           MR. BELL: I expect that's because Boggs Paving is 2 bleeding and he and Chris have to keep putting money in it.

3           (Pause.)

4           THE COURT: Well, not an easy thing, but I've got to 5 come up with an appropriate sentence in the circumstances of 6 what we've got here. I've gone up six levels on the others;
7 and then, of course, there was some reduction for some, but I 8 did give Mr. Miller 15 months.

9           It's difficult for me to believe -- I do believe 10 that Mr. Boggs may not have known all of the details of it, 11 but he knew that this was -- these rules were there and that 12 people were just plugging something in, and he's taken 13 responsibility for it.

14           So if I go to the level the government is telling 15 me -- asking me to go to, I would be at 30 to 37 months, which 16 is half of what the government was asking for originally 17 today. And the fine range would be 6,000 to 60,000 dollars, 18 in that range there.

19           All right. The Court is going to vary -- the Court 20 believes that -- as it has in all the cases today, that the 21 dollar amount which the loss -- the dollar amount of loss in 22 this case under -- under represents the harm that has happened 23 in this case and damage done to the disadvantaged program, 24 their business -- Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program, 25 and that a variance is required in order to -- in taking all

1 those things into consideration in order to get a sentence 2 that's appropriate.

3           The Court has all this area in order to use the 3553 4 factors and will note for the record, having looked at 5 everything, what the sentence is the Court has given and the 6 sentence the Court will give in this case would be the same 7 regardless of whether -- since the government had capped it at 8 not more than five years regardless of what the loss was in 9 this case. But it's made harder to get here because there was 10 no loss in this case, and the fact that there is no loss in 11 this case to the government.

12           The loss is to the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise 13 program and that's a laudable thing for the government to do.
14 The Court is not one to discourage the government from doing 15 these kinds of things. There is nothing wrong with this 16 prosecution occurring. Those decisions have to be made by the 17 U.S. attorney and one U.S. attorney might make it and one U.S.
18 attorney might not make it, but it is within their power to do 19 that. And it's a -- it's an awesome power that they have and 20 it's one that they regularly exercise well. People may 21 disagree on individual cases as to whether they do or not, but 22 they -- that's their call. They're the ones who are doing the 23 prosecuting. The government just has to sentence -- I mean, 24 the Court just has to sentence.

25           All right. I'm going to vary upward to a total

1 offense level 19, criminal history category I, 30 to 37
2 months, and I will sentence at the low end of the guidelines.

3 So if you would stand up, please, Mr. Boggs.

4 This sentence is going to be the same sentence on 5 each count.

6 Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 and 7 U.S. v. Booker -- and these are going to run concurrent -- it 8 is the judgment of the Court, having considered the factors 9 noted in 18, United States Code, Section 3553(a), that the 10 defendant, Carl Andrew Boggs, is hereby committed to the 11 custody of the United States Bureau of Prisons to be 12 imprisoned for a term of 30 months on each of counts one and 13 twenty-one to be served concurrently.

14 The Court recommends that the Bureau of Prisons
15 designate a facility near Monroe, North Carolina, for service
16 of the sentence to facilitate visitation with family.
17 However, this designation -- the defendant should be 18 designated to the -- should not be moved close to Monroe, 19 North Carolina, if such designation causes him to be placed at 20 a higher designated prison than he otherwise would. In other 21 words, if he would be fortunate to get a camp, he wouldn't 22 want to be moved to near Monroe, North Carolina, to a prison.
23 So to the facility nearest Monroe, North Carolina.

24 The Court further recommends that the defendant be 25 allowed to participate in any educational and vocational

1 opportunities while incarcerated.

2           Upon release from imprisonment, defendant shall be 3 placed on supervised release for a term of two years. This 4 consists of a term of two years on each of counts one and 5 twenty-one, all such terms to run concurrently.

6           Within 72 hours of release from the custody of the 7 Bureau of Prisons, the defendant shall report in person to the 8 probation office in the district to which the defendant is 9 released.

10           While on supervised release, the defendant shall not 11 commit another federal, state or local crime.

12           He shall comply with the standard conditions that 13 have been adopted by the Court in the Western District of 14 North Carolina.

15           It is ordered that the defendant shall pay the 16 United States a special assessment of $100.

17           MR. BAKER: Your Honor, actually, that would be 200.

18           THE COURT: $200, thank you. Special assessment of 19 $200. This special assessment is due and payable immediately.

20           Mr. Bell, is there any problem with that being paid 21 before he goes to the prison so I don't have to --

22           MR. BELL: No, Your Honor.

23           THE COURT: Okay. All right. Now, let me hear from 24 you all on fine for a minute. I know the government would 25 like the top end of the fine. Nothing wrong with that.

1           What does the defense say?

2           MR. BELL:  There's already millions of dollars worth 3 of fines, Your Honor.  I mean, anything else is...

4           THE COURT:  I need to put a fine on here.

5           MR. BELL:  I understand that.

6           THE COURT:  He can afford to pay one.  But I do 7 agree, sounds like financial -- financial punishment is not 8 the greatest thing that needs to happen in this case.  That's 9 why -- that's why I think a prison sentence was the only -- 10 the only thing left to the Court, and I know you disagree, 11 Mr. Bell.

12           MR. BELL:  No, no, I -- you know, low end of the 13 guideline range serves the purpose of imposing a fine, Your 14 Honor.  But literally, I mean, it's already millions for him.
15 His brother has paid millions in sort of quasi fines.  That's 16 enough money really, Your Honor.

17           THE COURT:  All right.  It is further ordered, 18 having considered the factors noted in 18, United States Code, 19 Section 3572(a) -- let me see that financial statement.  Did 20 you take that back?  Let me take a look at that one more time.

21           (Document tendered to the Court.)

22           THE COURT:  Thank you.

23           That's not that helpful.

24           Probably with this financial statement, I don't 25 think -- assuming that that was what was done with the hundred

1 thousand dollars, that was 10 percent, I don't know that I 2 would loan money to somebody to go gamble at the casino. But 3 I will -- okay.

4 Having considered the factors noted in 18, United 5 States Code, Section 3572A, defendant shall pay the United 6 States a fine of $15,000.

7 Defendant shall forfeit defendant's interest in any 8 properties identified by the United States.

9 Anything else the government would request in the 10 sentence?

11 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Is there any legal reason why this 13 should not be the sentence imposed in this case?

14 MR. BAKER: Your Honor, are you going to create a 15 schedule for the payments?

16 THE COURT: On the fine?

17 MR. BAKER: On the fine.

18 THE COURT: Mr. Bell, is he going to be able to pay 19 the fine or do I need to put the schedule on it?

20 MR. BELL: We'll get it paid, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. Then the fine needs to be 22 done before he goes to prison. He's going to get to report on 23 his own.

24 MR. BELL: Thank you.

25 THE COURT: I'll set a date -- I doubt they're going

1 to set a date this early, but I'll set a date, if you want me
2 to, beyond January 1.

3 MR. BELL: I was going to ask Your Honor. Thank 4 you.

5 THE COURT: You might tell the -- Mr. Miller's 6 lawyer --

7 MR. BELL: Mr. Fialko.

8 THE COURT: Yeah. If he requests that, I'll order 9 that his reporting date be placed after the holidays too.

10 MR. BELL: I'll do that, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: If they want to do that.

12 All right. The -- is there any legal reason why 13 this should not be the sentence in this case, Mr. Bell?

14 MR. BELL: No, Your Honor.

15 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. That is the sentence in this
17 case.

18 All right. Mr. Boggs, you may appeal your 19 conviction and sentence to the Fourth Circuit Court of 20 Appeals. Any appeal must be done in writing and must be done 21 within 14 days from when I sign the written judgment in this 22 case. If you can't afford to appeal, you may appeal at 23 government expense.

24 I would suggest you speak to your very able 25 attorneys who can discuss with you as to whether or not you

1 wish to under this circumstance appeal. However, do you 2 understand your right to appeal as I have just explained it?

3 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

5 All right. The Court will order that the defendant 6 be -- remain on the same bond to be allowed to report when -- 7 on his own when designated to the facility which is designated 8 by the Bureau of Prisons for the defendant to serve his 9 sentence.

10 Again, as I said earlier today to the other 11 gentleman that got a prison sentence, you need to be there 12 that day. In other words, whatever it is, get there early so 13 it doesn't create an issue.

14 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Because you don't want to lose -- the 16 fact you get to report usually causes the level of 17 incarceration to drop a little bit. They figure if you're 18 safe enough to ask to come and you show up, you don't need 19 this level. You can do this level of incarceration.

20 DEFENDANT BOGGS: Yes, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: So it's a benefit. All right.

22 MR. BELL: Would you also direct that he not be 23 designated prior to --

24 THE COURT: Yes, the Court orders that defendant not 25 be designated until after January -- to report until after

1 January 1st.

2 MR. BELL: Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: 2016.

4 All right. Anything further from the defense?

5 MR. BELL: No, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Anything further from the government?

7 MS. SUGAR: Yes, Your Honor. At this time we would 8 move to dismiss the remaining counts in the indictment as to 9 this defendant.

10 THE COURT: Let those be dismissed.

11 Anything further?

12 MS. SUGAR: No, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. This matter is concluded.

14 Thank you.
